

EXECUTIVE REPORT ON PARDONS, COMMUTATIONS OF SENTENCE, AND REPRIEVES

DECISIONS FOR THE PERIOD
JANUARY 7, 2019 THROUGH DECEMBER 31, 2019

BY GOVERNOR GAVIN NEWSOM

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

MESSAGE CONCERNING CLEMENCY

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

In accordance with Article V, Section 8 of the California Constitution; Penal Code section 4807; and Government Code section 12017, I submit to you a report on the pardons, commutations of sentence, and reprieves I issued in 2019. I pardoned 22 people, granted commutations of sentences to 23 people, and granted reprieves to 737 people in the form of a moratorium on the death penalty.

This report includes the pardon and commutation certificates, and the application forms submitted for each. The report also includes Executive Order 03.13.19, which sets forth the reasons for my decision to institute a moratorium on the death penalty.

My constitutional authority to grant clemency in criminal cases in the form of reprieves, commutations, and pardons is an important part of California's criminal justice system that can promote accountability, rehabilitation, public safety, make jails and prisons safer, and correct unjust results in the legal system.

The report may be found at www.gov.ca.gov/clemency, or, for a printed copy, contact the Governor's Office at 916-445-2841. Crime victims and survivors who would like information about parole and clemency notification, restitution, and referral and support services can call 1-877-256-6877, email victimservices@cdcr.ca.gov, or visit www.cdcr.ca.gov/victim-services. Californians who would like information about how to apply for clemency can visit www.gov.ca.gov/clemency.

I look forward to our continued partnership in ensuring a fair criminal justice system for all Californians.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Gavin Newsom', with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

PARDON

Jeffrey James Allen

Jeffrey James Allen, a resident of California, has submitted to this office an application for executive clemency.

Mr. Allen was convicted on April 23, 1993, in the Superior Court of California, County of Mendocino, for the crime of possessing marijuana for sale. He served two years, one month on probation. He was discharged on June 6, 1995, having completed his sentence.

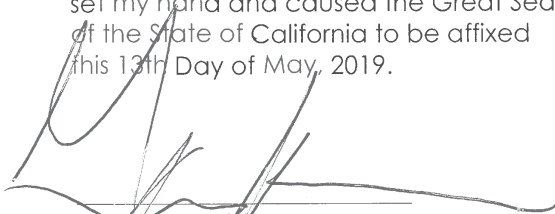

Mr. Allen has complied with the provisions of California Penal Code sections 4852.01 through 4852.22, which provide a procedure after completion of sentence to seek restoration of civic rights and responsibilities, and apply for a pardon. On September 8, 2017, the Superior Court of California, County of Fresno granted Mr. Allen a Certificate of Rehabilitation on evidence that he has been living an upright life. By granting Mr. Allen's petition for a Certificate of Rehabilitation, the court has recommended that Mr. Allen be granted a full pardon.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. Allen merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Allen a full and unconditional pardon for the above case.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of May, 2019.

Kang Hen

Kang Hen, a resident of California, has applied for executive clemency.

Mr. Hen was convicted on June 14, 1999, in the Superior Court of California, County of Santa Clara, for the crime of grand theft from a person and robbery. The offense occurred on September 7, 1994. He served one year, one month in prison, and three years on parole. He was discharged on October 3, 2003, having completed his sentence.

Mr. Hen has submitted to this office a formal application for executive clemency in the form of a gubernatorial pardon. He has provided evidence that he is living an upright life and has demonstrated his fitness for restoration of civic rights and responsibilities. Mr. Hen has also presented evidence that a collateral consequence of his conviction, namely, his impending deportation and permanent separation from his family and removal from his community, further justifies this exercise of executive clemency.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. Hen merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Hen a full and unconditional pardon for the above case.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed

Dear Governor Edmund G. Brown,

My name is Kang Hen. I was born in Cambodia in [REDACTED] when Khmer Rouge successfully taken over Cambodia. Although I was just a child and I have no memories of it all, but my mom recaps every experience she went through to protect me and my sibling. During that time period a lot of family split from each other. My parent was no exception my mom had to work in the field while trying to watch over her 5 small children and one in her belly. My mom shared her hardship of watching people being killed off for no reason. People so hungry for food they end up kidnapping small children and cook them to eat. Guns and shallow graves are haunted imagery. My mom was a strong woman who dares to escape the killing field risking stepping on bomb and getting caught.

My mother always retold this one scene when her and my grandpa carrying us in the middle of the night to escape the Khmer Rouge. My mom said she almost lost me when a cow almost stomps on me because I was so weak I could not walk I fell and roll over like a little rat. My mother said she can never forget how close she was to losing me if the cow just took one more step. This is one of the natures of cruelty of trying to survive the killing field.

I would like to elaborate about my dad [REDACTED] (God rest his soul) was force to be one of the Khmer Rouge soldier, but my dad had cross them by setting free 10-15 people from execution that he was a wanted man. My dad ran for his life. My dad is a heroic man to many others, but not a great husband.

My mom share with us how happy we were when we got to come to America. We heard America is like heaven and it is. Freedom is something my parent needs to get used to. Coming to America and no longer need to be in a refugee camp is the best thing except being placed in the ghetto.

I remember I was just a little kid arriving in America not knowing a single word of English. I was teased in school. My clothing I only had a pair so kids make fun of me. It hurt my feeling but at least I'm surrounded with family. I was growing up carefree of the world just enjoy my like ice cream sandwich that I can purchase with just a nickel. Despite how much kids at school tormented me I was a kid who enjoy each minute of life riding bike and eating ice cream.

My life change when I was bullied and beat by Hispanic gang. The gang terrorized the street and harm old Khmer folks. No one dear to stand up to them over the years of all this bullying and getting jumped by just walking home from school. Cambodian kids start creating a gang and I was one of the members. I didn't know any better because I loved the respect and the love the street life was showing me. Beside home was too much of a pressure because my parent cannot get along.

I thought I had it all being young and naive thinking gang life is the best, until that one fatal night. My two friends were going to rob a place I was the driver. Something went wrong when they committed the act but I was not told what happen until a couple of days later. I could not believe a person passed away from a heart attack during my friends attempt to rob the place. We were caught a few days later. My codefendant lost their case and was sentence to life. My trial ended up being a deadlock. I was granted a new trial until I was approached with a deal. If I do a couple more years my case will be drop to a lesser charge and I can return home. My lawyer said it was a good deal and it was but I was not told I would be picking up by immigration detention after I served my time.

I know I deserved it all because I committed the crime so I should do the time. I spend every day in prison praying and meditating for the Lord to forgive me. All I could think of is my poor mother who lectures me constantly about being in a gang. I wish that stubborn little kid in me listen to her words. There not a day that goes by that I did not live with regrets.

When I was release from immigration detention I was overjoyed with happiness because I get to see my mother face again. The first thing I did was bow to her feet and apologized to my mom of all the grieved I put her and my family through. My mom forgives me. I could not believe how skinny she was and how fast all my little brothers and sister grew up before my eyes. I lost a lot of time with my family and I plan to make up for it all.

Since I've been out of prison it was hard to land a job and for people who know your background to give me a chance. I was fortunate to meet my girlfriend of 17 years who from day one took a chance with me. She my rock she never judges me and accepts me for who I am. I was later on volunteer to work a long side her at Eppler's Bakery and Cafe at Sonestown mall. After showing how dedicated I am to the work that the owner Meng Suy Kor hire me on. They left me in charge of opening and closing the store and with money transaction. It feels good to be treated like a human being again.

I love my job even though the pay isn't great until the owner sold his shop to his brother in law. The brother wanted all new crew so I was let go. But God did not forsake me because I got hired at Peninsula/Allshore Seafood Company a week later. My hardworking paid off because the bosses there trust me with everything. I've been at my company for 15 years and I love my job.

Hardworking, being a devoted father and loving partner is what I do with my time. My partner and I when through a lot together, but we are happy. We both work hard to make sure our son and our families are happy. Although my girlfriend has a lot of health issues she pushes through the obstacles. She and I wanted to make sure all the bills are paid and our son is running around happy. However, I wish I can relieve her pain because she in pain every day and still could make it to work. But sooner or later she will have to slow down her role because she will need to start dialysis soon. Her kidney function is only 13 percent normal. My partner cannot do much activity after work because she exhausted, so I take on the duties of house work and taking care of our son. I hate the fact my partner is dealing with depression as well cause she so worried that ICE will take me away.

The same goes for my poor mother. She has suffer a lot when I went to prison she could not eat, cause she miss me. She cried every night over me. Beside the fact my dad ran off with another woman and left her to raise 7 children on her own. My mom was a trooper because she can deal losing a husband but not her son. My mom suffered through depression for many years until I return. She started enjoying the days again and eating right until the news about Cambodian people being sent back to Cambodia again. Her depression begins again and I keep telling her mom does not worry nothing has happen yet. I cannot put her through this again. Losing me again will be harmful to her well-being so please pardon me.

I am truly a chance man who been dedicated my time to my family, the temple, and trying to give back to society. I want to give back to society I once harm. I want to bless the lady who passed away during the robbery. I want to be here for my son and girlfriend. I want to be here in America the country I love. The country I only knew is my home. These are the reason I am asking you for a pardon. Thank you for taking the time to listen to my story.

Sincerely,
Kang Hen

Hay Hov

Hay Hov, a resident of California, has applied for executive clemency.

Mr. Hov was convicted on November 1, 2001, in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda, for the crime of soliciting to commit murder and participating in a criminal street gang. He served four years, three months in prison, and two years, eleven months on parole. He was discharged on February 26, 2009, having completed his sentence.

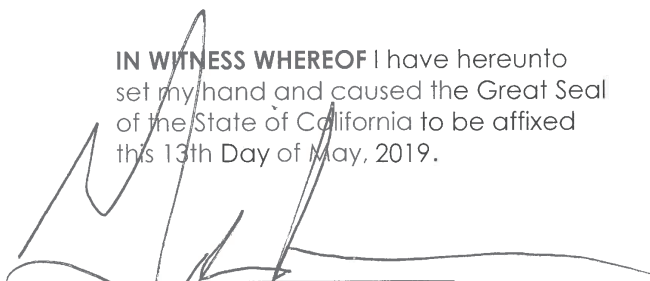

Mr. Hov has submitted to this office a formal application for executive clemency in the form of a gubernatorial pardon. He has demonstrated that he is living an upright life and has demonstrated his fitness for restoration of civic rights and responsibilities. Mr. Hov has also presented evidence that a collateral consequence of his conviction, namely, his impending deportation and permanent separation from his family and removal from his community, further justifies this exercise of executive clemency.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. Hov, merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Hov a full and unconditional pardon for the above case.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto

2. describe the circumstances of your crime.

At age nineteen, I got into an argument with an older Cambodian. I didn't want to appear weak, so I matched his threats with my own. Later, a rumor circulated that he would try to kill me. A few months later, he was shot eleven times but somehow survived. Due to our public arguments, some people thought I was ~~was~~ involved in his shooting. I was young and stupid, and in order to impress my friends, I hinted that maybe I had been involved. It was all bluster, but this only fed the rumors. Today, I know better and if I could do things over, I would have walked away. Ultimately, I know the responsibility was on me for not making it clear that I was not involved. The victim's cousin came to confront me a few days after the shooting and I was clear to him that I didn't do it and he believed me.

Joe Dick Rector

Joe Dick Rector, a resident of California, has applied for executive clemency.

Mr. Rector was convicted on May 30, 1990, in the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, for the crime of driving under the influence of alcohol and drugs. He served six months in prison, and one year on parole. He was discharged on January 20, 1992, having completed his sentence.

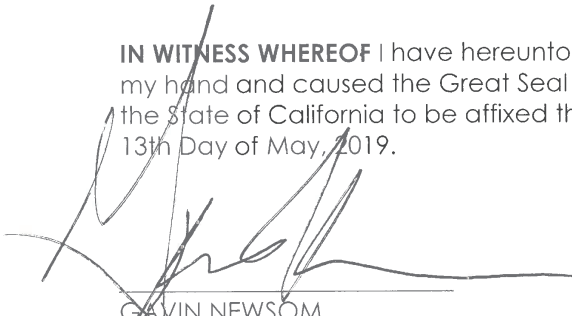

Mr. Rector has complied with the provisions of California Penal Code sections 4852.01 through 4852.22, which provide a procedure after completion of sentence to seek restoration of civic rights and responsibilities, and apply for a pardon. On July 13, 2017, the Superior Court of California, County of Riverside granted Mr. Rector a Certificate of Rehabilitation on evidence that he has been living an upright life. By granting Mr. Rector's petition for a Certificate of Rehabilitation, the court has recommended that he be granted a full pardon.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. Rector merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Rector a full and unconditional pardon for the above case.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of May, 2019.

Susan Burton

Susan Burton, a resident of California, has submitted to this office an application for executive clemency.

Ms. Burton was convicted on February 6, 1989, for possession or purchase of cocaine base. She served one year and one month in prison and eleven months on parole. On March 7, 1991, Ms. Burton was convicted of possession of a controlled substance. She served six months in prison and one year and nine months on parole. On November 19, 1992, Ms. Burton was convicted of possession of cocaine base for sale. She served two months in prison and five months on parole. Ms. Burton was discharged from parole on August 4, 1993, having completed her sentences.

Ms. Burton has complied with the provisions of California Penal Code sections 4852.01 through 4852.22, which provide a procedure after completion of sentence to seek restoration of civic rights and responsibilities, and apply for a pardon. On September 17, 2004, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles granted Ms. Burton a Certificate of Rehabilitation on evidence that she has been living an upright life. By granting Ms. Burton's petition for a Certificate of Rehabilitation, the court has recommended that Ms. Burton be granted a full pardon.

The Board of Parole Hearings received and reviewed Ms. Burton's pardon application and related materials, and on December 18, 2018, recommended her for a pardon. On August 6, 2019, Ms. Burton's pardon application received the recommendation required by Article V, section 8 of the California Constitution from the California Supreme Court for the Governor to grant a pardon.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of her sentence and good conduct in the community, Ms. Burton merits this pardon.

Derrick Dickerson

Derrick Dickerson, a resident of California, has submitted to this office an application for executive clemency.

Mr. Dickerson was convicted on January 10, 1989, in the Superior Court of California, County of Kern, for the crime of conspiracy to possess a controlled substance for sale and possession of a controlled substance for sale. He served one year and nine months in prison and one year and one month on parole. He was discharged on December 14, 1991, having completed his sentence.

Mr. Dickerson has complied with the provisions of California Penal Code sections 4852.01 through 4852.22, which provide a procedure after completion of sentence to seek restoration of civic rights and responsibilities, and apply for a pardon. On July 25, 2017, the Superior Court of California, County of Kern granted Mr. Dickerson a Certificate of Rehabilitation on evidence that he has been living an upright life. By granting Mr. Dickerson's petition for a Certificate of Rehabilitation, the court has recommended that Mr. Dickerson be granted a full pardon.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. Dickerson merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Dickerson a full and unconditional pardon for the above case.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 7th Day of August, 2019.

Quoc Nguyen

Quoc Nguyen, a resident of California, has applied for executive clemency.

Mr. Nguyen was convicted on August 2, 2007, in the Superior Court of California, County of Santa Clara, for the crime of assault with a deadly weapon not a firearm, with a street gang enhancement. He served one year and six months in prison and two years and eleven months on parole. He was discharged on February 8, 2012, having completed his sentence.

Mr. Nguyen has submitted to this office a formal application for executive clemency in the form of a gubernatorial pardon. He has demonstrated that he is living an upright life and has demonstrated his fitness for restoration of civic rights and responsibilities. Mr. Nguyen has also presented evidence that a collateral consequence of his conviction, namely, his impending deportation and permanent separation from his family, and removal from his community, further justifies this exercise of executive clemency.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. Nguyen merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Nguyen a full and unconditional pardon for the above case.

APPLICATION FOR GUBERNATORIAL PARDON

Complete this application to request a pardon from the Governor. A pardon is the forgiveness of a crime. If you are eligible for a Certificate of Rehabilitation, do not complete this application; instead obtain a Certificate of Rehabilitation from the superior court in your county of residence. (See Penal Code, § 4852.01.) If a pardon is granted, this application will become a public record, however specific personal information will be redacted (hidden) before it is made available to the public.

APPLICANT INFORMATION

Name: Quoc Nguyen Date of Birth: [REDACTED] E-mail Address: [REDACTED]
Address: [REDACTED] Phone Number: [REDACTED]

1. Conviction Summary:

List all prior convictions, including any in other states or countries. Attach additional pages if necessary.

Offense(s):	Date of offense(s):	County of conviction(s):	Sentence(s):
245(A)(1) / 186.22(B)(1)	08/02/2007	Santa Clara	7 years prison

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a pardon (attach additional pages as necessary):

The group that i was with was intoxicated while we were in downtown. We ended up having an argument with another group. This led to an altercation. One of the people in my group had a weapon. He stabbed someone from the other party. It was something that I did not expect.

3. Explain why you are requesting a pardon (attach additional pages as necessary):

This will affect my life. Strict immigration laws will affect me. I will be deported if there is no pardon. I want to stay in America with my family. I don't want to leave my family. I want to be able to stay back and take care of my senior citizen mother.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a pardon (attach additional pages if necessary):

I've been a law abiding citizen. I've served my time at Folsom State Prison. I paid my debt to society for a crime that is over 10 years ago. I'm currently a good productive member of society. I'm a taxpaying member of society. I'm currently improving myself by going to school. I believe I have turned my life around. Everyone deserves a second chance. Now I need that second chance. Please give me that opportunity.

Arnou Aghamalian

Arnou Aghamalian, a resident of California, has submitted to this office an application for executive clemency.

Mr. Aghamalian was convicted on December 17, 1999, in the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, for the crime of accessory after the fact. He was sentenced to three years of probation. He was discharged on December 17, 2002, having completed his sentence.

Mr. Aghamalian has complied with the provisions of California Penal Code sections 4852.01 through 4852.22, which provide a procedure after completion of sentence to seek restoration of civic rights and responsibilities, and apply for a pardon. On September 7, 2017, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles granted Mr. Aghamalian a Certificate of Rehabilitation on evidence that he has been living an upright life. By granting Mr. Aghamalian's petition for a Certificate of Rehabilitation, the court has recommended that Mr. Aghamalian be granted a full pardon.

Mr. Aghamalian has presented evidence that a collateral consequence of his conviction, namely, his impending deportation and permanent separation from his family and removal from his community, further justifies this exercise of executive clemency.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. Aghamalian merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Aghamalian a full and unconditional pardon for the above case.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto

Yes, Case Number CR-2176-17. I was contacted and interviewed by an investigator (Mr. Rizo) from the Board of Parole Hearings. He asked me about my past and what I have accomplished since. He told me my application looks good, and that I am the ideal candidate for a pardon given: (1) the length of time since the offense (20 years); (2) my demonstrated rehabilitation and contribution to society, including that I now employ over 70 people, and (3) that I am in deportation proceedings with a hearing set for January 20, 2020, which the pardon will help with tremendously. He advised me that my application was submitted to the previous Governor's office on December 6, 2018.

Curtis Reynolds

Curtis Reynolds, a resident of California, has submitted to this office an application for executive clemency.

Mr. Reynolds was convicted on March 10, 1999 of possession of a controlled substance and possession of a controlled substance for sale. He was sentenced to four years of probation and 120 days in jail. On August 25, 1999, Mr. Reynolds was convicted of possession of a controlled substance. He was sentenced to eight months in prison and four years of probation. On September 1, 1999, Mr. Reynolds was convicted of possession of a controlled substance for sale. He was sentenced to two years and eight months in prison. On May 16, 2003, Mr. Reynolds was convicted of possession of a controlled substance for sale. He was sentenced to six years of probation and 180 days in jail. Mr. Reynolds was discharged from probation on December 5, 2006, having completed his sentences.

Mr. Reynolds has complied with the provisions of California Penal Code sections 4852.01 through 4852.22, which provide a procedure after completion of sentence to seek restoration of civic rights and responsibilities, and apply for a pardon. On June 20, 2018, the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento granted Mr. Reynolds a Certificate of Rehabilitation on evidence that he has been living an upright life. By granting Mr. Reynolds's petition for a Certificate of Rehabilitation, the court has recommended that Mr. Reynolds be granted a full pardon.

The Board of Parole Hearings received and reviewed Mr. Reynolds's pardon application and related materials, and on July 16, 2019, recommended him for a pardon, a step required by California Penal Code section 4813 for clemency applicants convicted of more than one felony. On October 9, 2019, Mr. Reynolds's pardon application received a recommendation from the California Supreme Court for the Governor to grant a pardon, a step required by article V, section 8 of the California Constitution for clemency applicants convicted of more than one felony.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. Reynolds merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Reynolds a full and unconditional pardon for the above cases.

Attachment: Re-Application for Gubernatorial Pardon, Curtis Michael Reynolds

On July 8, 2018, I completed the online application for the Governor's Pardon.

On July 20, 2018, I received a confirmation email that included my pardon case number (#CR-3004-18)

I received a letter from Melody Smith of the Board of Parole Hearings dated August 21, 2018. As directed in that letter, I confirmed via email to Melody Smith on August 25, 2018 that I wished to continue with the process of obtaining a pardon

On September 4, 2018 I emailed the required Notice of Intent (NOI) and Pardon Applicant Questionnaire (PAQ) to Ms. Smith. I also provided Ms. Smith with scanned copies of 16 character references addressed to the Governor attesting to my character and good standing in the community.

I spoke with Ms. Smith via phone in late September, during that discussion she informed me of a possible hearing but was unable to provide a date and time of the hearing. Ms. Smith informed me that she was actively working to schedule the hearing and would provide me with ample notice as I intended to attend the hearing in person as did multiple friends and family members including my eldest son, Father Bo Reynolds of Saint Luke's Church in New York City. After multiple attempts via telephone and email, I've been unable to reach Ms. Smith regarding the status of my hearing. I look forward to future communication with the Governor's Office and the Board of Parole Hearings regarding my application for a Governor's Pardon.

Thear Sam

Thear Sam, a resident of California, has applied for executive clemency.

Mr. Sam was convicted on August 22, 1996, of robbery. He was sentenced to three years of probation. On April 1, 1998, Mr. Sam was convicted of accessory to a felony with a prior felony conviction. He was sentenced to two years and eight months in prison. Mr. Sam was discharged from parole on March 3, 2001, having completed his sentence.

Mr. Sam has submitted to this office a formal application for executive clemency in the form of a gubernatorial pardon. He has demonstrated that he is living an upright life and has demonstrated his fitness for restoration of civic rights and responsibilities. Mr. Sam has also presented evidence that a collateral consequence of his conviction, namely, possible deportation and permanent separation from his family and removal from his community, further justifies this exercise of executive clemency.

The Board of Parole Hearings reviewed Mr. Sam's pardon application, and on July 16, 2019, recommended him for a pardon, a step required by California Penal Code section 4813 for clemency applicants convicted of more than one felony. On September 18, 2019, Mr. Sam's pardon application received a recommendation from the California Supreme Court, a step required by article V, section 8 of the California Constitution for clemency applicants convicted of more than one felony.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. Sam merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Sam a full and unconditional pardon for the above cases.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a pardon (attach additional pages as necessary):

On or about May 11, 1996 ; Robbery PC 211, 3 Years Probation

Twenty years ago, in 1996 I was convicted of Robbery PC 211; during the time of my first offense, I just turned 18 and didn't know any better. I came from a home that was very strict and when I was exposed to the outside world and got a taste of a little freedom, I made choices that weren't good for me. I followed the wrong crowd and did things to feel accepted by the peers I surrounded myself with. I explored hanging out with a new group and left behind friends I knew through Junior Reserve Officer's Training Corps (JROTC), a military high school program whose purpose is to educate high school program whose purpose is to educate high school students in leadership. It was towards the end of my senior year, I had my license and had access to a car and started to hang out with new "friends". I regret the crime I committed because I not only hurt myself but an innocent bystander and my family. At the time I didn't know the extent of my actions but it does not excuse my behavior. Through my experience I have come to the conclusion that no one deserves to be bullied. Although, I did not intervene in the crime being committed, theft through bullying against another teen, I do take accountability for being the driver of the car. At the time I wanted to fit in and be "cool". The adrenaline rose high and I regret it ever since. The offense also included PC 496 receiving stolen property when a warehouse gift certificate was found in the trunk of my mom's car. I was young and dumb at the time. I was sentenced 3 year's probation and a suspended 5 year sentence.

On or about 1997, Accessory to Auto theft, but PC 32, PC 667 (A) double of 16months (about 2 years 8 months)

My second offense a year later after my first one, I went with some friends to San Francisco for vacation. One of the guys had stolen a car for joyriding back to Long Beach. On the way back to Long Beach they got pulled over by the police on the 101 highway and as he was exiting the driver jumped out the car. My friend in the car with me wanted me to pick up the driver of the stolen car so I did. Shortly after I picked him up I was pulled over and arrested. I was sentenced 16 months under PC 32 accessories and 16 months-doubled PC 667 (A) SPEC ALLEG - Prior.

3. Explain why you are requesting a pardon (attach additional pages as necessary):

The crime that I was charged for happened when I was 18 years old, which was almost 20 years ago. I am requesting a pardon for the opportunity to try and fix my resident status to continue being with my family. I am a 39 year old responsible, mature and reformed man. I have a wife who I have known for 18 years and a daughter who is 16. My daughter will be attending college in a few years and I need to make sure I am here to support her goals financially. Having [REDACTED] has changed my life for the better and as a dedicated father I need to be here to continue supporting and guiding her future on the right path. I left Cambodia when I was about 5 years old and I do not remember anything about Cambodia. If I get deported I will be in a country that I do not know. I believe I have served my time for the crime I have committed. While incarcerated I had time to think about my actions and how fortunate I am to be in this great country. As a provider for my family my ambition is to make sure that my family is well cared for.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a pardon (attach additional pages if necessary):

I should be granted this pardon because I continue to better for myself, my family, my friends and to society. This pardon will enable me to advance my career and in turn give my daughter the education I didn't have. By granting me this pardon, I will also have the opportunity to fix my immigration status, to vote, to attend Church services with my family. I will be able to stay here in the United States and be able to advance myself in school and in my career. I want to be able to grow not only as a person, but as a father, a husband, and a manager. Since I have rehabilitated myself from many years ago, granting this pardon will allow me to stay with my family.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

PARDON

John DiFrenna

John DiFrenna, a resident of California, has submitted to this office an application for executive clemency.

Mr. DiFrenna was convicted on June 21, 1990, in the Superior Court of California, County of Orange, for the crime of possession or purchase of a controlled substance for sale. He was sentenced to 36 months of probation.

Mr. DiFrenna has complied with the provisions of California Penal Code sections 4852.01 through 4852.22, which provide a procedure after completion of sentence to seek restoration of civic rights and responsibilities. On December 14, 2018, the Superior Court of California, County of Orange granted Mr. DiFrenna a Certificate of Rehabilitation on evidence that he has been living an upright life. By granting Mr. DiFrenna's petition for a Certificate of Rehabilitation, the court has recommended that Mr. DiFrenna be granted a full pardon.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. DiFrenna merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. DiFrenna a full and unconditional pardon for the above case.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 14th day of November 2019.

Quyen Mai

Quyen Mai, a resident of California, has applied for executive clemency.

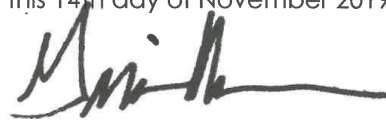

Mr. Mai was convicted on July 15, 2005, in the Superior Court of California, County of Santa Clara, for the crime of accessory after the fact. He was sentenced to two years, eight months in prison.

Mr. Mai has submitted to this office a formal application for executive clemency in the form of a gubernatorial pardon. He has demonstrated that he is living an upright life and has demonstrated his fitness for restoration of civic rights and responsibilities. Mr. Mai has also presented evidence that a collateral consequence of his conviction, namely, his impending deportation and permanent separation from his family and removal from his community, further justifies this exercise of executive clemency.

By the laws of this state it is proper that I, as Governor of the State of California, give testimony that, by completion of his sentence and good conduct in the community, Mr. Mai merits this pardon.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Mai a full and unconditional pardon for the above case.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 14th day of November 2019.

Application for Gubernatorial Pardon

1. Conviction Summary

1994 - misdemeanor conviction from 1994 for PC 12020(a)

1995 – Felony Conviction 187.664

2015- misdemeanor conviction from 2015 for PC 550(b)(1)

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) which you are requesting a pardon.

There were many circumstances that put forth the act that I committed in 1995, in which I take full responsibility for. The first circumstance was my association with a group whom I believed protected me from bullying but whom had also introduced me to a life of violence, drugs, and crime. At that time, I was vulnerable, lonely, young and helpless. As I got to know different members of the group, I learned that they did not get along with other groups. On the night of the crime that took place in 1995, I was under the influence of alcohol; in fact I remember having been drinking for a few days straight. Now that I look back I understand that my excessive drinking at such a young age was a way of coping with the trauma I had experience in the past. I remember being at a party having a good time and in a split-second things turned bad. There were no warnings, everything happened so fast. It started when a group of guys showed up to the party, and all of a sudden they attacked me and the guy I was with. I remember feeling scared and I reacted without thinking by discharging a weapon. Shortly after the arrest, I realized that I made a really bad decision by responding to the attack with a lethal weapon. I was thankful that there were no lives lost although many lives were impacted in negative way including my own. When I was approached by authorities I took full responsibility for the crime. As a man of faith that was the very least I could do. If I could go back in time I would. I would have not been present in that party more less in association with such crowd, and especially not in possession of a deadly weapon. At the age of 19, I was immature and highly influenced by the young men I met in middle school in which I no longer have ties to.

In 1994 I was charge for being in the procession of a knife. The circumstances surrounding this conviction were a direct result of the choices I made during my teenage years which led to the conviction I received in 1995.

In 2015, after purchasing a used vehicle my car was broken into and vandalized. I reported this to the car insurance, but they claimed that part of the damage was already there because the previous owner had already reported it. The car insurance did not take my claim into consideration because they claimed that one of the two areas that were damaged was already there. Since I could not completely distinguish the new damage from the previous damage they charged me with insurance fraud. I take partial responsibility for this conviction because I should have paid closer attention and provided more details to avoid confusion. I took the deal that the court offered and pleaded no contest to avoid going to trial and having to take time from work. I also paid a fine of $1300.

3. Explain why you are requesting a pardon.

I am requesting a pardon for a several reasons. The first reason is so that I may be able to reopen my immigration case and avoid deportation to a country my family and I escaped from. The second reason is to relief my four children, wife, and elderly parent's - whom highly depend on me for financially, emotionally, and physically support. The third reason is so that I may have the chance to restore my citizen rights. As my records state, I have done absolutely everything in my power to stay out of trouble and have been an honorable man at home, at work, and in my community. Since my release in 2006, I have taken advantage of every opportunity to learn many trades to increase my knowledge and employability skills. I maintain strong ties to my family and have established a solid professional career with outstanding performance. I am also requesting a pardon with high hopes to pursue my professional dream of one day having my own business as a general contractor. This pardon will allow for me to continue to raise my four children in such a way where they will positively contribute back to society. Without a father my children would be incomplete and could become susceptible to many misfortunes. If I were granted a pardon my family would avoid many hardships and society will gain many contributions from our family.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a pardon.

As an honorable man, I ask to be pardon for a crime that I committed 25 years ago. A crime in which I fully regret and take full responsibility. I ask that you please pardon me so that I may have the opportunity to continue providing for my family and to my community. I have learned from my mistakes and no longer drink alcohol and have learned how to cope with stressors by surrounding myself with good people like my family, church, and community. I would like the opportunity to put this behind me and assist young men in my community in such way that I can help them cope with traumatic situation such as bullying and substance abuse. Granting this pardon would relief my family, my community, and could possibly save lives by providing direct support to young people.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a pardon (attach additional pages as necessary):

For my PC 245 (A) (1) offense, I had an argument with that individual prior to the incident. On the day of the offense I bumped that individual.

This was something that was unexpected. We argued more and this led to an altercation. In the heat of the moment, I let my anger controlled me.
I stabbed him with a pocket knife that I had on me.

3. Explain why you are requesting a pardon (attach additional pages as necessary):

This will affect my life greatly. I'm currently married with two babies. I'm the only person that can take care of my family. My wife does not earn enough to take care of our children by herself. I can't imagine how it would be like if my family is broken apart like this. They are counting on me to care care of them. My children are too young to experience such heartbreak. I also have to take care of my old ailing parents. My father is currently half paralyzed due to a recent stroke. If I am gone it would devastate my family emotionally as well as financially.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a pardon (attach additional pages if necessary):

I paid my debt to society when I served my sentences. Now I am currently a productive member of society. My last incident was in 2008. I am now a son, a father, and a husband. I'm currently trying to be a great role model for my children. I've learned my lessons and now I'm trying my best as a father and a husband. My life is here. My family is here. Everyone needs a second chance. I need one too so i can provide for my family.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Alex Barajas

In 2005, 21-year-old Alex Barajas shot Arthur Gomez, a rival gang member, and Joseph Avila. On May 31, 2007, the Superior Court of California, County of Santa Clara, sentenced Mr. Barajas to 15 years to life each for two counts of attempted murder with two 25-year-to-life firearm enhancements—a total prison term of 80 years to life.

Mr. Barajas is now 35 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 14 years. He earned his GED in 2019 and has completed vocational training and self-help programming. Since 2015, Mr. Barajas has been assigned to the Delancey Street Honors Unit at Solano State Prison, a housing unit teaching job and life skills to inmates in preparation for release. Mr. Barajas credits Delancey Street with helping transform his life, writing in his application, "Realizing that I solely possess the power to steer my life, I have taken advantage of many opportunities that have been presented to me while in prison." He continued, "One of the greatest opportunities afforded me has been the Delancey Street Honors Program. I have willingly accepted all that Delancey has to offer."

Through his positive attitude and behavior, Mr. Barajas has earned the respect of prison staff who interact with him regularly. The Delancey Street Honors Unit Manager commended Mr. Barajas on his commitment to the program and noted that over the past four years, Mr. Barajas has "worked hard at changing his own self-destructive behaviors." A Delancey Street Foundation staff member commended Mr. Barajas for serving as a mentor to other inmates and for his work organizing groups and functions for other inmates. The staffer wrote regarding Mr. Barajas, "[S]ince the beginning, I've witnessed him not only make huge changes personally, but also guide others in making similar changes themselves, regardless of ethnicity or previous affiliations." The staffer concluded, "It is my belief that Alex will be an asset in whatever community he finds himself a part of and has been a great example of the rehabilitative side of our prison system." A college coordinator wrote in 2018, "Mr. Barajas is a highly respected model prisoner who truly deserves a second chance to serve the community." In the event of his release, Mr. Barajas has support and resources to help him transition back into the community.

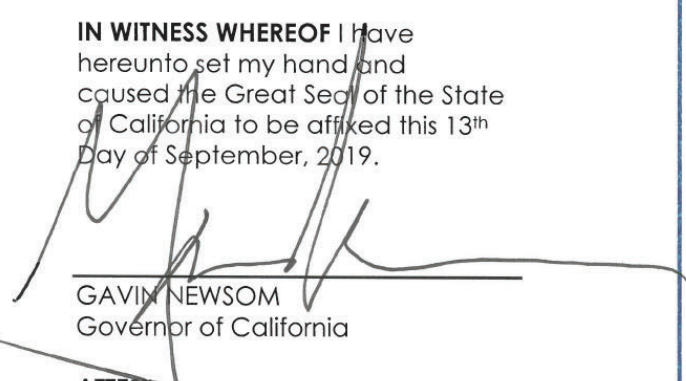

Mr. Barajas committed a senseless crime at a young age, severely injuring two men. During the years since then, Mr. Barajas has demonstrated his commitment to becoming a productive citizen. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of his conduct over the past fourteen years. I have concluded that Mr. Barajas merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Barajas does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Alex Barajas to make him eligible for parole consideration during his 15th year of incarceration. Mr. Barajas remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

Personal Letter of Alex Barajas

Mr. Governor Brown,

My name is Alex Barajas and I am currently a resident at the Delancey Street Honors Program at Solano State Prison. After serving more than a decade in prison, I am no longer the same person who committed a horrible crime. I am asking if you would please consider commuting my sentence.

Please allow me to express that there is no justification for what I did. I want to fully express my deepest sorrow, remorse, personal pain, and shame that I feel when I say that I am sorry for what I did. I shot two innocent people on the night of October 25, 2005. It was a direct result of my selfishness, low self-esteem, anger, impulsivity, and lack of self-control which caused me to act carelessly and irresponsibly.

While I absolutely take full responsibility for my actions, I think it might be informative to briefly tell you about my life. My first memories were growing up in a dysfunctional house where drugs and alcohol were prevalent. I was five years old when my father would physically and verbally abuse me telling me that I was stupid and retarded and that I would never amount to anything because I could not learn. There was also my grandmother who I was very much afraid of because she would physically beat me every day. She would also sabotage my meals knowing that I would throw up after I ate. She would then force me to eat my own vomit followed by repeated blows to my head. She also verbally and emotionally abused me by telling me that I was not her grandson and that I was better off dead. I wanted to tell my mother about the physical, verbal, and emotional abuse that I was experiencing everyday but I could not because I was too weak and scared. I thought that if I told my mother she too would get hurt. I kept silent so the physical, verbal, and emotional terror continued and I began to build resentment and anger. Due to the physical, verbal, and emotional abuse that I experienced I developed a speech impediment problem. When I was in grade school I would often get bullied because of my speech impediment. I was embarrass and ashamed because I was not like everyone else who appeared to be happy and normal, so I became withdrawn and antisocial.

When my parents separated I was sent to live with my uncle who lived on the east side of San Jose where the neighborhood was plagued with gangs, drugs, and violence. One day after school I walked into the alley, a place I had been warned to stay away from, but I did not because I was a desperate kid in search of acceptance, love, and belonging. I found exactly what I was looking for with my older antisocial and negative peers. I was twelve years old when I started to associate with gangs and drug dealers and began to use drugs and alcohol. I quickly adapted and immersed myself wholeheartedly into a culture of gangs, drugs, and violence because my new set of peers accepted me for who I was. I began selling drugs and eventually found myself participating in fights and street riots. The more I participated on imposing my will upon those that I was told were my "enemies" the more I was praised. I was told that I was doing a good job, that one day I would grow up and be just like them. I instantly felt accepted, happy and good about myself. My low self-esteem of feeling worthless, stupid, and retarded was gone. I felt pride and confidence. I finally felt happy and normal like the rest of the kids around me. I was accepted, liked, and felt a sense of belonging. I felt valued and worthy of gratitude and appreciation so I internalized everything that they did.

I used to think and say that the worst thing that ever happened to me was receiving a life sentence. However, through this experience it brought about my desire to want to change and lead a new and better life. Today not only do I have a deeper understanding of the consequences of my actions but also the ripple effect of my violent act. I am truly sorry for all the agony, sadness, sorrow, grief, and trauma that I afflicted on Arthur Gomez and Joseph Avila, their families, my family, and the community. This is the guilt, pain and shame that I have to live with for the rest of my life.

Since being incarcerated I have begun to build a new life in prison. Because of the self-help programs that I attend and as a resident of the Delancey Street Honors Program at Solano State Prison I have grown as a person and gained a better understanding of myself. I discovered that I can redefine myself by making the choice to change my attitudes, habits, and ultimately the false values which I once internalized. I never believed that I was a product of my environment, but I was definitely influenced very strongly by that environment. I now realize that I did not have the right tools to have positive and productive interactions with others, so over the past decade I have worked to acquire these tools. Because I no longer want to fall into the same destructive pattern of criminal activity I take my commitment to change seriously.

Realizing that I solely possess the power to steer my life I have taken advantage of many opportunities that have been presented to me while in prison. One of the greatest opportunities afforded to me has been the Delancey Street Honors Program. I have willingly accepted all that Delancey has to offer. Its main objective, one that I have been a part of since it was first started three years ago, is to change prison culture. Here I do not only learn how to accomplish that goal, but I live it on a daily basis. So as I have learned new strategies I have begun to implement them and practice them on a daily basis as well as to internalize them as values and beliefs. Some of these strategies include conflict resolution, anger management, stopping addictive behavior, understanding criminal thinking, Alcoholics Anonymous, various religious programs, as well as facilitating Al-Anon. In addition to this I have been working through the Delancey GED classes and Solano's Voluntary Education Program to advance my education.

Since I now have a better understanding of these strategies I no longer resort to self-destructive behavior. I no longer suppress my anger, but I have learned to manage it and express it in a non-destructive manner. For example, I have come to understand that anger is a secondary emotion, and to better manage it I first identify the emotion behind the trigger. By addressing my anger and the emotions that accompany it I no longer act out of impulse. This method has been a great asset to both my personal growth and the community I live in. I have also learned to recognize addictive patterns of thinking and how to change these thoughts into healthy and positive thinking. I have participated in religious groups that serve a support network for my recovery and as a source to encourage and grow my faith. I have been given the opportunity to act as a facilitator in Al-Anon where I have also gained a better understanding of how the people in my life have been affected due to my addictive behavior. These support systems have allowed me to grow in my recovery by holding me accountable and teaching me new ways to live. The twelve step programs I attend have provided an outline for me to live life in such a way that I strive to be a positive and contributing member of society. And finally another extremely important goal I have set for myself is to further my education by first obtaining my General Education Degree and hopefully continue onto college.

I know I cannot change the past. However, there is not a day that goes by that I wish I could. I never stop thinking about the people whose lives I have impacted. I continue to pray for everyone's well-being that was affected through my violent act and hope that they have managed to rebuild their lives. As I continue to work the twelve steps I look forward to the day that making direct amends may be possible. For now I continue to make daily amends through my commitment to changing my life and serving others through my experience. Today I share my life story with many people with the greatest hope and optimism that this might serve to help others learn from my bad decisions. My hope is by doing this the new ripple effect of my life will influence others to make good choices and promote the well-being of communities.

If granted parole, I will work hard and diligently to ensure to stay on course for the new life I lead today. I have developed a strong support system which includes my immediate and extended family as well as the help of Dr. Mimi Silbert and the Delancey Street family. I have also rebuilt my relationship with my father and grandmother because I understand that in order to live a healthy and meaningful life, I must forgive. I also have a construction job waiting for me when I get out. I am confident that I will do a good job as I have shown through my positive work.

I am humbly asking for a second chance. Rest assured that my past is no longer relevant to my present aspirations, except when it could serve to help others. I know that I have the necessary tools to build a meaningful life for me, my daughter, my family, and my community. Thank you for taking the time to read this letter, and most importantly for believing in people like myself, that we can change our lives. As Dr. Mimi Silbert told us when the Delancey Street project began, this was your idea Governor Brown, your vision not hers. Thank you for the opportunity you created here at Delancey.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

RE: Alex Barajas CDCR: F76254, Application for Commutation of Sentence

Dear Governor Brown,

Mr. Alex Barajas, through counsel, hereby requests a commutation of his 80 years-to-life sentence. As of the date of this writing Mr. Barajas has served 12 years of his sentence. Mr. Barajas was convicted of two counts of violating of Penal Code sections 664(a)-187, use of a firearm resulting in great bodily injury Penal Code section 12022.53(d), and that the offense was committed for the benefit of a criminal street gang Penal Code section 186.22(b)(1)(C). The sentence was handed down on May 31, 2007 following a jury trial in Santa Clara County Superior Court.

Mr. Barajas' childhood was filled with dysfunction as he was raised in a home filled with both alcohol and drug abuse. To make matters worse Mr. Barajas was physically and emotionally abused by his grandmother who constantly demeaned him even going so far as to make him eat his own vomit. Due to this type of abuse Mr. Barajas turned to street gangs to find the support he desired. However, during his incarceration Mr. Barajas has come to see the error of his ways and has matured immensely.

As seen in his attached letter Mr. Barajas is deeply remorseful for his actions. Mr. Barajas has also behaved impeccably in custody and, had he been convicted in 2018, would have been an excellent candidate to have his firearm enhancement stricken pursuant Senate Bill 620; the provisions of Senate Bill 620 were not available at the time of Mr. Barajas' sentencing. Accordingly, I respectfully request that Mr. Barajas' sentence be commuted to time already served.

Evidence of Mr. Barajas' Good Character

Mr. Barajas is presently incarcerated at the California State Prison Solano in Vacaville, CA. He has expressed enormous regret for his actions and for the pain they have caused (See Applicant's Letter). Mr. Barajas is a kind-hearted individual, and the daily guilt and shame he feels is immense. He is well aware of the severity of his offense and the harm that it has caused to the victim and his family. Mr. Barajas' regret is exacerbated by the fact that he injured two innocent people. While in custody Mr. Barajas has made tremendous strides in turning his life around.

Throughout his period of incarceration, Mr. Barajas has proven to be a model inmate and has resided in the Delancey Street Honors Unit of the Solano Prison for the past three years. In addition to this Mr. Barajas has received a support letters from Walter L. Baldwin and a personal endorsement from Dr. Mimi Silbert of the Delancey Street Foundation. While incarcerated, Mr. Barajas has also trained in various capacities, such as scissor lift operation, Heat Illness Prevention, Fall Protection, Bloodborne Pathogen Identification, and Industrial Respiratory Safety, all for the betterment of the institutions in which he has resides. Included with his application are several certificates related to his participation in the IVES Training Group, CDCR-Inmate/Ward Labor Program, Al-Anon, and the Delancey Street Honors Program. (See Supporting Documents)

Additionally, Mr. Barajas has been lauded for his strong work ethic and positive communication skills during vocational training which is reflected in his Job Performance evaluation for which he received an Above Satisfactory grade in all areas. (See Supporting Documents) Mr. Barajas has also been a consistent and contributing member of multiple Delancey Street Honors activities Including Conflict Resolution, Anger Management, Understanding Addictive Behavior, Understanding Criminal Thinking, Alcoholics Anonymous and Al-Anon. Mr. Barajas' comportment during his 12 years in prison is evidence that he would successfully return to society should his lengthy prison sentence be commuted.

Mr. Barajas has provided 9 letters of support from family members and friends. These letters speak for themselves, showing Mr. Barajas to be a kind, caring, and hardworking individual. Mr. Barajas is universally described by his family as a loving person and as someone who has matured exponentially during his incarceration. Despite his time in custody, he has retained close relationships with his family and multiple family members have vowed to give him a place to live upon his release. (See Letters of Support.) These these factors show an individual who does not pose a danger to others and who has the familial infrastructure in place re-enter society and make a valuable contribution to his community.

Commutation of Mr. Barajas Sentencing Enhancement is Consistent with Senate Bill 620

Effective January 1, 2018, Penal Code section 12022.53, subdivision (h), is amended to allow a court to exercise its discretion under Penal Code section 1385 to strike or dismiss such an enhancement in the interest of justice at the time of sentencing or resentencing, pursuant to Senate Bill 620. Mr. Barajas respectfully requests that, in the alternative of a full commutation, his 80 year-to-life sentence pursuant to Penal Code section 12022.53 be commuted in the interest of justice to 12 years of time served.

Had Mr. Barajas been sentenced in 2018, the interests of justice would have weighed in favor of striking his gun enhancement. As outlined throughout this letter of accountability and support letters, Mr. Barajas has exhibited exemplary character and had left the gang life style behind prior to the incident, facts which could have been presented as mitigating evidence to the sentencing court. Moreover, the enhancement more than doubles Mr. Barajas' term of incarceration and exceeds the sentence for the underlying conduct by 50 years.

Mr. Barajas admits to firing the shots that injured the victims, so the jury really had no option but to find the enhancement to be true. Upon the jury's finding, the trial court had no discretion but to impose the consecutive 80-years-to-life sentence on top of what would have only been a thirty-year sentence. The office of the Governor has the discretion to lift this excessive sentence and provide Mr. Barajas with an opportunity to rejoin his family and the community. I thus respectfully request that his sentencing enhancement be commuted in the interest of justice.

Conclusion

I firmly believe that should he be released, Mr. Barajas would be a productive and valuable member of society and would provide an emotional benefit to his family and those who care about him. Mr. Barajas displays all of the characteristics that would send him on the path to success. Moreover, he has recognized the severity of his actions, and regardless of his custody status, will continue to grapple with the effects of his regrettable actions for the rest of his days. There is no reason to believe, if Mr. Barajas' trial took place today, that he would have received a sentence of to 80 years-to-life due only to discretionary sentencing enhancements. For these reasons, I respectfully request that Mr. Barajas' request for a full or partial commutation be granted.

Sincerely,

Robert J. Beles
Attorney at Law

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Allen Burnett

In 1992, 18-year-old Allen Burnett and two crime partners carjacked Joseph Kondrath. While discussing their next steps, Mr. Burnett refused to shoot Mr. Kondrath. One of the crime partners then shot and killed Mr. Kondrath. On July 29, 1994, the Superior Court of California, County of Orange, sentenced Mr. Burnett to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Mr. Burnett is now 45 years old and has been incarcerated for 27 years. He has expressed deep remorse for his role in this crime, dedicating himself to his rehabilitation despite serving a sentence with no expectation of release from prison. Mr. Burnett has participated in numerous self-help programs, including classes on developing insight and anger management. He has also facilitated groups for his peers, encouraging them to pursue positive change in their lives. Mr. Burnett has lived for years on the Progressive Programming Facility (PPF) honor yard, and is enrolled in the California State University, Los Angeles bachelor's degree program.

Mr. Burnett has been commended by many members of the prison staff for his positive behavior and attitude. In 2019, an associate warden recommended him for a commutation and wrote, "I have been privy to few offenders who have managed such remarkable personal growth as Mr. Burnett." In 2018, a correctional officer who has known Mr. Burnett for almost two decades "strongly" supported his commutation, and wrote, "Inmate Burnett is an asset to the PPF and I would like to commend him for his accomplished rehabilitative efforts, encouraging him to continue along this positive path." Another officer who has known Mr. Burnett for 19 years wrote, "Inmate Burnett is to be commended for the way he has carried himself. . . . He participates in numerous other self-help groups and peer to peer classes, working to improve himself while providing a positive example to his fellow inmates." Another officer wrote, "I would recommend that serious consideration be given to allow Inmate Burnett to return to society. I believe he will be an asset to any community." A correctional lieutenant praised Mr. Burnett's "determination and desire to lead a better life," and said, "I believe if ever released back to the community, Burnett has the work ethic and skill set to keep him employed, ensuring that he would have something to offer society."

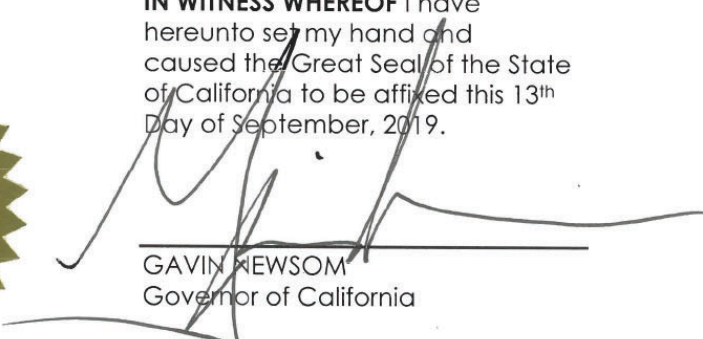

Mr. Burnett participated in a very serious crime that resulted in Mr. Kondrath's death. He expresses sincere remorse for the crime, and has demonstrated his maturity and growth. Mr. Burnett has devoted himself to his own rehabilitation and setting a positive example for others. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of his conduct in prison. I have concluded that Mr. Burnett merits the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Burnett does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Allen Burnett to 27 years to life. Mr. Burnett remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Jaime Cabrales

In 2007, Jaime Cabrales drove his car near a group of four men on a porch, and his crime partner, a passenger in the car, shot at them, injuring Jose Ocampo. On May 28, 2010, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Mr. Cabrales to 7 years to life for attempted murder and 25 years to life for a firearm enhancement—a total prison term of 32 years to life.

Mr. Cabrales has now been incarcerated for more than 12 years. Over the past decade, Mr. Cabrales has demonstrated his commitment to his rehabilitation. Mr. Cabrales has taken self-help courses and received above average to exceptional work ratings from his supervisors. He is currently taking college correspondence courses. Mr. Cabrales has earned commendations from the prison staff who interact with him regularly. In 2019, a correctional officer wrote that Mr. Cabrales “has always been respectful to staff and other inmates. I have observed Inmate Cabrales mentoring and counseling other inmates that might struggle with the aspects of prison life. Inmate Cabrales has maintained honesty and commitment to change while being a leading example of a person that has not allowed his past to define his present, nor dictate his future.” The officer concluded, “Inmate Cabrales has displayed sincere effort to improve himself as well as help and uplift others.” Also in 2019, two correctional officers commended Mr. Cabrales on his respectful attitude and willingness to help other inmates. One of the officers wrote that Mr. Cabrales “is always willing to go out of his way to help fellow inmates who wish to better themselves and point them in the right direction.” A Native American spiritual leader commended Mr. Cabrales for his work as a Meso-American inmate minister.

Mr. Cabrales has expressed sincere remorse for his role in the shooting of Mr. Ocampo and has demonstrated that he has used his time in prison to make amends and become a better person. Mr. Cabrales has proven through his actions in prison that he is sincere in his commitment to change. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Mr. Cabrales' conduct in prison and have concluded that he merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Cabrales does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize Mr. Cabrales' transformation since.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jaime Cabrales to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration. Mr. Cabrales remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

Re: Application for Commutation of Sentence: Jaime Cabrales

Dear Governor Brown:

In 2010, Jaime Cabrales, at the age of 30, was sentenced to twenty-five years to life for being the driver in a 2007 drive-by shooting that left one person injured, non-fatally. That conviction was Cabrales's first as an adult. In fact, while Cabrales had a minor juvenile record, he had a clean criminal record from February 1999 (age nineteen) until the commitment offense in April 2007 (age twenty-seven). During that eight-year period, he was focusing his energy and time on providing for his wife and four kids, and helping children in his community avoid becoming involved with gangs.

But one night in April 2007 he made a tragic, isolated mistake. Since then, he has expressed sincere remorse for that crime, held himself accountable for his actions, and used his time in prison to rehabilitate himself. He has been incarcerated for over eleven years, and in those eleven years he has become an inmate minister; developed a stable work history and consistently received laudatory reports from work supervisors; earned his GED and has begun taking college courses; completed various self-help programs and is enrolled in others now; and he has maintained an exemplary prison record. He has worked hard to gain tools and skills that will allow him to meaningfully contribute to his family and society if he is ever released, and tools and skills that will also help him avoid making the same mistake that put him in prison in the first place.

Notably, the prosecutor in this case recognized that Cabrales deserved a second chance at life, as reflected by an eight-year plea offer he extended to Cabrales and which Cabrales accepted. But when the parties went to court to enter the plea, the trial judge rejected it on the basis that it was untimely, when in fact it was not. And even though the Attorney General conceded this point in Cabrales's federal habeas proceedings, the federal courts—hamstrung by the Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act's (AEDPA) stringent standards for granting relief—denied Cabrales's habeas petition.

Commutation is now Cabrales's last hope at obtaining the result that the prosecutor, at the time of trial, thought was just. If the judge had accepted Cabrales's plea, he would have been released from prison several years ago, with good-time credits. Instead, he has now already served at least three more years than what the prosecutor initially thought was a fair sentence. What is worse is that Cabrales is not even parole-eligible until December 2033.

Several people have submitted letters in support of this commutation application. These people include family members, friends, community leaders, and Cabrales's former prison work supervisor and college professor. The trial prosecutor has also submitted a declaration, which further demonstrates that the trial judge wrongly rejected the eight-year plea. In his declaration, the prosecutor also acknowledges that Cabrales might "be the type of person who deserves relief." (Ex. 2, Gunson Decl., at 76¹.) Likewise, a former warden for the California Department Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR) recently evaluated Cabrales to determine whether he presented a future danger, and concluded that he does not. This former warden has added his voice to the chorus of those supporting Cabrales's application.

On behalf of Jaime Cabrales, I submit this application for a commutation of sentence from twenty-five years to life to a determinant sentence of eight years, or any other term you find just.

¹ With this application, I am submitting over 200 pages of supporting material. I have Bates numbered that material. All citations in this letter refer to those Bates numbers.

A. Cabrales's social history

Cabrales grew up in a broken home in the Lincoln Heights neighborhood in Los Angeles, California. (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 1-2.) When he was a child, he would play in a neighborhood sandbox littered with syringes discarded by heroin addicts. (Id. at 2.) Gang members terrorized the community, and gunfire constantly rang through the air. (Id.) Gunfire was so ubiquitous that Cabrales learned to tell what type of gun had been fired just by hearing the sound it made. (Id.) His father was an alcoholic who abused his mother, and who abandoned Cabrales's family when Cabrales was just five years old. (Id. at 1.) That was the first of many traumas Cabrales would suffer as a child. Before he graduated elementary school, he witnessed an uncle sexually abuse his sister; several of his cousins and friends were shot by gang members; and a friend of his committed suicide. (Id. at 2.)

Cabrales acknowledges that as a young child his view of the world was "distorted." (Id.) Even though people he loved were victims of gang violence, he still became involved with gangs because he thought a gang could help him "find an identity, a sense of love and belonging, and a brotherhood." (Id.) But deep down he "knew that there was a better way to live," and when he was twelve he "sought better alternatives by joining the Boy Scouts of America." (Id. at 3.) But while in the Boy Scouts, he was sexually abused. (Id.) That proved to be a tipping point for Cabrales. He dropped out of the Boy Scouts and then junior high school. (Id.) He began to think, "Why care about the world if the world does not care about me?" (Id.) During this time he was arrested and convicted of vandalism. (Ex. 4, Criminal History Rep., at 138.) Soon thereafter, his mother sent him to live with family in Mexico. (Ex. 3, N. Cabrales Ltr., at 122.) But Mexico was no kinder to Cabrales than America was. Cabrales lived in abject poverty while in Mexico; he had to collect scrap metal just to buy food and school supplies. (Id.)

When he was sixteen, he returned to Los Angeles and reintegrated himself with the Lincoln Heights gang. That decision almost killed Cabrales: at the age of sixteen he was shot four times. (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 3.) Worried about his life, he began to carry weapons. In 1997, he was convicted of possession of a firearm. (Ex. 4, Criminal History Rep., at 138.) Later that year he violated his juvenile probation relating to that conviction. (Id.) That 1997 juvenile conviction would be the last criminal conviction for Cabrales until his 2009 conviction that he now seeks to commute. (Id. at 136-41.)

When Cabrales was in his twenties, he began to distance himself from gangs. (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 3; Ex. 3, N. Cabrales Ltr., at 122.) He concentrated on providing for his wife and four young children, and began to explore his cultural and spiritual heritage, while also attending school. (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 3; Ex. 3, N. Cabrales Ltr., at 122.) He also became actively involved in his community. For several years, he volunteered with the County of Los Angeles Department of Parks and Recreation, assisting in special events and programs in local parks. (Ex. 5, Community Service Recs., at 159.) Among these activities were instructing an art class, designing and building a community garden, and picking up and delivering toys to children at Christmas. (Id. at 143, 155-56, 159.) Likewise, Cabrales volunteered with local Native American cultural groups. (Id. at 143.) A social worker, Roberto Murillo, observes that for many years Cabrales participated in sweat lodges, public Native American dance programs, and travel and discussions with Native American elders. (Id. at 143, 150-51.) Over time, Cabrales earned respect from his Native American elders, which Murillo says was not easy to do. (Id. at 143.) And just one month before his commitment offense, Cabrales received a letter from the Los Angeles County Probation Department thanking him for his “support and efforts in helping us rehabilitate the youth that we provide services to.” (Id. at 161.) The letter expresses gratitude to Cabrales for serving as a “role model” to at-risk youth who found themselves involved in gangs. (Id.) The family resource center coordinator applauded Cabrales for working with inner-city families, “not for money, status nor recognition,” but “for the love of our future generations.” (Id.)

B. The commitment offense

In April 2007, Cabrales went to a party in his old neighborhood. (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 4.) While there, he drank, and his eventual co-defendant, Gonzalo Alonzo, asked him for a ride home. (Id.) On the way home, Alonzo fired at several men who were in front of a house, hitting one non-fatally. (Ex. 2, Appellate Decision, at 12.) Later that night, the police arrested Cabrales on suspicion of being the driver and Alonzo as the shooter in this crime. (Id. at 13.)

C. The superior court judge wrongly rejected an eight year offer from the prosecution.

Cabrales and Alonzo awaited trial for two years. On March 6, 2009, the parties informed the judge in this case, the Honorable Curtis Rappe, that they were engaged in settlement negotiations and asked if they could return to court on March 13 “for either a plea or readiness for trial.” (Ex. 2, 3/6/09 Transcript, at 40.)

Judge Rappe responded: “All that I would ask is since we have a prescreened jury if there is going to be a disposition let Gina [the court clerk] know as soon as possible so she can kind of give the jury room a heads up on it. Okay. See you on the 13th.” (Id. at 42.) As the trial prosecutor Stephen Gunson explains in his 2018 declaration, as Judge Rappe left the bench he emphasized off-the-record that he wanted the parties to enter the plea sooner than later because he did not want to “burn” a prescreened panel by accepting a plea on the eve of trial. (Ex. 2, Gunson Decl., at 74.)

By March 13, 2009, the parties had agreed to a disposition: Cabrales would receive an eight-year sentence and Alonzo would receive one for twenty years. (Id.; see also Ex. 2, Slater Decl., at 81.) As the prosecutor explains in his declaration, in extending an eight-year offer to Cabrales he “took into account evidentiary problems in the case against Cabrales, Cabrales’s criminal history, which reflected no convictions as an adult and no arrests since 1999, and the fact that several witnesses were willing to speak to Cabrales’s good character.” (Ex. 2, Gunson Decl., at 74.) The “fact that several witnesses were willing to speak to Cabrales’s good character” was “unusual in the types of cases” the prosecutor handled. (Id.) Taking all those factors into consideration, the prosecutor “though a deal for eight years was fair,” otherwise he “would not have conveyed that offer.” (Id.)

The parties were in court on March 13 ready to enter that plea. The prosecutor, Cabrales and Alonzo, and Alonzo’s lawyer, David Slater, arrived in court at the scheduled start time of 8:30 a.m. (Id.; Ex. 2, Slater Decl., at 81.) Cabrales’s attorney, Aron Laub, “called ahead and advised the court clerk [he] would be late.” (Ex. 2, Laub Decl., at 77.) Laub arrived in court sometime between 10:00 a.m. and 10:30 a.m., but Judge Rappe refused to take the bench. (Ex. 2, Gunson Decl., at 74; Ex. 2, Slater Decl., at 81.) The prosecutor was “shocked” that the judge refused to take the bench when all the parties were present ready to proceed. (Ex. 2, Gunson Decl., at 74.) The court clerk told the parties to return to court ten days later, on March 23, 2009. (Ex. 2, Gunson Decl., at 74; Ex. 2, Slater Decl., at 81.)

On March 23, 2009, the parties arrived in court ready to enter the plea. (Ex. 2, Gunson Decl., at 75; Ex. 2, Laub Decl., at 77.) But Judge Rappe rejected the plea, claiming that two weeks earlier, on March 6, 2009, he had told the parties that if they wanted to enter any pleas, they had to do so no later than March 13, 2009. (Ex. 2, 3/23/09 Tr., at 49.) Therefore, Judge Rappe continued, he would not accept the plea because it was untimely by over a week. (Id.) The defense objected, asserting that the judge had never given the parties notice of any deadline. (Id. at 50.) The prosecutor expressed concern over the court's ruling and encouraged the judge to allow the parties to enter the deal, especially given that the parties were in court ten days earlier ready to enter the deal. (Ex. 2, Gunson Decl., at 75.) But over the defense's objections, Judge Rappe forced the parties to trial. (Id.)

The next day Laub asked Judge Rappe to reconsider his ruling. (Id.) At that point, Judge Rappe offered a different reason for rejecting the plea: he stated that he had rejected the plea on March 23 not just because it was untimely, but also because he disagreed with "the whole thing including the disposition." (Ex. 2., 3/24/09 Tr., at 65.) But as the prosecutor observes in his declaration, this "was a new concern." (Ex. 2, Gunson Decl., at 75.) "Up to that point, Judge Rappe had not expressed to the parties that he was rejecting the plea because he disagreed with its terms." (Id.) Moreover, he could not have disagreed with the terms of the plea on March 23 since it was not until the next day that the parties told him about its terms or what factors the parties had considered in negotiating the plea, such as "Cabrales's minimal criminal history, or the evidence of Cabrales's good character." (Id.) The trial judge rejected the parties' arguments, forced Cabrales to trial, and eventually sentenced Cabrales to twenty-five years to life.

In his state appeal and state habeas corpus proceedings, Cabrales argued that Judge Rappe violated his due process rights because he imposed a plea-bargaining deadline against him without ever giving him advanced notice of that deadline. (Ex. 2, Appellate Decision, at 14, 19.) The Attorney General's Office, which defended the judgment on direct appeal and state habeas, contended that Judge Rappe had actually imposed a plea-bargaining deadline—a position that, several years later, the Attorney General's Office would concede was wrong. (Contrast Ex. 2, Appellate Decision, at 20 with Ex. 2, Resp. Br., at 83.) In its opinion affirming Cabrales's conviction and sentence, the California Court of Appeal noted that the record was incomplete because it did not have the transcripts from the March 6 and 13 pretrial hearings, and therefore it could not "sort out precisely what took place during those court appearances leading up to the March 23 start of trial." (Ex. 2, Appellate Op., at 12.) Still, the state appellate court rejected Cabrales's due process claim because the day after Judge Rappe rejected Cabrales's plea as untimely, Judge Rappe stated he disagreed with its terms. (Id. at 22.)

In federal habeas, Cabrales reasserted his due process claim. With the benefit of counsel, Cabrales unearthed the missing transcripts that were not before the state appellate court. Those transcripts indisputably show that Judge Rappe never imposed any plea-bargaining deadline in this case. (Ex. 2, Mot., at 99-100.) In light of those transcripts, the Attorney General's Office switched positions and conceded that "the trial court did not indicate there was a deadline for plea bargaining." (Ex. 2, Resp. Br., at 83.) Still, the Attorney General's Office contended that there was no prejudice because Judge Rappe stated, on March 24, that he rejected the plea the previous day because he found it was too lenient. But as already noted, Judge Rappe could not have rejected the plea as too lenient on March 23 because he only first learned about the plea's terms on the following day. (Ex. 2, 3/24/09 Tr., at 69-70; Ex. 2, Gunson Decl., at 75.) Ultimately, even though the record refutes both of Judge Rappe's proffered reasons for rejecting the plea, the federal courts—bound by AEDPA deference, see 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d)—rejected Cabrales's due process claim.

D. Cabrales has extensively rehabilitated himself since his incarceration.

Cabrales has used his time in prison to better himself and his community. Prison staff, family, friends, and even a former warden in the California Department of Corrections, Daniel Vasquez, support this application. Vasquez, who has thirty-six years of experience in corrections, recently evaluated Cabrales and wrote in a declaration that he "was extremely impressed by Mr. Cabrales's dedication to change and of his focus in life to avoid falling back to negative behavior which he believes contributed to his prison incarceration." (Ex. 3, Vasquez Decl., at 117.) In Vasquez's opinion, Cabrales "has used his time wisely in prison." (Id.) Vasquez "would not have any reservations or concerns that Mr. Cabrales would pose a danger to the community if he is released on commutation of his sentence, which [he] would support." (Id.) Cabrales's prison records show that Vasquez's remarkably favorable opinion is well-deserved.

Ministry. Cabrales is an inmate minister of the Mesoamerican faith. (Ex. 7, Religious Chrono, at 182.) His interest in his faith predates his incarceration. (Ex. 3, Murillo Ltr., at 133; Ex. 5, Mtn., at 143.) For several years before the commitment offense, Cabrales participated in Native American spiritual ceremonies. (Ex. 3, Murillo Ltr., at 133; Ex. 5, Mtn., at 143.) Upon arriving at CDCR, Cabrales continued to practice his faith. (Ex. 7, 2011 Religious Property Chrono, at 183.) He then took the initiative to establish broader religious programs at Pelican Bay State Prison for those inmates, like himself, who practice the Mesoamerican faith. (Ex. 7, Ltrs., at 185-91.) This involved him reaching out for assistance from other institutions, like the Chicana/o Studies Department at the California State University at Northridge, and the American Indian Studies Center at the University of California at Los Angeles, as well as community groups, like

Barrios Unidos. (Id.) In 2017, Chaplain Richard McCovey recommended Cabrales to become an inmate minister. (Ex. 3, McCovey Ltr., at 120.) In his recommendation, Chaplain McCovey notes that Cabrales had worked with him for three years and helped over twenty inmates “with their study and understanding with Meso American belief.” (Id.) He “believe[s] [Cabrales] would be a credit to the chaplaincy dealing with the multiplicities of Meso Americans spirituality and culture wherever he goes.” (Id.)

Good behavior while in prison. Vasquez has rated Cabrales’s prison adjustment as “outstanding.” (Ex. 3, Vasquez Decl., at 116.) Between 2007 and 2009, Cabrales awaited trial in Los Angeles County jail, a facility known for being an exceptionally chaotic environment. His record from that two-year period “reflects that he was an overall conforming inmate” who “posed no violent threat against staff or inmates.” (Id. at 114.) Over a two-year period, he received only three minor rules violations: two for talking back to jail deputies and one for possessing extra clothing. (Id.)

Cabrales has likewise maintained an exemplary prison record since he began serving his indeterminate life sentence in CDCR beginning in 2010. In the past eight years, he has had only two rules infractions, with the last occurring in 2013. (Id. at 114-15.) The first infraction was in 2011 for participating in a prison yard fight. (Id.) Cabrales was placed in the Security Housing Unit (SHU) as a punishment, but “was there for only four months, having the remainder of his SHU sentence vacated by the Institution Classification Committee due to his otherwise positive adjustment. (Id. at 115.) Cabrales’s second, and last, infraction was in 2013 for participating in a CDCR-wide inmate hunger strike to draw attention to the lack of programs available for lifers, like himself. (Id.) That strike was successful, and now lifers in California state prison are eligible for more programs than they were before the strike. Neither of these rules violations concern Vasquez, who notes in his declaration that, because of “prison politics,” Cabrales would have endangered himself had he not participated in either event. (Id.)

Cabrales’s threat assessment reports consistently trend downward. When Cabrales first arrived in CDCR, he was sent to a Level IV prison facility with a custody designation of “Close,” which is consistent with how CDCR initially classifies all lifer inmates. (Id. at 114.) But by 2017, “based on Mr. Cabrales’s on-going positive incarceration adjustment, his continued self-help program accomplishments, including his on-going educational accomplishments, CDCR lowered his classification score to a Level III and reduced his custody designation from Close Custody to Medium A Custody.” (Id. at 113.) His 2017 CDCR threat assessment report lists him as a “-6,” which is a significantly low threat assessment score for a lifer and demonstrates CDCR’s recognition of Mr. Cabrales’s positive and on-going accomplishments” and its recognition “that he does not pose any threat against staff or inmates.” (Id. at 116.)

Education. Before the commitment offense, Cabrales had not finished high school (he dropped out as a teenager). But within a year of arriving at CDCR, he began “working on pre-GED placement tests.” (Ex. 6, Educ. Recs., at 164.) He consistently earned A’s while working toward his GED, which he earned in 2013 with exceptionally high scores. (Id. at 164-68, 173.) Cabrales has continued his educational pursuits by enrolling in college and pursuing his Associate of Arts degree. (Id. at 170-72.) One educational report notes that Cabrales has “demonstrated that he is determined to further his education.” (Id. at 172.)

One of his college instructors provides even more insight into Cabrales’s character. Professor Bernadette M. Johnson of College of the Redwoods, a community college, taught Cabrales from 2016-2017. (Ex. 3, Johnson Ltr., at 119.) She notes that his GPA of 3.6 demonstrates “above average academic progress,” and that he “displayed a high degree of dedication to his academic work, was respectful and interacted with his fellow classmates and [her]self in a productive and professional manner.” (Id.) According to Professor Johnson, Cabrales “demonstrated proficiency” in learning “how to be successful in college and in life by mastering skills such as self-reflection, time-management, professional communication, maintaining a ‘creator mindset’ and taking responsibility for one’s goals in life.” (Id.) She closes her letter of support by commenting that through her interactions with Cabrales, she “feel[s] that he has the potential to be a fully contributing member of society. He appears open to self-improvement” and “displays strong work ethic and commitment to creating a future that will be positive for himself, his family and his community.” (Id.)

Programming and work supervisor reports. Since 2013, Cabrales has worked extensively while in prison, and he has consistently earned high marks and praise from his supervisors. While at Pelican Bay, he worked as an education clerk and a teacher’s aide in the Adult Basic Education program; a computer class clerk; a kitchen and dining hall worker; and a building porter. (Ex. 8, Work Hist., at 192-93; Ex. 8, Resume, at 194-96.) At Pleasant Valley, he was a building porter and he assisted disabled inmates. (Ex. 8, Work Hist., at 192; Ex. 8, Resume, at 194.) And at Ironwood, he has served as a building porter. (Ex. 8, Work Hist., at 192; Ex. 8, Resume, at 194.) One of his work supervisors described him in a report as “self-directed” and someone who “needs little supervision,” consistently graded his work performance as “above average,” and often recommended him for a pay increase. (Ex. 8, Work Rep., at 197.) In a letter of support, another supervisor, Mary Roberts, recounts how Cabrales’s services were in demand at Pelican Bay State Prison. (Ex. 3, Roberts Ltr., at 118.) Cabrales worked for her as a computer clerk, but one day the GED instructor “came to [her] and asked if [she] would unassign Cabrales because she would like to have him as one of her clerks.” (Id.) Roberts describes Cabrales as “a very kind and respectful person” who “showed initiative and took great pride in his job duties.” (Id.) She was impressed by how Cabrales bridged gaps between inmates of different races. (Id.) In her view, Cabrales “has come a long way in his development of growth.” (Id.) She thinks “he will not pose a risk to society” if he is released from prison, and also believes “he would be a great asset to today’s society.” (Id.)

Cabrales is also involved in self-help programs. In June 2015, he completed a ten-month program called Choices for Common Ground. (Ex. 8, History, at 192; Ex. 9, Certificates, at 200-10.) He received certificates for completing courses in “Making Parole (Parts I & II),” “Overcoming Errors in Thinking, Tactics - Habits that Block Change (Parts I, II, III, & IV),” “Preparation for Release (Developing a Game Plan),” “Errors in Thinking, and Crucial Errors in Thinking,” “Anger Management, Self Esteem, and Employment,” “Cage Your Rage -- Anger Management,” “Developing Support Networks (Family & Organization),” and “The Power of Consequences (Parts VII, VIII, & IX).” (Ex. 9, Certificates, at 200-10.) Presently, he is enrolled in two programs at Ironwood: Getting Out by Going In (GOGI) and the Youth Offender Parole Suitability and Re-Entry Program. (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 8.) GOGI is a positive cultural movement created by prisoners for other prisoners that serves as an alternative to the violence and crime rampant in United States prisons. (Id.)

Stable social relationships. Cabrales has maintained stable social relationships throughout his time in custody. He and his sister, Nannette Cabrales, were close before he was imprisoned, and remain close today. (Ex. 3, N. Cabrales Ltr., at 121; Ex. 6, Cabrales Coursework, at 175.) She has been a great source of strength for him, and he considers her to be not just his sister, but his “friend, [his] rock, [his] fortitude.” (Ex. 6, Cabrales Coursework, at 175.) Though Cabrales’s relationship with his own children remains strained today because of his incarceration, he has become a father figure to Nannette’s children. One of Cabrales’s nieces, Evanny Pham, whom Cabrales writes several times a month, considers Cabrales to be her best friend. (Ex. 3, Pham Ltr., at 127-28.) She writes: “I would like my best friend back because he is the only person that guides me as much as he can. He's always motivating me to do good." (Id.)

A common theme in the letters of support from Cabrales's family is how his incarceration has devastated their lives. His mother, Celia Rodriguez, recalls how she felt "heartbreak" when he was arrested for his current offense and how she felt that her "life was completely destroyed" when he was sentenced to life in prison. (Ex. 3, Rodriguez Ltr., at 124.) On April 7, 2018, she saw her son for the first time in ten years, and hugged him for the first time since he was jailed for his current offense. (Id.) Now 72, Celia's health continues to deteriorate. She writes: "I have already lost 12 years of my life without my son by my side, I would not like to lose any more time. Jaime is a good man and we are a good family" (Id.) Likewise, Cabrales's older brothers, Casey and Fernando Silva, hope their brother is released from prison so they can make up for lost time. (Ex. 3, Silva Ltrs., at 129-31.) Both have witnessed their younger brother's personal and spiritual growth over the years, and would support him if he is released. (Id.)

It is not just family that can speak to Cabrales's good character. Huan Nguyen, whom Cabrales befriended while at Pelican Bay State Prison, has seen Cabrales be "a positive influence on not only [him]self, but countless others." (Ex. 3, Nguyen Ltr., at 132.) According to Nguyen, Cabrales actively engaged others in the college course they took together and showed empathy and respect for others. (Id.) Raul Garcia, the Program Director for American Indian Changing Spirits, also has high praise for Cabrales. Changing Spirits is a 501(c)(3) organization that runs a treatment plan for men recovering from drug and alcohol addiction. (Ex. 3, Garcia Ltr., at 134.) Garcia has known Cabrales for ten years, and notes that over the past decade, Cabrales "has displayed nothing but the utmost respect and a healthy friendship" to him and his family. (Id.) He considers Cabrales to be trustworthy, humble, and a leader in their community. (Id. at 134-35)

Accountability, remorse, and a sincere desire to be a productive member of society. Cabrales has separately written a statement in support of his application, emphasizing his accountability and remorse. (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 1-9.) He writes: "Looking back on what I did to my victims is painful. It saddens me to know that I hurt others." (Id. at 4.) He has reflected on the negative impact his actions had on his victims, and he offers this entreaty: "I deeply regret hurting them in the way that I did and extend a heartfelt apology to them all." (Id.)

Over the past eleven years, Cabrales has worked hard to develop skills that could help him become a good father and member of society. He has participated in Alcoholics Anonymous (Ex. 9, Chrono, at 211), and has now been sober for eleven years. (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 5.) His prison record reflects that he has had zero drug or alcohol-related infractions since he was incarcerated. (Ex. 9, Chronos, at 211-25.) As soon as programs became available for lifers like him, he began participating in them and took on leadership roles in them as well. (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 6-7.) As noted above, he has also immersed himself in his educational pursuits and his religion.

In his declaration, former warden Vasquez remarks that Cabrales has separated himself from the other prisoners. He states that in “prison culture” there is a difference between a “convict” and an “inmate.” (Ex. 3, Vasquez Decl., at 116.) A convict, according to Vasquez, “is a prisoner who has established a reputation as a respected individual who is his own leader and who does not rely on prison gangs or prison politics to help him do his prison time.” (Id.) Cabrales is such a person. (Id.)

In his personal statement, Cabrales explains that he has “learned that rehabilitation is not a given -- it must be fought for and earned with discipline, dedication, willpower, and the desire to return home a new person.” (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 9.) According to Cabrales, the past eleven years have given him the opportunity to “recognize the roots of [his] failures and shortcomings, as well as [his] strengths and weaknesses. And most importantly, [he has] gained the tools necessary to help [him] to develop character and courage to overcome [his] old behaviors.” (Id.)

E. Cabrales has a reentry plan and would receive extensive community support if he is released.

Cabrales’s sister has offered to allow him to live with her if he is released, to provide him with financial support, a car for transportation, and assistance finding a job. (Ex. 3, N. Cabrales Ltr., at 123.) She lives in Hacienda Heights, far away from the Lincoln Heights neighborhood where Cabrales grew up. (Id.) Cabrales intends on continuing his college education and applying to a skills occupational center to obtain certificates in skills-based jobs, such as an electrician or mechanic. (Ex. 1, Cabrales Personal Statement, at 5; Ex. 6, Cabrales Coursework, at 177-78.) He also plans on continuing to participate in anger management classes and substance abuse programs. (Ex. 6, Cabrales Coursework, at 177.)

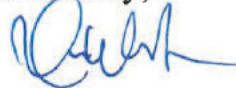

Cabrales will have community support if he is released. Roberto Murillo, a social worker, has offered to lend support by introducing Cabrales “to therapeutic groups as well as his prayer life.” (Ex. 3, Murillo Ltr., at 133.) Garcia, the Program Director for American Indian Changing Spirits, has also offered support. Garcia believes the program run by his nonprofit would “be the perfect fit for Jaime to recover and transition into society.” (Ex. 3, Garcia Ltr., at 135.) That program offers daily group and individual treatment. (Id.)

Jaime Cabrales grew up in an environment filled with abuse, abandonment, poverty, and violence. And like some who grow up in that type of environment, he turned to gangs for a sense of identity and purpose. Yet from 1999-2007 he had put that life behind him. During this eight-year period he focused his time and energy on providing for his family and volunteering in his community, so that children from his neighborhood would have more opportunities than he had. But an isolated mistake on a single night upended all the progress he had been making.

Over the past eleven years, Jaime Cabrales has taken time to reflect on this mistake. He has shown sincere remorse, and he has used his time in prison wisely. He has gone to great lengths to ensure that he never makes that kind of mistake again, and he now has the tools necessary to succeed if he is released from prison, as well as the support of family, friends, and members of his community.

Sincerely,

Michael Weinstein

QUESTION 3

I am requesting a commutation because I have worked very hard over the past eleven years to become a better person so that I can one day make positive contributions to society in an effort to atone for the mistakes I made when I was younger.

I recognize and accept responsibility for my role in the crime I committed. On April 27, 2007, I drove into a rival gang's territory. I was under the influence of alcohol at the time. I understand now that my impairment and lack of judgement do not excuse my conduct. My actions inflicted damage, pain, and suffering upon my victims, my family, and myself.

The past eleven years have given me a lot of time to reflect on what led me to commit the crimes. I'd like to take this opportunity to tell you more about myself.

I barely got to know my father when I was younger; he left when I was five. It's painful to think about the time I actually spent with him. I remember how he abused my mother. He would come home drunk and fight with her. This frightened my brothers, sister, and me. One night my mother asked him to leave, and he did. I saw him once when I was 8 or 9 years old, and then again when I was 13. But that was it.

My insecurities began after he left. I sought out father figures in my neighborhood of Lincoln Heights. My role models became the veterans of gang warfare who wore battle scars on their flesh like medals of honor and the drunk winos who bore a resemblance to my alcoholic father. The first toys I ever found, playing in the sandboxes of Lincoln Park, were used syringes thrown away by heroin addicts.

My innocent mind could not foresee what would follow. I was still in elementary school when I walked in on my uncle molesting my sister; when my two cousins were shot in their legs; when my friend Nelly was shot in her stomach, and shortly afterward her boyfriend, Cesar, was shot and murdered in front of his dad, leaving her pregnant with their unborn child; and when my friend Javier committed suicide.

My playground was a battlefield where I watched rival gang members invade and terrorize my neighborhood with gunfire. I got to know gunfire so well at such an early age; I could even distinguish what type of caliber of bullets was being discharged from a gun from the sounds of gunshots. I learned how to dodge bullets while suppressing my fear.

At a very young age I watched my friends and family members become victims to gang violence. Yet, at eight years old, my thought process was so distorted by my environment that I still dreamt of being a gang member. By joining a gang I thought I could find an identity, a sense of love and belonging, and a brotherhood. At a very young age I established myself as a gang member. I joined a gang because it validated me as an individual growing up in a gang-infested neighborhood, and connected me to the people

I loved: my friends, my cousins, my peers, my elders, and what I knew as my Community.

Deep down inside I knew that there was a better way to live, so at the age of twelve, I sought better alternatives by joining the Boy Scouts of America. It was then that I personally experienced my first encounter with sexual abuse. I dropped out of the Boy Scouts after that.

Shortly after that, I dropped out of junior high school during my first semester and began rebelling against authority figures. I began to think, "Why care about the world if the world does not care about me?" Gang violence became my outlet, but it also almost killed me. At the age of 16 I was shot four times; at 19 I was shot twice; and at 26 I was shot 3 more times while witnessing the death of a 15 year old friend.

When I was in my 20s, I started to distance myself from gangs. I had no criminal record from the year 2000 to 2006, because during that period of my life I had severed my ties with the Lincoln Heights Gang, and focused on being a husband, father, and a provider for my family. I began exploring my cultural and spiritual heritage, and with the help of my mentors, my spiritual faith and willpower grew. This helped me to disengage from criminal and gang activity. During this time I also attended East Los Angeles Community College, worked as a security guard, and was a carpenter for the Carpenter's Union, Local 409. I was a father, husband, and a provider to a family of five: four children, my wife, and myself.

But when I was 27 I attended a party in my old neighborhood. There were gang members at that party and some of them asked me to give them a ride home. I drank at this party. Alcohol had often been a weakness for me. On the way home, I participated in a drive-by shooting.

Looking back on what I did to my victims is painful. It saddens me to know that I hurt others. I believe that my actions may have caused them to live in fear and to experience changes in their lives before, during, and after my trial. The several court dates my victims attended must have caused them to miss work, imposing upon them a financial burden and emotional distress in their personal lives. I deeply regret hurting them in the way that I did and extend a heartfelt apology to them all.

I am also ashamed of how much suffering I have caused upon my family, forcing on them an emotional and financial burden. I am ashamed of how I have disgraced and dishonored myself, my family, and my community. As a result of my crimes I abandoned my responsibilities as a father, husband, provider, and member of society. I watched my ex-wife and children become depressed as their lives changed completely. Due to the harsh circumstances imposed on my family my relationship with my children was destroyed and my marriage ended in divorce.

The past eleven years have helped me gain a better understanding of how my actions affect and impact others, including my loved ones. That understanding became especially clear on April 7, 2018, when I received my first contact visit in eight years. I entered the visiting room, but could not find my family. I looked around and finally saw my mother, a 73 year old woman I could hardly recognize, shrunk by old age, bald at the top of her head, and ravaged by diabetes, coronary disease, high blood pressure, and her recent dialysis treatment. I placed my hand on my mother's shoulder and felt her warmth. I smiled. She burst into tears and held on to me tightly. I was suddenly surrounded by two nieces and a nephew. My 17 year old niece, [REDACTED] cried hysterically. The last time I saw her cry that way she was 8 years old, in 2009, when I was found guilty of my crimes. That visit was a bittersweet moment. It was wonderful to see my family, but it also showed me how my actions have caused my family to suffer.

It must have taken 20 seconds to commit my crime. Those 20 seconds resulted in a 32 year to life sentence, which I have now served 11 years. During this time I have realized that I want to be a productive member of society. As I explain in my response to question 4 of this application, I have worked hard in the past eleven years to become a productive inmate. I have also been sober 11 years, and I have not had any drug or alcohol-related infractions since I've been imprisoned. I have also severed my street gang ties since 2007, in the beginning of my incarceration.

Despite the many obstacles I have faced in my life and in prison, I now live and perceive the world differently than I once did, understanding that negative outcomes can be converted into positive ones. I am still alive after being shot 9 times in the streets, and serving 11 years in prison. I believe I can earn my place in society and I want to reclaim my role as a father, a grandfather, an uncle, a brother, a son, and a provider. My life sentence has helped me appreciate the freedom I once had, and throughout my incarceration I have gained an understanding of my purpose and responsibilities as a human being. I am requesting a commutation so that I may return home to my family and make amends to them, my victims, and my community.

I believe I should be granted commutation because I have made it my purpose to demonstrate my true identity and character through transformation and growth. I believe I have shown, through my programming at prison, that I am capable of being responsible and living as a productive member of society.

In my 20s, I tried hard to be a good person. I cut ties with my gang and tried to be a good father, husband, and provider. But I failed as a family man and a productive member of society when I decided to drink one night and return to the neighborhood I grew up in. That was the worst mistake of my life, and it cost me my freedom and my family. My life sentence is a constant reminder of how easy it is to lose everything. In an instant my life was changed forever by returning to my old life style and repeating the mistakes of my youth.

When I arrived at prison, I promised myself that I would work hard to make up for my mistakes and take steps to ensure that I never repeated them. In 2010 I arrived at Pelican Bay State Prison. During that time the institution was on lockdown for almost 3 years due to ongoing violence between certain race groups. Whatever educational programs were available to me I pursued them within my cell. I enrolled in cell studies in 2011 and received my GED in 2013. Shortly after, my GED instructor hired me as her clerk and I advanced to be her teacher's aide.

As a teacher's aide I made it my mission to help others receive their GED by tutoring them. In return I gained a new sense of purpose, identity, and perception of myself. I learned that placing others before myself for the betterment of their lives can have a positive impact on my life. I became a human being again and developed empathy, compassion, humility, and a lot of patience, tolerance, and understanding. Working in the Pelican Bay Education Department taught me how to work with people and my emotions.

In 2014 to 2015 I transferred my work assignment to the Computer literacy class where I worked as a clerk, assisting over 50 students a week while correcting and grading their work assignments. After work I participated in a self-help program called Choices, facilitated by a Pelican Bay teacher named C. Thompson. The program lasted almost a whole year which I attended once a week. Each meeting lasted two to three hours. In Choices I learned to address and manage my anger, overcome errors in thinking by addressing old habits, developed self-esteem and support networks, recognized the power of my consequences, developed a life plan, and gained a better understanding of how to make parole.

I have also immersed myself in my religion to both help others and myself. From 2014 to 2017 I was an inmate minister in Pelican Bay State Prison, providing ministry in Mesoamerican spirituality to over twenty inmates. Our religious services consisted of providing a vast knowledge of healing, prayer songs, self-help, and addressing issues related to alcoholism, self-esteem, domestic violence, drug abuse, anger, and criminal behaviors. As an inmate minister it was my purpose to guide people in the direction of sobriety and spiritual balance. In Mesoamerican religion and culture it is believed that human beings must maintain a dualistic spiritual balance with themselves, the earth, and all relations. Through my faith I was able to address my issues with alcohol. In my culture and religion alcoholism is not accepted for recreational purpose because it deviates human beings from their natural state of mind, causing an imbalance in their spiritual, physical, and emotional state. This understanding of my culture has served as positive direction and motivation for me to live a sober and healthy life.

In 2016 to 2017 I was enrolled in College of the Redwoods while balancing my work assignments and completing three college semesters. During that time I worked as a dining hall worker, a lead cook, and a building porter on separate occasions. I intentionally acquired different work assignments during different periods of my life as an opportunity to grow as a productive inmate and human being. Working in different environments with different people has helped me develop the ability to adapt, engage, and operate within stressful and hostile situations, while gaining a greater understanding of my service to others, my purpose, and developing an ability to solve problems and make better decisions that positively affect my co-workers and my work environment.

In August 2016, I transferred out of Pelican Bay State Prison to Ironwood. Two months later I was transferred to Pleasant Valley State Prison. Because of those transfers there is a six month gap in which I have not completed any programs due to the instability of housing. However, I was assigned as a dining hall worker in Ironwood, from September to October 2016, and in Pleasant Valley I was assigned as a building porter and an ADA (American Disability Act) worker, assisting disabled inmates.

Recently I returned to Ironwood State Prison to benefit from the numerous programs available. I am currently attending two self-help programs called Getting Out by Going In (GOGI) and the Youth Offender Parole Suitability and Re-Entry Program. GOGI is a positive cultural movement created by prisoners for other prisoners that serves as an alternative to the violence and crime rampant in U.S. prisons.

Through my programming, I have learned that rehabilitation is not a given- it must be fought for and earned with discipline, dedication, willpower, and the desire to return home a new person. I believe I have shown that. In prison I have learned to face myself, my past, and my fears. I have also learned to recognize the roots of my failures and shortcomings, as well as my strengths and weaknesses. And most importantly, I have gained the tools necessary to help me to develop character and courage to overcome my old behaviors.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Cristina Chavez

In May 2008, 21-year-old Cristina Chavez acted as a driver while her crime partner burglarized a vehicle. When the car owner's brother Sergio Perez came outside, Ms. Chavez shot at him with a BB gun, missing him. On December 9, 2008, a woman approached a man waiting in his car at a fast food drive-thru and fired several shots, injuring him. Ms. Chavez was tried for both crimes together, and on October 13, 2010, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Ms. Chavez to 2 years for burglary of a vehicle and 8 months for vandalism for the first incident, and 7 years to life for attempted murder with a 25 year-to-life firearm enhancement for the second incident. The court imposed a total prison term of 34 years and 8 months to life.

Ms. Chavez is now 33 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 11 years. She has completed extensive self-help programming and has earned commendations from prison staff. In 2019, a self-help sponsor commended Ms. Chavez on her continued participation in Narcotics Anonymous, writing that "[Ms. Chavez] always has a positive attitude and [is] willing to lend a helping hand when called upon." The sponsor continued, "She is dedicated to taking advantage of the rehabilitation programs offered to positively improve her life." Ms. Chavez continues to pursue her education by participating in GED classes. In 2019, an instructor in the adult education program who has worked with Ms. Chavez for several years wrote that she has "consistently demonstrated the following characteristics: kind, even-tempered, hardworking, present and punctual, willing attitude and honest."

This act of clemency recognizes the work Ms. Chavez has done to transform herself in prison. I have carefully considered and weighed her impressive record in prison and have concluded that Ms. Chavez merits an earlier opportunity to make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Cristina Chavez to make her eligible for immediate parole consideration. Ms. Chavez remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

RE: Cristina Chavez
Case No. PA063340
Commutation memo

Background:

When I first met with my client at the woman's county jail facility in Lynnwood in late 2008, she was suffering from anemia and had just returned from the medical clinic.

Christina Chavez dropped out of school in the 10th grade. She had 2 previous jobs, one at Marshall's for 4 months in 2004 and another job at Marie Calendars in Van Nuys in 2008. In between jobs, she helps her dad with his scrap metal collection. She is bilingual but Spanish is her native language. Although she understands English well we discussed the possibility of a Spanish Interpreter which she said would be best because of her parent's inability to speak English. She passed employment tests administered in English.

Cristina is not a gang member nor is anyone in her family. She denies having any tattoos. She has 2 sisters Graciela who is 19 and Gabriela who is 7. I met the younger one. I told her I would call Graciela. She has a brother 19 years old.

Christina Chavez was in all likelihood wrongfully convicted and sentenced to 2 life terms:

Over time, and as my investigation continued and taking into account at least a dozen discussions I had with Bob Horowitz, I determined that Christina is innocent and therefore she was wrongfully convicted of the crime. Her appellate attorney contacted me when the appeal was denied to tell me that she believed that Christina was innocent.

The shooting took place at Carl's Jr. at 2:30 am. There was no apparent motive. There was no robbery, no indicia of gang involvement, no firearm was ever recovered, and no physical evidence connected Ms. Chavez to the shooting. In fact, she was excluded as a DNA donor on a slipper found at the scene and listed in a police report as belonging to the shooting suspect. I told the DA several times during the case investigation that the lack of motive was puzzling.

Private Investigator and Retired LAPD Detective:

In court on Jan 6, 2009, former LAPD Robbery detective and California licensed investigator Bob Horowitz was appointed to assist me in defending Christina. I asked him to investigate the case as if he was still working for law enforcement. Bob felt that the shooting victim probably didn't tell the police everything. It seemed unusual to him that the victim would pull into the Carl's Jr. at 2:30 in the morning. He thought that there could be some prostitution or drug angle.

Several months later, Bob indicated that the motive behind this shooting has to be there someplace. It could be some type of retaliation for a molestation or DV or related incident. He also had a theory that the peculiar facts of the case, including the fact that no robbery was committed, might mean that someone committed a vigilante like act in shooting the victim

Photo Identification:

The photo identification was the hurdle that prevented exoneration. On Dec. 24, 2009, LAPD detective Rodriguez and Schmidt took a photo display to the shooting victim who Identified Chavez. Det. Rodriguez asked why Cox wrote “looks like” since Cox told detective it was the person. Cox just said because she “looks like” the shooter. He did say that the hair in back was different than in the photo.

Det Rodriguez told me that he even thought Cox (shooting victim) was lying to him for a few days after the shooting because it didn’t make sense that someone would walk over and shoot him, or at least it would be more likely if there was some preceding conflict or prior relationship.

Before the preliminary hearing, the DA showed the shooting victim a photo display which included my client before he entered the courtroom. I believe it tainted the later courtroom identification.

Courtroom Identification at Preliminary Hearing:

Cox admitted that when he identified Ms. Chavez in court as a person who shot him, he was picking out the person whose photo he identified in the photo display just before he entered the courtroom.

Trial:

No alibi witness testified at trial. I did not believe that Christina’s boyfriend would be a helpful witness for a number of reasons including his gang affiliation. In retrospect, I wish he would have testified. I felt that the identification was erroneous and that the detective, perhaps unconsciously, influenced the selection of Ms. Chavez. I believed that the testimony of Ed Gieselman, a UCLA professor and eyewitness examination expert would exonerate Christina. He testified that the procedures used by LAPD in conducting the photo display were flawed, did not meet current recommended standards, and that the circumstances surrounding the shooting and the impact on the victim often lead to a mistaken identification.

Ballistics:

The DA informed me that the Scientific Investigation Division of the Los Angeles Police Department determined that the bullet from the shooting victim was too damaged to match to a firearm in the data base. This was another setback in our defense.

DNA

Ms. Chavez provided a DNA sample to be compared to body fluid samples at the crime scene. LAPD determined that the DNA evidence indicates the presence of female DNA but excludes my client. Note that the 1-22-09 LAPD Follow UP report refers to the slippers belonging to the suspect. The original report indicates that they were recovered at the crime scene by Officer Salazar, one slipper in front of the car, the other south of the vehicle.

LAPD declined to compare the fluid on the slippers to the law enforcement DNA data base to help determine the identity of the door

Request for Appointment of Polygraph Examiner Denied:

I filed a written motion asking the court to appoint a qualified polygraph expert from the Los Angeles County Superior Court Panel of expert polygraph examiners to test my client to determine if she was honest in denying she was involved in the shooting at Carl's Junior. Even though inadmissible at trial absent a stipulation by the DA and defense, I felt it would help to convince the DA that my client was not involved in the shooting. The court denied the motion.

Trial started on June 28, 2010, 18 months after the arraignment. Jury selection took 3 full days. Testimony lasted 7 days including June 30 and July 1,2,6,7,8, and 9

The jury was instructed on July 12. The jury deliberated July 12, 13, and 14. The verdict was taken on July 14 at 10 AM.

The trial judge denied a written motion requesting a new trial. I submitted a sentencing memorandum before the sentencing hearing. After client was sentenced, I filed a timely notice of appeal.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Andrew Crater

In 1995, 20-year-old Andrew Crater and his crime partner committed a string of armed robberies. During the final robbery, Mr. Crater's crime partner shot and killed James Pantages. On June 20, 1997, the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, sentenced Mr. Crater to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus 14 years and 8 months for attempted robbery and multiple counts of robbery with firearm and bodily injury enhancements.

Mr. Crater is now 43 years old and has been incarcerated for 24 years. He had no criminal history prior to his participation in these robberies and has expressed deep remorse for his involvement in these crimes.

Despite serving a sentence with no expectation of release from prison, Mr. Crater has dedicated himself to his rehabilitation. He has consistently participated in self-help programming, including serving as a facilitator for various groups.

Mr. Crater has worked as a clerk for many years and has garnered commendations from prison staff. In 2017, a correctional captain commended Mr. Crater for his work ethic and "exemplary conduct and mentorship" among the inmates in the prison. The captain wrote, "I have assessed him to be polite, respectful and professional in the administration of his job and in his interactions with all staff members into which he has come into contact with." The captain concluded, "It is evident that Inmate Crater is trying to become a productive citizen by striving towards rehabilitation, showing a willingness for self-development and interacting with others in a respectful and positive manner."

Two wardens who have supervised Mr. Crater recommended him for clemency. In 2019, one warden wrote, "Since his arrival, inmate Crater continues to demonstrate positive programming behavior and has excelled in his assignment" as a clerk. The warden continued, "Crater maintains a great rapport with staff and many have commented on his positive interactions, his attitude, work ethic and programming well with other inmates." He noted that Mr. Crater "has clearly taken advantage of the opportunities the Department [of Corrections and Rehabilitation] offers to participate in rehabilitative programs."

Mr. Crater participated in several serious crimes, including the one that took the life of Mr. Pantages. Over the past two decades, Mr. Crater has distinguished himself through his exemplary conduct in prison and demonstrated his commitment to becoming a productive citizen. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Mr. Crater's conduct in prison. I have concluded that Mr. Crater merits the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Crater does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused his victims, their families, and their communities. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Andrew Crater to 25 years to life. Mr. Crater remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

On June 8, 1995, Applicant, Andrew Crater, and Thomas Robinson committed a series of robberies in Sacramento, California. In a brief span a college student, a man and his sister-in-law, and a group outside a cafe were robbed. During the third robbery, James Pantages, a local beloved musician, was fatally shot. STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Keefe Dashiell

In 2007, 19-year-old Keefe Dashiell, riding in a friend's car, shot at two women traveling in another car. He struck and injured Alexis Carter. He committed the offense, which was gang-related, shortly after his step-brother's murder by gang members. On March 5, 2009, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Mr. Dashiell to 9 years for attempted murder with 10-year firearm and gang enhancements, plus 1 year for possession of a controlled substance for sale—a total prison term of 30 years.

Mr. Dashiell is now 31 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 12 years. During his time in prison, Mr. Dashiell has disassociated from gangs and demonstrated a commitment to rehabilitation. He wrote in his commutation application, "I have grown up in prison. Moreover, prison has taught me how to live a normal and productive life and has corrected the error of my ways." Mr. Dashiell continued, "I want to contribute something positive to the community I once harmed. I have changed, and I believe I am ready to become a productive member of society. I have so much more to offer than the harm I once caused."

Mr. Dashiell's record in prison is a testament to his transformation. He earned his associate degree and has participated in myriad self-help programs. Mr. Dashiell has served as a facilitator for several of those programs. In 2019, an Alternatives to Violence program coordinator commended Mr. Dashiell for his work as a facilitator and team coordinator, writing that he "takes the responsibility seriously," and "has the perspective and aptitude to grasp what is needed and to act on it." In 2018, an instructor commended Mr. Dashiell on his "consistently vigorous efforts to advance his education," noting that he "clearly demonstrated that he was a serious student. Aside from his educational achievements, Mr. Dashiell invariably displayed a respectful attitude in his interactions with both inmates and staff."

As a young man, Mr. Dashiell committed a serious crime. He has expressed sincere remorse for his actions that day. Mr. Dashiell has turned away from a life involving gangs and violence and committed himself to mentoring other inmates. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of his conduct in prison and concluded that Mr. Dashiell merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Dashiell does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Keefe Dashiell to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration. Mr. Dashiell remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

2-22-07 LOS ANGELES POLICE DEPARTMENT-23152 VEHICLE CODE (DRIVING UNDER THE INFLUENCE ALCOHOL/DRUGES); ON 2-23-07 CASE NUMBER LAM7MPO1978.

2. Briefly describe the circumstance of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation:

On September 19, 2007 at approximately 2240 hours, victims Alexis Carter and Takesha McNeal were driving in McNeal's vehicle near 111th place and McKinley Avenue. I, Keefe Dashiell was seated in the backseat of a Chevrolet Impala along with two other people. My Impala pulled alongside McNeal's vehicle. From the rear seat of the Impala I pointed a 45. caliber handgun at the victims and shouted "Fuck Backstreet!" In fear of being shot, McNeal attempted to escape by driving westbound on 111th place. In pursuit of their vehicle, I opened fire on the victims, shooting Alexis Carter a total of five times. My vehicle sideswiped theirs causing a major traffic collision.

After the collision Carter and McNeal were able to escape their vehicle and flee on foot. I fled the scene leaving the disabled Impala.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation of sentence:

I am filing for a commutation of sentence because the conditions that existed and contributed to my commitment offense no longer exist. Furthermore, because the defects of character I suffered from in 2007-which played a significant role in my commitment offense-no longer hinder my ability to function in society and, no longer make me a risk to public safety.

Prison has changed my life. I have grown up in prison. Moreover, prison has taught me how to live a normal and productive life and, has corrected the error of my ways. The shame of my actions weights heavily upon me. For this reason, I want to contribute something positive to the community I once harmed. I have changed and, I believe im ready to be a productive member of society. I have so much more to offer than the harm I once caused. For these reasons I am filing for a commutation of sentence.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

First and foremost, I caused immeasurable pain and damage to the lives of Alexis Carter and Takesha McNeal. I take full responsibility for my violent actions against these women and, I will carry the hurt I caused them with me for the rest of my life. For this reason, I can never compute that hurt by any number of years i've served in prison.

The affect from the grief I suffered at death of my brother and, my youth at the time of the crime are relevant to whether i should be granted a commutation of sentence.

When I was 18 years old my brother was killed in a gang related murder. Because he was the primary influential figure in my life, his death destroyed the only sense of security in my life. In my immaturity I did not understand the emotions I was feeling. I also did not have the tools to manage these emotions. Furthermore, I lacked the ability to think about things in reasonable and rational way. Finally, I lacked the capacity to properly grieve. Ultimately, My immaturity coupled with my unmanageable feelings culminated in me attempting to murder Alexis Carter.

While my brother's death isn't solely responsible for my actions, it was the door through which my defects of character became dominant aspects of my personality. Today not only do I understand how I was shaped after my brothers death, but I have the power to reshape myself as an adult. Additionally, through maturation and rehabilitation I have the ability to transform the warped beliefs I developed in the wake of my brothers death and, give myself that which I did not have at 18 years old. For instance, at 18 years old, I didn't mourn the loss of my brother. Today, I have mourned that loss. This has allowed me to subdue those pent up feelings that contributed to my unhealthy choices. Moreover, I have come into acceptance. This has generated in me a greater empathy for others. Finally, as an adult, I have the capacity and emotional stability to make better choices.

Through growth and maturation as well as, self-improvement and rehabilitation, the person I am today is not the same person who attempted to murder another human being.

In asking why I should be granted a commutation of sentence, I must go back to why I was unfit to be in society in the first place. I was unfit to be a member of society because of my gang affiliation, lack of anger management, substance abuse and, unresolved issues which progressed into self-destructive choices and behaviors.

Today, I am no longer bound to the vices that led to incarceration. Through the years, I have grown and developed as a person. I have demonstrated a maturation that greatly distinguishes the person I am now from the boy who attempted to take the life of another human being. Furthermore, through the years, I have committed myself to addressing the causative factors of my crime through rehabilitative programming.

For instance:

As a participant and facilitator of Criminal Gang members Anonymous(CGA), I was able to understand the influence of gangs as well as, their cultural and social impact. In CGA, I worked through those defects of character and warped beliefs which led to my gang initiation.

By attending relapse prevention groups such as AA/NA, I have been able to arrest my substance abuse, seek and maintain recovery and develop a working recovery plan to guard against relapse.

Through anger management, I discovered the root of why I was so angry, and the skills essential to maintaining a composed temperament.

In denial management, I developed healthy coping skills. Like, impulse management, feeling management, problem solving and a better overall self-awareness.

I am deeply remorseful and, regretful for the pain and sorrow I caused Alexis Carter and her family. With this petition I do not justify a right to a commutation of sentence. It is only through the goodwill of the governor's office that I should be granted a commutation. I only hope to illustrate that today I am more capable of meeting the challenges of society I failed to meet at 19 years old.

5. If you have paid any money or given any gift to anyone to assist in the preparation of this application, list their name, address, and amount paid or given:

None.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Leonía Esteem

In 2005, 47-year-old Leonía Esteem and her boyfriend Mitchell Andrews got into an argument, during which Ms. Esteem shot Mr. Andrews multiple times, injuring him. On May 3, 2010, the Superior Court of California, County of Riverside, sentenced Ms. Esteem to 7 years to life for attempted murder plus a 25-year-to-life firearm enhancement—a total prison term of 32 years to life.

In her clemency application, Ms. Esteem wrote, "It has become clear to me, from the work I have done to better myself in programs while I've been in prison, that I was brought up to consider abuse a normal part of life. I have since changed my perspective on abuse and violence and have worked hard to remove both from my life. . . . I have spent my 13 years of incarceration working on healing myself from a lifetime of trauma and developing coping and life skills that have helped me become a productive and contributing member of the community here at CIW. I want to continue to be of service and bring a peaceful presence to the world outside of prison."

Ms. Esteem has no prior criminal history and has never been disciplined for misconduct during her 13 years of incarceration. She is now 61 years old and has devoted herself to her rehabilitation. Ms. Esteem has participated in self-help programs, including those addressing domestic violence and anger management. She completed vocational training and routinely received above average work ratings from her supervisors.

Ms. Esteem is sincerely remorseful for her crime. Over the last decade, Ms. Esteem has distinguished herself by her model conduct in prison and her commitment to rehabilitation. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of her conduct in prison, and I have concluded that Ms. Esteem merits an earlier opportunity to make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Ms. Esteem does not minimize or forgive her conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work she has done since to transform herself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Leonia Esteem to make her eligible for immediate parole consideration. Ms. Esteem remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

1. Conviction Summary:

Offense(s)	Date of Offense(s)	County(s) of Conviction	Sentence(s)
Attempted Murder	11/13/2005	Riverside	Felony, 25 years to life

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation:

In the fall of 2005, my boyfriend, Mitchell Andrews, and I got into a fight. He hit me so hard that I fell back over the couch. I landed near my purse, which had a gun inside that I had been carrying for protection against a stalker. I was so fearful of what my boyfriend might do next. I already had a lifetime of being abused, by my father, and by several partners before Mitchell. Before I knew it, I had pulled the gun from my purse and shot at him several times. I had no intention of trying to kill him. I only wanted to stop him from hurting me any further. Very thankfully, he did not suffer any life-threatening injuries. Nevertheless I am very sorry for the pain and suffering I caused him.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation:

I understand that shooting at my partner was the wrong response to the situation. At the time I felt I had no other options, but with the work I have done to rehabilitate myself, I now see that I should have removed myself from the relationship when the first signs of abuse appeared.

Through the work I have done while incarcerated, I understand how I got into to the situation where I committed my crime. My relationship with Mitchell Andrews started 6 years before the day when we fought and I shot him. At first, it was a nice relationship, but eventually, he started to verbally abuse me, trying to make me feel low about myself and treating me as though I were replaceable. When the relationship took this turn for the worse, I went back to my husband (we had been separated). When I was back with my husband, Mitchell started to stalk me. He would drive past our home over and over again when I wouldn't take his calls. He left me messages, threatening to drag me out of my husband's home by my hair if I didn't meet with him. To avoid a scene, I agreed to meet with him. In that meeting, I allowed Mitchell to convince me that things would be different if I came back. I left my husband's house and moved back with Mitchell, after which my husband started to threaten to kill me. Soon after I moved back in with Mitchell, he began to physically abuse me. After a couple of months of experiencing his constant physical attacks I feared for my safety when I fought back and shot at him in self-defense.

At the time, I didn't think I had a drinking problem but I later realized, with the help of the 12-step programs I've attended while in prison, that I self-medicated with alcohol for many years. When I was with Mitchell, I drank 5-6 beers a day (on average) and I now see that the 10 or so beers I drank on the day I committed my crime greatly contributed to my poor judgement.

Mitchell wasn't the first person in my life to abuse me. It has become clear to me, from the work I have done to better myself in programs while I've been in prison, that I was brought up to consider abuse a normal part of life. I have since changed my perspective on abuse and violence and have worked hard to remove both from my life.

I came from a family where my parents believed in old fashioned treatment for their kids. My mother was born in Mississippi in 1926 and my father was born in Louisiana. Starting at age 9, my father beat me with switches, belts, extension cords - anything he could get his hands on. My father, who was an alcoholic, would beat my mother and siblings too. One time, he even shot at us. I told myself when I was young that I would never marry a man that beat me like that. But at 18, I got my first black eye from my new husband. The hurt of physical abuse was nothing compared to the mental abuse that went along with it. The marriage lasted two years. When I was in my 20s, I was with a man named Tommy Adams. At one point, Tommy held me hostage in his grandmother's home (he locked all the doors from the inside) and threatened to hit me with a rock. I was so terrified that I broke through the glass patio door window to get out. I ended up with a hurt knee and glass injuries in my mouth. When I was in my 30s, I was with a man named David Hammond. After I came back from a trip to Louisiana (where I'm originally from) that I had taken without him, he became very angry with me. He said "I should just kill you," and then grabbed me by the neck and began to choke me. My son, who was only 16 years old at the time, and my nephew had to pry him off of me.

My father wasn't the only abuser in my life when I was growing up. Two of my brothers-in-law, who were in their thirties, sexually molested me when I was 13. I told my sisters about it, but they didn't do anything to protect me and instead said their husbands had already admitted to "cheating" with me. I was so hurt. Two years later I was beaten and raped by my other sister's boyfriend. When I told her about it, she called the police. I was so scared when I took the stand in the trial of my rapist that I did not make a convincing witness and the man who raped and beat me was found not guilty, despite the physical evidence indicating he committed the crime.

I have spent my 13 years of incarceration (5 in county jail and 8 in prison) working on healing myself from a lifetime of trauma and developing coping and life skills that have helped me become a productive and contributing member of the community here at CIW. I want to continue to be of service and bring a peaceful presence to the world outside of prison.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

I believe I should be granted a commutation because I have taken responsibility for my actions and believe I will contribute positively to society by helping to prevent violence and crime. I have used my time in prison to better myself and heal some of the wounds of my past to ensure that I don't ever put myself in a situation again where I feel I have no recourse but violence. I have kept myself out of trouble in prison having never received a write up for a disciplinary infraction in the entire time I've been incarcerated. I currently live in an honor dorm.

It was important to me to make amends with my victim; Mitchell forgave me back in 2005, right after he recovered from his injuries. He refused to press charges and even helped to pay for my attorney.

During my time in prison, I have learned patience and humility. I have participated in a number of programs including anger management, Beyond Violence, and 12-step (AA/NA). I have been sober for over 12 years. These programs have taught me how to talk through any conflict I am having, and to react to painful or abusive situation calmly and peacefully.

I was employed and a productive member of society before incarceration and I am confident I will be so again if I am released. Before I was arrested, I completed both my high school diploma and training for a number of trades including medical assisting, CNA, Phlebotomy, switchboard/PBX. Prior to my incarceration, I had never gotten into any kind of trouble with the law, not even a speeding ticket. For the past 4 years, I have been a valued employee of P.I.A. sewing. I am also currently in school to learn computers.

My faith has been an important part of my healing process and rehabilitation. I read the bible every day and strive to walk the way the Lord wants me to - to live by the golden rule and stay out of trouble. I bring my faith to the volunteer work I do inside CIW with the Compassionate Companions program. I sit with other prisoners as they are at the end of their lives and provide compassion, empathy, and company so that no one needs to die alone. This work is part of the peaceful presence I wish to contribute to my community.

If I am released, I have many family members who will welcome me home, including my children and 12 grandchildren, 7 of whom were born since I was convicted of my crime. Were I to be released, I would spend my free time getting to know these newest members of my family and giving them the love and attention they deserve.

Beyond the loss my children and grandchildren are experiencing from my absence, serving out the entirety of my sentence will also be very difficult physically. I have a degenerative bone disease in my spine and I also have ankle problems. Both of these things will continue to limit my mobility more and more.

I have begun to put together a plan for parole. My first step would be to complete the licensed residential reentry program at Crossroads, Inc. in Claremont. I hope to use my existing skills and certification to obtain a job as a phlebotomist in a hospital or outpatient laboratory. My longer-term housing plans are to live with my son, his wife, and his in-laws in their home in Riverside. They have a room ready for me. My son works for a railroad company and his in-laws are psychologists. If I'm unable to get a job in the medical field, my son's in-laws are willing to employ me in their medical office as a clerk. I am committed to regularly attending AA meetings, and I also plan to seek out individual therapy so that I can continue the work of healing from the traumas of my past.

Thank you very much for considering my application.

Jacoby Felix

In 1993, 18-year-old Jacoby Felix and his crime partners attempted to rob Richard Harper. Mr. Felix approached Mr. Harper and demanded his car. Mr. Harper refused and ran. As Mr. Felix and his crime partners chased Mr. Harper, Mr. Felix shot and fatally injured him. On August 25, 1995, the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, sentenced Mr. Felix to life without the possibility of parole for murder with a 1-year firearm enhancement.

Mr. Felix is now 43 years old and has been incarcerated for nearly 26 years. In his application for clemency, Mr. Felix described his commitment to rehabilitation and wrote, "Maturity, knowledge, and wisdom converged giving me the strength to make the needed changes. Through these changes I began to understand the importance of community, honor, integrity, morals, and values. These things have awakened a desire in me to be a part of the solution versus the cancerous lifestyle I was a part of."

Mr. Felix has shown a notable commitment to self-development and living a productive life despite serving a sentence with no expectation of release from prison. Mr. Felix earned his GED and an associate degree in social science. He has participated in extensive self-help programming. Mr. Felix is currently working as a teacher's aide and has facilitated several classes.

As a teenager, Mr. Felix committed a senseless crime that took the life of Mr. Harper. He has shown sincere remorse for his crime. Since his incarceration, Mr. Felix has worked hard to take the necessary steps toward self-improvement and rehabilitation. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of his conduct in prison. I have concluded that Mr. Felix merits the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Felix does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jacoby Felix to 26 years to life. Mr. Felix remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

additional 30 plus years. I pray for a chance to go before the Parole Board to show my insight, the things I have achieved, growth, and that I am prepared to re-enter society without a commutation that is not possible.

As a child growing up, my household was filled with arguments, conflict, threats of violence, and actual violence. My Father frequently abused my Mother and threatened her with physical violence almost daily. It was so common that I began to believe it was normal, that strong men behaved this way.

I vividly remember seeing my Father hit my Mom with his fist. On this particular occasion my sister and I, whom is 2 years older than I am, (I was around 6, my sister 8) and I eagerly waited for Mom to come home. She had been out for a few hours so we were anxious to see her. When she arrived home my excitement turned to paralyzing fear and horror as my Father struck my Mom in the face. I was stunned, frightened, and confused. I didn't move or make a sound, I was frozen seeing bright red blood on my Mom's mouth. I knew she was in pain, I felt her pain, and I was filled with shame for having unwise, and to see her harmed was devastating.

The worst incident to me was one evening maybe a year later. I don't remember what the fight was about but I remember my Mom trying to defend herself, she hit my Father with an ashtray. It stopped him from attacking her but he was furious. He went into their bedroom saying he was going to kill her. I knew that he was going for one of his guns as he would routinely do during arguments. This time felt different, my Mom had never fought back. I heard the sound of the slide on my Father's shotgun being racked, I felt panicked with the thought that my Father was going to kill my Mom. My sister and I began frantically screaming over and over imploring our Mother to run until finally she ran out the back door.

These were just a few instances of violence that permeated my young life. Gang violence, stalkings, and beatings were a common occurrence in my community.

These things made fear, inferiority, and powerlessness my constant companions.

I had great difficulty communicating with people anytime I left home.

home. I was still a victim of violence and things like that.

only to sit alone, people would try to engage me to get me involved but I just couldn't bring myself to speak. I would tell myself to say something but I just couldn't speak.

I would eventually learn that when I was among the fear, anxiety, and low self-esteem would melt away. Even to speak to my Father I would spend near an hour or more trying to compel myself to speak, even with something as simple as asking for permission to go outside to play.

This followed me into my preteen years, by this time I was always a moment away from exploding. It made gang life seem like a perfect fit for me. So around the age of 11 or 12 I began to identify with and see myself as part of my neighborhood gang. This decision would compound and exacerbate my aggressive, and violent behavior. Lashing out became common whenever I felt afraid, threatened, or challenged.

My feelings of inadequacy and the gang lifestyle created a synergy where one thing fed the other. The gang didn't resolve my feelings of pain, fear, anger, hurt, and shame. Although I was in a peer group that was familiar and accepting, I now felt to and to experience my aggressive behavior to make that I, was actually afraid. In an attempt to rid myself of all the weakness and fear that I felt from childhood I decided anger, aggression, and violence would be my tools. The slightest touch on my trigger would be met with explosive anger and physical violence. My life became one bad decision after another followed by negative consequences. I had lost myself, the caring, sensitive, curious little kid was gone.

In this state I would eventually come to kill Richard Small

He was on September 21st, 1993.

In that night I destroyed at least two families, Mr Harper and my own. I had torn the fabric of my community with ripple effects that touched first responders, medical staff, all the way to impressionable little kids that may have thought that violence is the key to strength.

I took a solid charitable man from my community, someone that would assist a stranded motorist. I killed productivity, potential, silenced a joyful voice, taken a husband, a grandson, a father from his son. I cheated Mr Harper out of his life.

I saw my mother break as I was convicted of murder and with his family. I was a good person, a good father, a good son, a good brother, a good friend, a good neighbor, a good citizen, a good man.

Correctional Officers to allow me to come home. I left a young mother to provide for and raise a child on her own.

I am sincerely remorseful for my actions, I carry the burden of my decisions daily. I search for forgiveness in the way I live my life and the way in which I make choices, I try to live my words daily.

Entering prison I continued to be destructive, the cycle of fear and violence persisted. I kept my gang ties and received several disciplinary infractions involving violence from participating in riots to staff assault. I have addressed and corrected these behaviors which I will speak to in question #4.

I continued to lie, deflect, deny, blame the justice system for my conviction, and generally shift responsibility for killing Mr. Harper.

This gradually began to change around 2004-2005, or around the age of 29 or 30. I can't say that any one specific event was the catalyst, but more a combination of maturing, education, and getting to know myself.

I spent countless nights over many years thinking about how I had come to make the decision that led me to kill someone and I went to prison for the rest of my life. Something had gone horribly wrong, this couldn't be fate, there had to be definable reasons.

I finally began to honest, open, self inventory, and self exploration. This led me to discover many truths about myself. I started to see I was hurting, so I lashed out and hurt those around me. I started to recognize the characteristics I thought of as making me strong were actually keeping me weak. The things that I took pride in were hollow and of no substance. How could my way of life have value when the extreme was I am away from my family, my son. My son, the one person who was completely dependant on me, I had abandoned him. Was I not my Father's Son? Where the values I learned watching him not sound? Hadn't I been quick to anger, did not people fear me, wasn't I seen as a serious person not to be trifled with? It was a bitter pill to swallow, to realize that I was empty.

This brought me to the realization that I needed to question my morals, values, worldview, and lifestyle. This work in me a thirst for knowledge and change. I sought wisdom wherever I could find it, I've read many books, watched even more documentaries, had countless conversations, caring a gamut of topics from politics, history, science, nature, the human brain, mind, and relationships.

Over time I realized I had many thinking distortions. I became acutely aware of the damage I had wrought on my family and community. I began to see that I needed to take responsibility for my actions and choices.

I could see clearly that society rightfully demanded amends and change from me. I needed healing and to pursue forgiveness.

This has taken many years of self-education. In the last 7 years, more so prison sponsored programs. I found my footing in id, towards being a positive, constructive force in my community.

Education has given or led me to a sense of power, self confidence, a sense of identity, and pride that violence never could. It has helped me reframe my worldview, allowing me to establish a sound set of core beliefs grounded in honor and responsibility. My life is no longer shaped by fear and violence. I have found purpose and meaning in honesty, integrity, duty, and commitment.

I now understand that my core beliefs are the prism with which I see things. They govern how I interpret events, events evoke thoughts, those thoughts give rise to emotions, which ultimately lead to behavior. So the key was to adopt values and morals based on sound principals.

Through Cognitive Behavioral Treatment (CBT) I've learned to process my anger in an appropriate manner. Anger is natural to humanity, there is no avoiding it so we must have ways to cope with these feelings and process them in a proper fashion as they arise. Anger is a sentiment with a scope from mild irritation to intense fury and rage. It is an innate reaction when a person perceives a threat, potential harm, or a general feeling of being treated unjustly.

Over the past when I felt anger I would act impulsively, with aggression and violence. I've learned to identify my triggers and recognize cues that indicate I am becoming angry or my level of anger is rising. Through C.B.T I've learned four modes to create my anger control plan: Relaxation, Cognitive, Communication skills, and Combined Interventions. With these I employ immediate and preventive strategies to control my anger, from breathing exercises, progressive muscle relaxation, time out (formal and informal), and the adequate use of assertiveness.

Paying attention to my anger, watching for cues that my anger is rising, and using the proper strategies from my anger control plan has and will continue to prevent me from reaching the explosion phase. This breaks the cycle of aggression resulting in keeping my level of anger in an appropriate range.

Having changed my worldview, educating myself, finding true courage, adopting new values, and cognitive reframing has addressed all the fears generated from my childhood and adult environment. These things coupled with a fresh positive worldview has also made gang affiliation untenable.

#4 (int.)

I've earned a B.S. in A.A. in General Studies with an emphasis in Social Science. I've participated in Alternative to Violence/Creative Conflict Resolution, Nurturing Parenting, Postmasters, Prison Management, Criminal and Addictive Thinking, and I have been a mentor through the Youth Offender Program, and Life Line. I am a member of Lifers With Optimistic Progress (LWOP), I am trained facilitator currently training to facilitate anger management. I will train in several other modules as well, I am in the process of enrolling in Palo Verde College to pursue certification in Alcohol and Drug Studies furthering my knowledge in the field of Social Science.

Although I continue to build myself and refine my thinking I feel I've come full circle. I've found the caring, sensitive, curious little kid that was lost in a world of fear and violence. I've found him, he is safe and no longer afraid, and he doesn't need aggression or violence to feel safe anymore.

He is now a man fully conscious and conscience, with a kind spirit, and loving heart.

The totality of these things combine to ensure against recidivism.

I have a strong support network consisting of family, friends, and a host of community resources. Taking these things into account as the factors defined in Miller v. Alabama are the reasons I should be granted a commutation.

When closing I pray I've painted a clear picture, I look forward to the interview with a Parole Agent where I may shed light on any areas that need clarity.

I humbly request that my sentence be commuted so that I may have an opportunity to appear before the Parole Board.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Esdvin Flores

In 1999, 23-year-old Mr. Flores and a fellow gang member robbed a woman of her necklace at gunpoint. Mr. Flores had two prior robbery convictions at the time of this crime. On July 6, 1999, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Mr. Flores to 25 years to life for robbery as a third strike, 10 years for a firearm enhancement, and 10 years for two prior felony convictions—a total term of 45 years to life.

Mr. Flores is now 44 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 21 years. Throughout his incarceration, he has demonstrated exemplary conduct. In over two decades, Mr. Flores has never been disciplined for misconduct. In 2013, he earned his GED and in 2015, he earned two associate degrees. Mr. Flores has also completed vocational training and participated in extensive self-help programming. Mr. Flores earned exceptional work ratings and garnered staff support. In 2019, two correctional officers commended Mr. Flores for his personal growth and participation in rehabilitative programs.

Mr. Flores's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend a clemency grant. The California Supreme Court also made a recommendation for a clemency grant, a process required by the California Constitution for cases in which the applicant has been convicted of more than one felony.

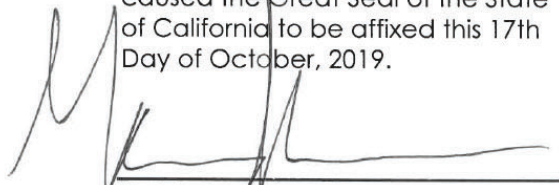

Mr. Flores committed a serious crime when he was a young man. He has taken responsibility for his actions and demonstrated his desire to become a productive community member. I have carefully considered and weighed his conduct in prison. I have concluded that Mr. Flores merits the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings now so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Flores does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Esdvin Flores to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration and release upon a grant of parole subject to all applicable review periods.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th Day of October, 2019.

It was until that day when I was sentenced to 45 years to life, that I realized I ruined my life. With a broken spirit I made inventory of myself. Drug addiction was one of the main contributing factors in my own destruction. I realized I needed help, in county jail the only viable help I found to begin was a Holy Bible. When arriving to prison I sought assistance, but it was really until Ironwood State Prison, that I was able to involve myself in self-help programs. As I continued my development dealing with my person; It was clear knowledge is the only way to counter defeat and overcome one's self. Old patterns of behavior and reasoning were now being continually flushed out through knowledge. Biblical knowledge that pin pointed to acceptable standards and not acceptable standards. Self-help programs that assisted in dealing in depth of myself. I have learned a lot about myself. What cause me to seek and accept drugs. Friends I sought approval and acceptance from. I learned about other people, their feelings, their rights, I have no right to intrude in another's life to harm anyone. Whether emotionally, physically, or psychologically. We are all equal with dreams, hopes, goals for a future. Enthusiastically living life in society to reach those individual plans and purposes that each has. We all could make a better society to live in. A society that is positive for all of us to live in respect, harmony, and acceptance.

Dimitri Gales

In 2011, 19-year-old Dimitri Gales and his crime partner confronted two men in a gang-related incident. Mr. Gales's crime partner shot at the victims, injuring Luis Diaz. On October 17, 2014, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Mr. Gales to 15 years to life for shooting at an inhabited dwelling and 3 years for attempted voluntary manslaughter—a total prison term of 18 years to life.

Mr. Gales is now 26 years old and has been incarcerated for more than seven years. While in prison, Mr. Gales has demonstrated a commitment to his self-improvement and rehabilitation. He has also demonstrated exceptional conduct—he has never been disciplined for misconduct during his incarceration. Mr. Gales lives on the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard, where inmates can access educational, vocational, and rehabilitative programs. He earned his GED and completed vocational training in construction. Mr. Gales has participated in many self-help programs. He has been commended by staff for his open-minded attitude and for providing a positive example to his fellow inmates. In 2018, a correctional sergeant wrote, "It is important that the positive actions of inmates incarcerated within the institutions of CDCR be recognized and inmate Gales qualifies as one of those inmates that have changed for the better and is deserving of such recognition. His efforts to remain disciplinary free are paramount as well as his productive contributions to the success of the Facility –A Progressive Programming Facility."

Mr. Gales participated in a very serious crime that injured Mr. Diaz. He is sincerely remorseful for his crime. Mr. Gales has become a positive role model for other inmates and has worked hard to better himself. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of his conduct in prison. I have concluded that Mr. Gales merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

Theodore Gray

In 1999, Theodore Gray and his crime partners committed a series of robberies. During the last robbery, Mr. Gray and his crime partners broke into Vincent Fontecchio's home and exchanged gunfire. Mr. Fontecchio was shot multiple times and died from his injuries. On April 18, 2000, the Superior Court of California, County of Shasta, sentenced Mr. Gray to 25 years to life for murder with a 10-year firearm enhancement, plus 5 years for robbery—a total prison term of 40 years to life.

Mr. Gray was 22 years old when he committed these crimes. He is now 42 years old and has been in prison for almost 20 years. While incarcerated, Mr. Gray has turned his life around. In 2016, Mr. Gray earned a bachelor's degree. In 2018, he became a certified alcohol and drug counselor. Mr. Gray has participated in numerous self-help programs, and has facilitated many classes. He participated in a juvenile diversion program in which he talked to students about how his choices, beliefs, and behavior led to his incarceration. Mr. Gray has received commendations from correctional staff. In 2019, a correctional lieutenant praised Mr. Gray for being a positive role model to other inmates and wrote, "He is a true example to other inmate participants in the self-help groups offered [at the prison]. Mr. Gray has a positive attitude that complements his leadership. I have observed Gray to take full advantage of every opportunity to better himself and others. Mr. Gray will be a positive influence when he is ultimately reconnected with his family and the community."

Mr. Gray committed several serious crimes, including the one that took the life of Mr. Fontecchio. He has expressed sincere remorse for his crimes. Mr. Gray has dedicated himself to rehabilitation and has worked hard to set a positive example for his peers. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of his conduct in prison. I have concluded that Mr. Gray merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Gray does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Theodore Gray to 25 years to life. Mr. Gray remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

On November 28, 29, and December 3, of 1999, I participated in one burglary and three home invasion armed robberies. On December 3, my two co-defendants and I broke into Mr. Vincent Fonteccio's home and attempted to rob him of his drugs and money. When I confronted Mr. Fonteccio, he fired his weapon shooting me three times, at which point myself and Jeff Dumont fired back killing him.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation (attach additional pages as necessary):

I am asking the state of California to issue trust that I no longer pose a threat to society. I believe that there are three reasons Governor Brown can make this decision in good faith.

First, I understand that I am fully responsible for murdering Vincent Fonteccio. Between my two co-defendants [REDACTED] and myself, I am the most culpable. While they certainly each have their own share of culpability, the ideas and rationale for our crimes originated in my mind and in my heart. I firmly believe that had I been unwilling to proceed, then Jason and Jeff would have both been unwilling to go on committing these senseless acts of violence. Moreover, I understand that I am also the one responsible for the beliefs and values that I internalized throughout my adolescence and young adulthood. Looking back, there were virtues that my dad attempted to instill within me, which I ultimately decided to reject. I remember his lessons about being honest, working hard, and taking care of one's family. Had I adopted these virtues, I believe they would have tempered any of the beliefs about the effectiveness of anger, aggression, and violence that I perverted to justify being a criminal.

Second, by the grace of God, the devastating impact of the numerous destructive choices of my youth has pierced me to the core of my being. I have spent considerable time working to develop a full understanding of the unimaginable ways that the victims were affected by my horrific actions (See Appendix A). The level of contrition in my heart is difficult to express in words. I have attempted to express my remorse in letters to the Shasta County District Attorney and the Fonteccio family (See Appendix B) however; I believe the best evidence of true contrition is a transformed life. I spent my youth being a taker and I deeply regret taking the life of Vincent Fonteccio. Today, however, the posture of my heart is evident in the way I live my life.

Third, I have deep insight into the ways in which I used the circumstances of my childhood and adolescence to justify my anger, aggression, and violence (See Appendix A). For example, starting fights was forbidden, but if someone else started the fight, I was taught to finish the fight. Even as a young boy, I enjoyed the benefits of being regarded as a tough guy. I would posture as a victim (or someone who was defending a victim) to justify victimizing someone else. I continued this pattern of behavior throughout my youth, and I had eventually distorted my dad's original intention enough to justify robbing drug dealers and murdering Vincent Fonteccio.

I continued to think and behave this way throughout the first years of my incarceration. I was initially unwilling to hope for a second chance in society. My earliest possible parole date was 40 years away and I was surrounded by people who believed that lifers were fated to die in prison. Many inmates would regurgitate a quote they attributed to then Governor Gray Davis that said, "The only way murderers will ever leave prison is in a body bag." I am not even certain these words belonged to the Governor, but the truth is that it would not have mattered; it was enough for me to justify "doing what I had to do to survive in prison." This attitude earned me four disciplinary write-ups from 2002 to 2004 (See Appendix C).

Finally, as a youth offender (as defined under SB261), it is true that I often acted impulsively. It is also true that I lacked the discipline to fully consider the consequences of my actions. I am on record with the Shasta County detectives saying, "I thought that he (Vincent Fonteccio) would submit to our show of force." That of course, was an absurd rationale, but it was how I thought at the time. Today, I would give anything to go back and undo all of the pain and tragedy I have caused, unfortunately I cannot. Since 2007, however, I have done everything in my power to become a decent human being. Below, in my response to question #4, I hope you will discover that I have made considerable progress toward that end.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation (attach additional pages if necessary):

I realize that sentence commutations are reserved for inmates who have utilized their incarceration to become responsible citizens. Initially, I squandered my time in prison adhering to the criminal norms of the prison culture. By the fall of 2007, after attending a 3-day Alternative to Violence Workshop (See Appendix D), I made the decision that I would no longer allow my choices to be governed by the criminal norms of my environment. I was still facing a minimum eligible parole date of 2039 and I had no way of knowing that I would eventually benefit from future youth offender legislation. It was in spite of that bleak future that I determined to change my life. I understand there is nothing I can do to atone for murdering Mr. Vince

Fonteccio, but I have done everything in my power to become a man of character and to make amends for the destructive choices of my youth.

With the unwavering support of my father, I have been able to earn a college education. In 1995, I graduated high school at the bottom of my class (ranked 162 out of 176). In 2016, I graduated Cum Laude with a 3.5 GPA and a Bachelor of Science in Health Care Administration from California Coast University (See Appendix E). Moreover, I am on schedule to complete a Master of Arts in Organizational Leadership in the fall of 2018. In 2014, I earned a professional credential as a Certified Alcohol and Drug Counselor (CADC) with the California Consortium of Addiction Programs and Professionals (CCAPP) (See Appendix F). It was for this achievement that I received a Certificate of Recognition from then Senator Pro-tem Darrell Steinberg (See Appendix G). In 2016, I was able to upgrade my certification to a CADC II. From 2011 to 2012, I earned certificates of career preparation as an Alcohol and Drug Studies Specialist I & II from Palo Verde Community College. In 2011, I also earned a Victims Advocacy Certification from Adams State University.

I currently serve as the Chairman of the Phoenix Alliance Inmate Activity Group (See Appendix H). It has been our vision to transform the culture of prison, by which I mean to create a culture wherein we expect each other to honor our highest commitments i.e. to be faithful sons, brothers, husbands, fathers, and citizens. Together, we have built meaningful community partnerships with Palma School, Hartnell Community College, and the Crop Organization. Palma is a prestigious all boys Catholic college preparatory school in Salinas. Through working with Palma in various capacities for the past few years, we developed a deep appreciation for the opportunities they afforded their students. With this in mind, we created the Men Built for Others Scholarship to provide a young man from a gang-stressed community with the opportunity to attend Palma. In the past 15 months, we have raised more than $21,000 to provide Syon Newsom-Green with this opportunity ($12,000 has been donated by inmates from within CTF and with the support of the Crop Organization we have raised more than $9,000 from our outside community partners). We have also raised more than $10,000 to provide at-risk youth with financial aid to attend Hartnell Community College. It was in recognition of our transformational initiatives that Hartnell asked us to deliver our Leadership4Life Seminar to their students. Hartnell has since incorporated this seminar into their Ethnic Studies curricula and we deliver the seminar at least once per semester.

Finally, I have totally immersed myself in the Christian and self-help community. I have done this for two reasons: first, I recognize that I must remain committed to my own personal development. Second, I enjoy the camaraderie of being part of a culture of people who have discovered the significance of living their lives committed to a cause bigger than themselves. Should you grant my request for commutation, you can be confident that I no longer pose a threat to society and that I am prepared for a successful transition into the community as a gainfully employed citizen (See Appendix J). More importantly, you can depend on me to return to the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation as soon as I am permitted in order to continue the mission of transforming the culture of prison.

STATEMENT OF NOTICE TO DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND DECLARATION UNDER PENALTY OF PERJURY

This application may be submitted to the Board of Parole Hearings for investigation and recommendation pursuant to Penal Code section 4812. This application may also be submitted to law enforcement or other agencies for investigation or recommendation.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Crystal Jones

In 1999, Crystal Jones stabbed James Randall during a drug-related crime; afterward, his crime partner shot Mr. Randall, killing him. On October 5, 2001, the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, sentenced Mr. Jones to life without the possibility of parole for murder with a 1-year deadly weapon enhancement.

Mr. Jones expressed sincere remorse for this crime, writing in his clemency application, "I've had time to reflect and understand the magnitude of pain I, Crystal E. Jones, caused Mr. James Earl Randall, his family, and my community." Mr. Jones also noted that he has strived for rehabilitation since his incarceration.

Mr. Jones was 20 years old when he committed this crime. He is now 41 years old. Despite serving a sentence with no expectation of release, Mr. Jones dedicated himself to his rehabilitation. He resided on an honor yard for several years, earned his GED, and is currently enrolled in college courses. Mr. Jones participated in the Inmate Peer Education Program and various self-help courses. Mr. Jones works as a palliative care provider to other inmates in hospice. In 2018, a registered nurse noted that Mr. Jones' participation in the program required "extensive dedication of time and energy," and that Mr. Jones' level of participation in the program "evidences a deep and abiding commitment to positive and productive behavior."

Mr. Jones has earned commendations from prison staff. In 2017, a correctional officer commended Mr. Jones on his "exceptional behavior and good work ethic." The officer wrote, "I have observed Jones to be a dedicated worker that completes his assigned tasks with little or no supervision. Jones' familiarity with the job and motivation to achieve at every level of performance allows staff to take care of their duties without having to look over their shoulders. Jones has earned the respect of his co-workers and of staff."

Mr. Jones's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend a clemency grant. The California Supreme Court also made a recommendation for a clemency grant, a process required by the California Constitution for cases in which the applicant has been convicted of more than one felony.

Mr. Jones participated in a serious crime that ended the life of Mr. Randall. He acknowledges the immense harm he caused. Mr. Jones has committed himself to his rehabilitation and proven his desire to become a productive citizen. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Mr. Jones' incarceration. I have concluded that Mr. Jones merits the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Jones does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Crystal Jones to 25 years to life. Mr. Jones remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Marcus McJimpson

On May 4, 1988, Marcus McJimpson shot and killed Vernon Clark and Scott Walker during an argument. On October 5, 1990, the Superior Court of California, County of Fresno, sentenced Mr. McJimpson to two consecutive terms of life without the possibility of parole for two counts of murder.

Mr. McJimpson wrote in his application for clemency, "I senselessly took both of these men's lives. I was 21 years old at the time and have had 30 years to reflect and take responsibility for this horrible act." He continued, "I don't excuse my actions nor do I minimize these horrible crimes I committed, but rather take accountability." Mr. McJimpson wrote, "That person all those years ago no longer exists. I truly believe I can make a major contribution to that same community, as well as others, that I once did so much damage to."

Mr. McJimpson is now 52 years old and has been incarcerated for 31 years. He has resided on the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard, for over a decade. Correctional staff have recognized Mr. McJimpson's transformation in prison, calling him "an exceptional inmate," and commending him for his "accomplished rehabilitative efforts." In 2018, a correctional officer who has known Mr. McJimpson for 20 years praised him for "conducting himself in a positive manner on the Progressive Programming Facility, where he has done a tremendous amount of maturing over the years." The officer continued, "His character and conduct have been exemplary with staff and inmates alike."

In 2019, an officer praised Mr. McJimpson for his "self-motivation, adaptability, reliability and maintenance of a positive attitude under difficult circumstances, which has served him well over many years." The officer noted that Mr. McJimpson is a founding member of Paws for Life, a dog training program, and currently serves as Assistant Program Leader. In this role, the officer wrote, Mr. McJimpson "has effectively employed both communication and leadership skills" to work "tirelessly" with the warden, associate warden, and staff. The officer commended Mr. McJimpson for "being directly responsible for saving the lives of more than 161 dogs and advancing the rehabilitation of an even greater number of inmates." The officer praised Mr. McJimpson for mentoring his trainers and teaching them "essential life-skills such as patience, personal responsibility, dedication, preparation and forethought, and compassion."

Mr. McJimpson committed a very serious crime that took the lives of Mr. Clark and Mr. Walker. He is sincerely remorseful for his crime. Mr. McJimpson has demonstrated over the last three decades that he is committed to being a productive citizen. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of his conduct in prison. I have concluded that Mr. McJimpson merits the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. McJimpson does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Marcus McJimpson to 35 years to life. Mr. McJimpson remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

I don't excuse my actions nor do I minimize these horrible crimes I've committed, but rather take accountability. Recognizing the contributing factors of my behavior.

I was 21 years old at the time I took Vernon Clark and Scott Walker's life and now 51. That person 30 years ago doesn't exist any longer and I'm sickened to know I could have made such a horrible decision.

I am a first offender. I have earned several certificates through self-help classes, through them I've learned a great deal. I spent lots of time dissecting myself trying to understand what led me down such a destructive road and then start to work on rebuilding to make a better person. Unlike before with all of these opportunities, I have gained the tools to move forward. I understand that I've hurt a lot of people through my senseless actions and I try and make amends in every way that I can. I am currently in CSP Los Angeles County on

The Progressive Programing Facility. I'm

Adonis Muldrow

In 2012, 15-year-old Adonis Muldrow, under the direction of his 26-year-old crime partner, Jonathan Wilbanks, committed a string of armed robberies. During the final incident, Mr. Wilbanks shot and killed Rory Park-Pettiford. As they fled, a police car followed them. Mr. Wilbanks and Mr. Muldrow fired at the pursuing officer, who did not sustain any serious injury. Mr. Muldrow was held in juvenile hall until May 9, 2016, when he was sentenced in the Superior Court of California, County of Santa Clara, to 11 years for voluntary manslaughter, 4 years for multiple counts of robbery, 2 years for assault with a firearm on a peace officer with 10 years of firearm enhancements—a total prison term of 27 years.

Prior to his involvement in these crimes, Mr. Muldrow experienced a difficult childhood, exposed to abuse and neglect at a young age. Mr. Muldrow has stated that he is seeking a commutation so he can return to his community and give guidance and mentorship to youth in foster care and group homes like the ones where he was raised.

During Mr. Muldrow's seven years in custody, he has worked to better himself and demonstrated a genuine commitment to rehabilitation. He has never been disciplined for misconduct. Mr. Muldrow earned his high school diploma and has participated in many self-help programs. He is currently enrolled in the Delancey Street Honors Unit, a housing unit teaching job and life skills to inmates in preparation for release. In 2018, a representative from the Delancey Street Foundation commended Mr. Muldrow on his commitment to the program and wrote, "He's shown himself to be serious about changing his life and open to the sometimes very difficult ways we go about it." The representative continued, "It is my feeling that he has been a valuable member of the community here at Solano, with its many barriers, and would only be more of the same, in whatever community he finds himself a part of in the future."

As a very young man, Mr. Muldrow participated in several serious crimes, including the one that ended the life of Mr. Park-Pettiford. Mr. Muldrow has expressed sincere remorse for his role in these crimes. He has turned away from violence and committed himself to his rehabilitation. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of his conduct over the past seven years. I have concluded that Mr. Muldrow merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Muldrow does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Adonis Muldrow to make him eligible for parole consideration during his 10th year of incarceration. Mr. Muldrow remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

Application for Commutation of Sentence

(Attachment Addressing Questions 2, 3, 4)

Circumstances of the Crime

- Adonis Muldrow, Petitioner: 15 years old at time of the offense
- Jonathan Wilbanks, Co-Defendant: 26 years old at time of offense

Pursuant to Prop 21 (now repealed) the District Attorney direct filed Adonis' case to Adult court. (Today, his case would be in the Juvenile Court.)

Per his plea bargain, Adonis was sentenced as an ADULT to 27 years in prison for his role in a 2-hour crime spree. Wilbanks gave Adonis a gun and the instigation to commit several robberies and a shootout with police. Thankfully, Adonis did not kill anyone through his use of the gun, but Wilbanks shot and killed Rory Pettiford during an attempted carjacking. Adonis had only known Wilbanks for about 2 weeks at this time.

Before he met Wilbanks, 15-year-old Adonis' life was mostly traumatic and awful, with a lack of love and abusive parenting while living in a series of foster and group homes -- but he had never been in trouble with the law. (Amplly documented in Dr. Minagawa's report.

Psychological Report-Exhibit 7C) Adonis was a young vulnerable kid and the last group home in which he was placed unfortunately happened to be right next door to Wilbanks' house.

Wilbanks repeatedly took advantage of the group home next door to waylay the young troubled youths who lived there. He has a documented history of this grooming and predatory behavior. His bad influence was real: Just 3 months before meeting Adonis, Wilbanks involved a 12-year-old boy [REDACTED] from the same group home in another felony carjacking with a gun.

Wilbanks intentionally befriended young Adonis, though 11 years older. He groomed him: taking him out to McDonalds; offering him rides in his car; inviting him over to play video games; sharing marijuana, etc.

Adonis thought he was lucky to have met Wilbanks because he naively believed Wilbanks cared for and about him. On the day of the incident, Wilbanks picked up Adonis, gave him a loaded gun, gloves and a mask. Together they robbed four businesses. Later Wilbanks decided to carjack Rory Pettiford. Wilbanks ran to the driver's side door, pointed his gun at the victim and shot and killed the victim when he hesitated. Wilbanks and Adonis fled the scene in Wilbanks' car. They were soon pursued by police. Wilbanks stopped at a stoplight, got out and fired on the pursuing police officer. He told Adonis to shoot at the officers as well.

On December 5, 2013, Jonathan Wilbanks plead guilty to 1st degree murder, attempted murder of a police officer, four counts of robbery. He also pled guilty to the carjacking involving the 12-yr-old, [REDACTED] Mr. Wilbanks was sentenced to Life without Parole, consecutive to Life with Parole, consecutive to 25 Years to Life, consecutive to 48 years. [REDACTED] was treated as a juvenile.

On May 9, 2016, Adonis plead guilty to one count of voluntary manslaughter, four counts of robbery and one count of assault with a firearm on a police officer, along with arming enhancements.

Reason for Commutation Request

A close examination of this application will show that Adonis the juvenile has matured considerably and blossomed into an intelligent, thoughtful and hopeful young man. He has addressed any and every negative behavior he possibly could during the service of his sentence.

Fundamentally, a 27-year sentence is grossly disproportionate for how society would now punish 15-year-old Adonis. Every other 15-year-old who commits the exact same crimes will be treated as a juvenile and given a chance at rehabilitation. Many factors that favor commutation apply to Adonis.

Adonis is now 21 yrs. old. His conduct while in custody at every stage has been exemplary. He has completed High School, not just earning a GED, earning good grades and a diploma of which he is extremely proud. He has continued to pursue his education while in prison with college courses to the extent available. Adonis has demonstrated real remorse for his crimes and has shown his capacity for empathy as he has engaged in an open dialogue with the victim's mother. Adonis does not pose a threat to the community. His involvement in any criminality is limited to these crimes on this single day. There is no evidence of a hardened criminal lifestyle; instead his criminal misconduct was an aberrant event, never to be repeated. Adonis possesses the tools, skills and support necessary to live a peaceful and productive life outside of custody.

An illuminating 9-minute video documenting Adonis Muldrow's social history was produced by local San Jose community organization DE-BUG. It can be viewed here:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=hQ4lLU1rwV0>

Conduct and Character Supporting a Grant of Commutation

Expressions of Remorse

Adonis confessed his role in the crimes to police upon his arrest. He pled guilty prior to trial thus sparing the victims and families from reliving their trauma. He expressed remorse for his actions in the trial court. Adonis personally met with Ms. Young-Ae Park (victim Rory's mother) and they discussed her son, along with her feelings about the crime and her hopes for Adonis' future. Adonis told her of his regrets and promised to be a better and stronger person. His sincerity and the struggles of his life compelled Ms. Park to express her own wishes for Adonis and that he "would continue to do well and follow the rules and the law. And hopefully he would come out okay. And just so you know don't get any tattoos." (Sentencing Transcript-Exhibit 7E, Pg. 13) Adonis has kept his promise to Mrs. Park.

Mrs. Park later wrote an email to the district attorney and counsel for Adonis, requesting that "if I were to collect any restitution, I would collect from Wilbanks and not from Adonis. First, Wilbanks will not be getting out and he is the main perpetrator." She went on to request "If anything can be done, I would prefer to have this fund be available for Adonis when he is released" (Restitution letter from victim's mother-Exhibit 7G)

Letters and Support from Family, Counselors and Friends

Numerous letters from friends illustrate the impact this young man has had on the lives of others. From his foster father, to his social works, to his teachers, all have been awed and impressed by his resilience and good heart in the face of so much adversity. All point to his motivation, integrity and optimism.

Juvenile Hall and CDCR Programming and "Central" File

The letters attached and the many laudatory "chronos" and certificates reflect Adonis' impressive efforts to rehabilitate himself while incarcerated. Adonis has maintained his record of outstanding behavior since his arrest. In Juvenile Hall, Adonis earned his High School diploma and enrolled himself in Evergreen Valley College courses. A review of his Case Notes/History documents his growth, maturity and remarkable attitude. Adonis maintained a constant status in the Specialized Program which recognizes and rewards a juveniles' good behavior. These are the very records considered by the court when determining whether a child should be transferred to adult court during a transfer hearing.

Adonis has been enrolled in and a resident of, the Delancey Street Honors Program since January of 2018. This is an intensive and elite program focusing on life skills within the walls of Solano State Prison. An attached letter reflects that Adonis is not only an active participant dedicated to helping others. Adonis is enrolled in college courses including Psychology, Business and Public Speaking. Adonis initiated and maintains a relationship with Scott Budnick, founder of The Anti-Recidivism Coalition, an organization dedicated to offering support, counseling services and mentoring to people reentering society.

He is a voracious reader and positive contributor in the prison ecosystem, routinely donating books to the library. He has completed a twelve-week course in Moral Reconciliation Therapy, and both an eight- and twelve-week course in Anger Management courses as part of his Youth Offender Parole program. The many certificates he has accumulated reflecting his achievements are attached in Section 5.

Maurice Nails

In 2007, 21-year-old Maurice Nails shot and killed Robert Benjamin after an altercation outside a nightclub. On April 16, 2010, the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda, sentenced Mr. Nails to 15 years to life for murder with a 25-year-to-life firearm enhancement—a total prison term of 40 years to life.

Mr. Nails is now 32 years old and has been incarcerated for 11 years. In his application for clemency, he emphasized his growth since coming to prison, and his desire to continue becoming a better person. He wrote, "I am requesting this commutation because I'm ready to prove to myself, my family, and my community that I'm no longer the problem, but will be the solution."

During his incarceration, Mr. Nails has devoted himself to his rehabilitation. He earned two vocational certifications and is currently taking college classes. Mr. Nails has also participated in self-help programs. He earns excellent ratings from his work supervisors, including one who wrote that Mr. Nails "consistently demonstrated a positive attitude, good work, and safety ethics, and attention to detail in the performance of his work." Since 2017, Mr. Nails has been assigned to the Delancey Street Honors Unit at Solano State Prison, a housing unit that teaches job and life skills to inmates in preparation for release. Mr. Nails credits Delancey Street for making a profound difference in his life, and plans to continue his involvement with the program in the event of his return to the community.

Mr. Nails committed a very serious crime. He has expressed sincere remorse for his actions that day. Mr. Nails has distinguished himself through his dedication to his rehabilitation. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Mr. Nails' conduct in prison. I have concluded that Mr. Nails merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Nails does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Maurice Nails to make him eligible for parole consideration during his 15th year of incarceration. Mr. Nails remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have

CONT. 2) I was convicted on a 2nd degree murder charge. I am serving 15 years to life for the murder, and a additional 25 years to life for discharging a firearm and causing death. On December 29-30th, 2007 myself, and a group of my friends went out to a bowling ally in Castro Valley, CA. Something we did atleast twice a month. We arrived at the bowling ally around 9pm. While there we were drinking alcohol and just enjoying ourselves. The bowling ally closed around 11-11:30pm. So we decided to head to Oakland and go downtown to "holla" at some females because we knew that the clubs were letting out. As we walked around in the downtown area, I spotted a female I use to talk to by the name Ariana Alberty. Ms Alberty was with a group of her friends. We stop and started talking me and Ariana. While me and her were talking a guy approach, later finding out his name was Robert Benjamin. Me and Mr Benjamin gets into a verbal argument over me talking to Ms Alberty. The argument lasted for about 20-30 seconds because Mr. Benjamin reach in his pocket/waistline. I thought reaching for a weapon. At the time I had a gun in my waist and pulled it out and shot Mr Benjamin multiple times and fled the scene. All this happen an hour and half after bowling. I was apprehended almost two months later coming out of my home.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

CONT. 3) I'm requesting a commutation, first I'm truly sorry for what I did. I know Mr Benjamin's family is still grieving over their loss. And I wish I could say something ~~our~~ do something to make their pain go away but I can't. So I had to take a look at myself and think about a way to give back, and really think about how did I get to a point in my life to make me do what I did. Before I committed my crime. A year before I committed my crime I just took a break from Laney college, there I was playing football. I stop because I was always broke. So I got a job, a car, and was going to get my own apartment. The thing that I feel made my life turn for the worst was "free time". When I was in school, I had no free time. So now I'm partying, and drinking alcohol. Sooner or later I started abusing alcohol and my dreams of being a football player faded away, school also faded away, ~~and~~ then the drinking affected my judgment.

It took me 7 to 8 years being incarcerated to rebuild what I've lost in one year, within myself. I became immature, selfish, I wanted to fit in with a crowd that I wasn't use to.

I'm back on track and have been for a while. I'm almost done with school, I have been enrolled in community college and maintain a 3.0 GPA. I only have 5 or 6 classes left until I receive my A.S. degree. I have participated in various groups, groups that actually help me become a better man, son, brother, friend, and husband. Surrounding myself around positive people, people who actually care about the next person. I have gain tools, wisdom, and knowledge from other men in these groups. I'm currently in the Delancey Street Program that's in Solano Prison, and being in this program is way different. They hold you accountable, and you hold yourself accountable for all that you do. This program has giving me the opportunity to work on the things I need to work on. And each day I'm growing and becoming better. I'm requesting this commutation because I'm ready to prove to myself, my family, and my community that I'm no longer the problem, but will be the solution.

(CONT. 4) I should be granted a commutation, I know what I did is irreversible. So I had to fix myself, rebuild mentally, rehabilitate myself with honesty, being accountable, I had to find something with some meaning to it and I did. My family, and my wife. You know a lot of people find there higher power in GOD, I find mines in my family. Im not taking anything away from GOD because I truly believe GOD helps those who help themselves. I should be granted a commutation because im ready, im ready for a 2nd chance. I can talk about all my groups, and certificate I received since ive been incarcerated. But I just feel my heart, and soul is different, its better. It's hard to explain, but easy to show. If I didnt think I was ready I would not be filling this commutation out. I just want a chance to prove im worthy of a 2nd chance.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Alladin Pangilinan

In 1995, 19-year-old Alladin Pangilinan and his crime partners committed a string of gang-related crimes. During the last incident, Mr. Pangilinan's crime partner shot and killed Sonny Ago. On October 18, 2000, the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda, sentenced Mr. Pangilinan to 50 years to life for murder as a second strike and 19 years and 8 months to life for discharging a firearm at an inhabited dwelling, terrorist threats, and participating in a street gang, with two firearm enhancements—a total prison term of 69 years and 8 months to life.

Mr. Pangilinan is now 42 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 23 years. During his time in prison, Mr. Pangilinan has disassociated from gangs and demonstrated a genuine commitment to rehabilitation. He has been disciplined four times in over two decades in custody. Mr. Pangilinan earned his GED and has participated in several self-help programs. He is enrolled in vocational training. Mr. Pangilinan has consistently received above average work ratings from his supervisors. In 2018, Mr. Pangilinan was commended for his work ethic by his prison supervisor, who wrote, "In the time that Mr. Pangilinan was my student, through his current position as a Peer Tutor, I have observed him to have a helpful, courteous and respectful demeanor. He is a man who is well-respected by staff and inmates alike."

In his teens, Mr. Pangilinan committed several serious crimes, including the one that ended the life of Mr. Ago. He now acknowledges the significant harm he caused. Mr. Pangilinan has turned away from a life involving gangs and violence and committed himself to his rehabilitation. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of his conduct in prison over the last two decades. I have concluded that Mr. Pangilinan merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings.

This act of clemency for Mr. Pangilinan does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Alladin Pangilinan to make him eligible for parole consideration during his 25th year of incarceration. Mr. Pangilinan remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

5. If you have paid any money or given any gift to anyone to assist in the preparation of this application, list their name, address, and amount paid or given (required by Penal Code section 4807.2):

(None)- I have gathered in my best of knowledge in the preparation of this application.

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the time(s) for which you are requesting a commutation:

I was convicted of gang related Murder 1st. Degree and Premeditated Attempted Murder. I've taken an innocent human life and I am deeply sorry for my hideous crimes. On the night of November 13, 1995, I have planned to cause harm and to murder an individual, because one of my gang associate got beat up by a rival gang. Even though I'm not the physical shooter, I am fully taking responsibility for my action for being the driver and the oldest person (I was 19 years of age) that drove my gang associates to this house to commit a horrendous act that night. My reason for outrage that night has no excuse at all. I was a arrogant coward to be the driver that night and the person who planned to harm any individual(s) that live in this rival gang's residence. But, I've drove them to a different house and murdered an innocent man Mr. Sonny Ago. My image and reputation in this gang lifestyle taught me to use guns when I'm angry and to commit such malicious act towards my community. My selfishness, cowardness, arrogance, and greed to be praised by my gang associates led me to go to Mr. Sonny Ago's house that night and I am truly sorry. I'd took Mr. Sonny Ago's only life that night by my gun(s), even though I'm not the physical shooter the night of the crime. I was the person who provided the gun(s) to be use to commit a murder. I am deeply sorry for not understanding the grief of sorrows, traumas, and fear that I have created towards my victims, survivor victims, and the communities of Alameda County that was affected by my hideous crimes.

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation:

I offer the Governor of California Mr. Jerry Brown no excuse or good reason for me to commit such hideous crimes against the State of California and the county of Alameda. I am currently serving a term of 71 years to life and I was 19 years old when I murdered Mr. Sonny Ago and robbed his family and friends the joy of their lives.

Due to my prior juvenile convictions, I do not qualify for Youth Offender Bill SB-261 hearing. My eligibility parole hearing will be on 06/08/2053. I am seeking your permission to reduce my sentence, so I may appear to California Parole Board to demonstrate who I am as a person today. Without the Governor's consideration, I would be in my seventies of age before I am eligible for parole.

I did not wake up one day and decided to terrorize the county of Alameda and harmed innocent lives. Growing up in my household at six years of age, I was physically and emotionally abused by my grandfather. I was resentful and angry. I saw myself worthless and unworthy of love. I had a poor self-image of who I was in this world. When I associated with gangs, gang members gave me acceptance and validation. My criminal thinking and behavior became arrogant where I did not care about my life, my family, and my communities where I lived and grew up. Thinking back on my decision I am disappointed with managing my poor choices. I did not see beyond instant gratification of my choices. The ripple effect of my crimes caused families to feel unsafe in our communities and I am deeply sorry for what I have done. I hope Mr. Jerry Brown, Governor of California would consider my commutation. Thank you.

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

I am deeply sorry that I have caused so much grief, traumas, and fear by my malicious crimes towards my victims and my community. I was a selfish coward for making poor choices in life. The decision I made was a horrible choice. I didn't comprehend what lead me to murder an innocent human being which destroyed Mr. Sonny Ago's dreams. He can no longer develop a beautiful relationship with his wife, they can no longer have children, celebrate birthdays, holidays at home, and Mr. Sonny Ago can no longer be touch, hug, and kiss by his loving family and friends. I've created a painful traumas towards my victims; Mrs. Juanita Ago and her families, Joji Gomez and her families, Mr. Doria and families, Union City and Hayward Police Department. In addition, I inflicted harm on the community members of Alameda County. I also made the lives of people that I didn't know live in fear because they were worried about raising their children. I regretted for what I have done. My hideous selfishness, and arrogance led me to make poor choices in life when I was younger. I didn't know how to ask for guidance and help. I end up causing devastation and harmed innocent human beings.

While I was incarcerated, I did a lot of reflecting on myself and the crimes I committed. To understand the grief, traumas, and fear that I have caused towards my surviving victims and their families. Today I understand my poor choices that I've made in my past. To honor Mr. Sonny Ago's life and all my surviving victims. I've taken rehabilitated groups to help me understand my poor decisions that lead me to commit my past crimes. I have learned that when I am in pain this does not give me an excuse to carry guns and take my anger out of my community. Today I can accept disappointment and rejection. Through these rehabilitative classes, I have come to understand life is not fair and I can accept painful experience without using violence and I know how to ask for help from others. Everyday, I strive to be humble, with understanding, and have an attitude without using violent under any circumstances. I value every human being because life is precious. I am deeply sorry for murdering Mr. Sonny Ago and the suffering I have caused to his loving wife Mrs. Juanita Ago, his friends, his families, and to the communities of Alameda County.

Jensen Ramos

In 2002, following a fight at a party, 17-year-old Jensen Ramos shot multiple times at people who were leaving in a vehicle. No one was injured. On March 10, 2003, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Mr. Ramos to 14 years to life for two counts of attempted murder and 50 years for firearm and gang enhancements—a total term of 64 years to life.

Mr. Ramos is now 35 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 17 years. Over the course of his incarceration, Mr. Ramos has demonstrated his commitment to his rehabilitation and has earned the respect and support of correctional staff. Mr. Ramos has distinguished himself through his work as a Paws for Life dog trainer, rising to become a lead trainer and team leader. In 2019, Paws for Life staff and an associate warden commended Mr. Ramos on his dedication to the program, writing that, "In addition to the normal responsibilities of being a member of the dog program, Inmate Ramos has gone above and beyond in assuming a leadership role among the men in the program." Also in 2019, a correctional officer praised Mr. Ramos for "displaying the commendable attributes of self-motivation, adaptability, reliability, and maintenance of a positive attitude under difficult circumstances." The officer commended Mr. Ramos for mentoring other inmates in the Paws for Life program and for employing his communication and leadership skills to work "tirelessly" with the program and prison staff. In 2018, a public information officer at Mr. Ramos's prison praised Mr. Ramos's "accomplished prosocial and rehabilitative efforts," noting "the remarkable sustained effort that Inmate Ramos has employed to have a positive impact within the community."

Mr. Ramos committed a serious crime when he was a teenager. Since then, Mr. Ramos has made a genuine commitment to his rehabilitation while encouraging others to do the same. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Mr. Ramos's conduct in prison and concluded that he merits the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings now so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Ramos does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Jensen Ramos to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration and release upon a grant of parole subject to all applicable review periods.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 17th Day of October, 2019.

APPLICATION FOR EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

Dear Governor Brown:

I am the attorney for Mr. Jensen Ramos (CDC No. T-86444). On behalf of Mr. Ramos, I am petitioning you to commute Mr. Ramos's sentence to 15 years to life. In 2002, Mr. Ramos was found guilty of committing four counts of attempted murder and one count of shooting at an occupied motor vehicle, after he shot at a retreating car at a party. Mr. Ramos was tried as an adult and ultimately sentenced to 50 to life. He is currently ineligible for a Youth Offender Parole until his 20th year of incarceration.

Mr. Ramos committed a serious offense and is deeply remorseful for his actions. Fortunately, no one at the scene of the crime, including the victims, was physically injured. In light of this fact, among others, it is undeniable that Mr. Ramos's sentence is grossly disproportionate to the crime he committed.

Moreover, Mr. Ramos was only 17 years old when he committed his crime, and has shown extraordinary growth and rehabilitation during his incarceration. His exemplary prison record alone is proof that he is fully rehabilitated and is not a danger to society. For over 16 years – his entire adult life – Mr. Ramos has been in prison. Mr. Ramos is respectfully requesting that you commute his sentence of 50 to life to a sentence of 15 years to life.

For the reasons stated in this letter brief, I now petition your office for clemency on behalf of Mr. Ramos, and formally request a commutation of sentence.

I. THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE LIFE CRIME

On January 4, 2002, at around 10:30 pm, there was a house party in Walnut, California. While Mr. Ramos and his Diamond Bar school friends often attended parties without incident, this night was different because Mr. Ramos's gang-affiliated associates from the street gang Pinoy Real Atwater (PR) decided to meet them at the party. In part because of a recent threat of violence by a Diamond Bar gang member, Mr. Ramos carried a pistol with him.¹

As the night went on, uninvited guests started to show up to the party, and to avoid conflict, the hosts let them come in. Some of these guests included Brandon Reyes, Ryan Reyes, Ryan Quintos, and John Chen. Upon arrival, these four boys met up with their friends Eugene and Jay (aka “Jeep-Jeep”).

All six of these boys approached the front lawn of the party house, and stood around socializing for about five minutes. While they were standing on the lawn, Mr. Ramos’s friend Bryan, a PR member, bumped into John Chen, sparking a fistfight between the two of them. None of the witnesses can recall who threw the first punch, but the violence escalated quickly. As Jay threw Bryan to the floor, a gun fell from someone’s pocket; it is still not clear who owned the gun. Immediately, a number of people at the party started yelling, “They’re strapped! They’re strapped!” From the backyard, Mr. Ramos and a few other friends heard these words and rushed to the front of the house.

Brandon Reyes, Ryan Quintos, John Chen, and Ryan Reyes ran to their car and began to drive off. Mr. Ramos saw Bryan lying on the ground. Bryan told Mr. Ramos that he was attacked by members of Asian Boyz, a rival gang. Mr. Ramos and two other friends pulled out their guns and shot at the car as it drove away. Fortunately, nobody was hit by bullets or injured.

There were 11 shots fired in total. Two casings from a .25 caliber handgun were discovered during investigation. Mr. Ramos had a .25 caliber semi-automatic handgun. Based on the evidence of the two .25 caliber shell casings as well as witness statements to the police, Mr. Ramos was charged with attempted murder and shooting at an occupied vehicle.

In 2005, Mr. Ramos was found guilty of committing four counts of attempted murder and one count of shooting at an occupied motor vehicle. Before trial, Mr. Ramos was offered two plea agreements, one for 37 years and one for 20 years – both determinate sentences. However, at age 17, Mr. Ramos was unable to fully understand the risk associated with a trial and the dire consequences of a conviction by jury. Mr. Ramos declined both plea deals. Exacerbating “the incompetencies of youth” recognized in Miller v. Alabama, was the fact that his attorney, Bradford Eric Henschel, (State Bar #141888) was under investigation by the State Bar the entire time he represented Mr. Ramos, and was suspended shortly after the trial. Mr. Henschel was ultimately disbarred on December 23, 2010.

Mr. Ramos was subsequently tried as an adult and received a sentence of 33 ½ years to life with the possibility of parole. Mr. Ramos then appealed his sentence; on appeal, his sentence was increased to 50 years to life. The increase in Mr. Ramos’s sentence was due to the trial court’s calculation error.

II. MR. RAMOS’S REASONS FOR REQUESTING A COMMUTATION

Mr. Ramos takes full responsibility for his role in the shooting at an occupied vehicle, and putting the people inside the car at risk – teenagers just like himself, with their lives ahead of them. He is extremely thankful that nobody in the car was physically injured. Mr. Ramos was 17 years old when he committed the crime and is deeply ashamed of the decisions he made that night. He has since made serious efforts to become a productive and insightful adult, and is no longer the same misguided child he was on that day. Mr. Ramos is now a mature, thoughtful, introspective person, who has the full support of his family and the attorneys and law students at Loyola Law School's Juvenile Innocence and Fair Sentencing Clinic. (See Exhibit A, Jensen Ramos Statement to the Governor.)

The 2012 decision of the Supreme Court in Miller v. Alabama gave juvenile offenders like Mr. Ramos hope that one day they could have a meaningful opportunity for release. Later, your Honor's office, along with the California Legislature, implemented through legislation and executive order the policies set forth in Miller, Graham v. Florida, and Montgomery v. Louisiana: that children are constitutionally different from adults and are inherently less culpable for the crimes they commit. The legislature acted by passing SB 9, and then SB 260. SB 260 requires the Board of Parole Hearings to consider the potential parolee's youth and its attendant characteristics, as well as evidence of rehabilitation and remorse, so that people like Mr. Ramos, who have committed their adult lives to making positive change in themselves and their communities, have a chance to live fruitful and productive lives outside prison walls. Mr. Ramos deserves that chance.

III. REASONS MR. RAMOS'S REQUEST SHOULD BE GRANTED

Mr. Ramos's request for commutation should be granted based on the circumstances of his life that led to the life crime, the toxic environment from which Mr. Ramos could not extricate himself, Mr. Ramos's status as a particularly vulnerable juvenile at the time of the crime compared to the severity of the sentence he received, Mr. Ramos's extraordinary record of rehabilitation and growth while incarcerated, and his extensive post-release plans and community support.

A. MR. RAMOS'S LIFE CIRCUMSTANCES THAT LED TO THE LIFE CRIME

a. Mr. Ramos Could Not Extricate Himself From The Dangerous Neighborhood In Which He Was Raised.

Gangs were everywhere in Atwater Village during Mr. Ramos's childhood years in the 1990s. It was common for residents of Atwater to never set foot outside their homes between the hours of 9:00 pm and 6:00 am; this was the time when gang members would roam the streets and instigate conflicts. There were frequent accounts of violence at the hands of the three gangs, some of which Mr. Ramos experienced first-hand.

One of Mr. Ramos's first experiences of gang violence was as a young, unaffiliated 11 year-old, when he was brutally beaten by local gang members, merely because he was at the wrong place at the wrong time. This experience disturbed Mr. Ramos; it kindled the belief that he was always at risk of gang violence as soon as he walked out of his house.

Another incident illustrates the type of violence typical in Atwater Village. Another local gang trapped Mr. Ramos's friend and his girlfriend in a cul de sac by shooting out all the street lamps. The gang members parked one car in front of the victim's car, and another in back, to prevent the victims from escaping. The gang members then shot and killed the girlfriend. Frequent gang attacks like these in

Mr. Ramos's neighborhood scared him into seeking out a source of protection. Mr. Ramos thought the only way to stay safe was to join a gang himself; he was wrong. Being a gang member only made Mr. Ramos a target.

b. Mr. Ramos's Family Could Not Protect Him from His Brutal Neighborhood Environment.

As new immigrants from the Philippines, Mr. Ramos's parents believed that education alone would give their children the means to achieve a better quality of life than what they endured in the Philippines. Thus, they only focused on education and instilled strict academic values in Mr. Ramos. Although Mr. Ramos's parents may have been well-intentioned, they enforced those academic values by isolating and punishing Mr. Ramos, instead of teaching him how to survive in the chaotic neighborhood environment.

Mr. Ramos had to come home right after school; he was not allowed to have friends or even watch television. This isolated Mr. Ramos, and as a result, he struggled to develop the social skills necessary to build healthy relationships with peers. Mr. Ramos felt like an outsider growing up, and he was unable to make friends. If Mr. Ramos had been an adult, he could have been expected to understand the reasoning behind his parents' restrictive rules; but he was a child.

When Mr. Ramos left the house, and his parents' rules and protections, he had to navigate the street on his own. Walking to and from school, and even attending school, was painful and often violent. His route to school took him through several gang territories. He was ridiculed and physically attacked at school for his awkward appearance and lack of social skills. Ill-equipped to deal with these confrontations, Mr. Ramos would fight the kids who bullied him. Surprised, he noticed that fighting was the only thing that gained him safety and respect – a decision that, while understandable, led to a series of other bad decisions throughout his adolescence.

One of Mr. Ramos's former tormentors, named Don, was impressed with Mr. Ramos's aggressive response to bullying. He invited Mr. Ramos to join Pinoy Real, a Pilipino gang. Mr. Ramos agreed to join, thinking that he no longer had to live with the fear of being picked on and physically beaten. In fact, of course, joining a gang just made Mr. Ramos a target for more violence. He responded by sticking even more closely to Pinoy Real.

Concerned about his behavior, Mr. Ramos's parents sent him to live in Diamond Bar with his aunt. Although Diamond Bar was a safer environment, Mr. Ramos had new freedom away from his strict parents, and Mr. Ramos's misguided rebellious behavior continued. Far away from his prior neighborhood of Atwater Village, he enjoyed more freedom and wasn't subject to the same level of daily gang violence, but Diamond Bar also had gangs and racial tensions. Although Mr. Ramos's new friends were not gang members, they and Mr. Ramos engaged in irresponsible behavior and petty crime.

When Mr. Ramos was 15, he and his friends from Diamond Bar, Steve Wong and Tom Aihama, broke into an abandoned house and wrote graffiti. Mr. Ramos was charged with residential burglary. Soon after this incident, Mr. Ramos was suspended from Diamond Ranch High School for his role in stealing digital scales from the school. Due to this incident, Mr. Ramos attended Park West Continuation School during the second half of his sophomore year of high school. The school was dominated by Mexican gang members who were rivals of PR.

Because of racial tensions in Diamond Bar and Mr. Ramos's affiliation with PR, members of Sarzana, a rival gang, decided to make an example of Mr. Ramos. On one occasion, Mr. Ramos was standing on his front porch, when two older Sarzana members stepped out of their car and approached Mr. Ramos with their fists clenched. Mr. Ramos's friend, Justin, tried to talk their way out of a confrontation, but this did not deter the two Sarzana members, who kept advancing. Fortunately, a police officer drove by, and the confrontation ended; but the two 19 year-old Sarzana members vowed they would be back. Mr. Ramos, 14 at the time, was terrified. The incident contributed to his decision to carry a gun with him at all times.

Because of this, in January 2001, Mr. Ramos was arrested for possession of a firearm. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 4 months in youth camp. Mr. Ramos's future wife, Jennifer Doria, who was Mr. Ramos's closest confidant at the time, stated that Mr. Ramos's experiences in youth camp made him even more susceptible to peer pressure. She states that after his time in youth camp, Mr. Ramos was even more of a target for gang violence, and subsequently, he felt the need to cement his ties to his own gang and cultivate a reputation for being tough. This sequence of events led directly to the dangerous confrontation at the party, which led to Mr. Ramos's life crime.

B. THE SIGNIFICANCE OF MR. RAMOS'S AGE AT THE TIME OF THE CRIME COMPARED TO THE SEVERITY OF THE SENTENCE HE RECEIVED

Mr. Ramos was 17 at the time he committed this crime. Courts have consistently viewed youthful age as a mitigating factor in guilt and in sentencing. In Roper v. Simmons, 543 U.S. 551 (2005), the United States Supreme Court found that, even in the most serious murder cases, youthful offenders cannot with reliability be classified among the worst offenders. (Id. at 569.) As compared to adults, young offenders have a "lack of maturity and an underdeveloped sense of responsibility"; they "are more vulnerable or susceptible to negative influences and outside pressure;" and their character is "not as well formed." (Id. at 569-570).

Five years later in Graham v. Florida, 560 U.S. 481 (2010), the Supreme Court went further and recognized that the same differences between youths and adults are relevant to the constitutionality of sentences, and banned life without the possibility of parole (LWOP) for juveniles who commit non-homicide offenses. (Id. at 74-75.) The Court repeated Roper's reasoning that because youthful offenders have lessened culpability, they are less deserving of the most severe punishments. (Id. at 75). Finally, the California Supreme Court extended Graham's holding to a type of sentence that is particularly common in California: functional LWOP for non-homicide crimes, concluding that such sentences are per se unconstitutional. (People v. Caballero, 55 Cal.4th 262, 268-69 (2012))

These cases alone would have entitled Mr. Ramos to sentencing relief, and he was eligible for resentencing under Caballero. However, the California Legislature, recognizing the seriousness of tens of thousands of young people serving long sentences, created the Youth Offender Parole Hearing to deal with this problem. Juvenile offenders – and now many young adult offenders – are entitled to early hearings, at which they have the opportunity to prove that they are ready to reenter society, at 15, 20 or 25 years.

The length of time before parole eligibility under SB 260, however, does not reflect the individualized culpability of each youthful offender – a requirement under the Graham-Miller-Montgomery line of cases. (See, e.g., People v. Gutierrez, 58 Cal.4th 1354, 1378 (2014) (“[I]mposition of the harshest punishment on a juvenile requires individualized sentencing that takes into account an offender’s ‘youth (and all that accompanies it)’”) quoting Miller v. Alabama, 132 S.Ct. 2455, 2464, 2469 (2012).

This “one-size-fits-all” parole scheme cannot be squared with individualized sentencing requirements. For example, the fact that Mr. Ramos was 17 years of age at the time of his crime, that he faced special burdens as a child, that he committed a non-homicide crime, and that he has made tremendous strides in maturity and rehabilitation, should be reflected in his parole eligibility date, not merely his ability to make a case for parole. To compare, under current law, a person with no mitigating circumstances, who committed multiple murders at age 25 and has made no progress while incarcerated will get a Youth Offender Parole Hearing at 25 years, while Mr. Ramos, who did not physically injure anybody, will get his Youth Offender Parole Hearing only five years earlier, at 20 years. Although Mr. Ramos’s excellent record of rehabilitation - which will be considered at his parole hearing - gives him a better chance of achieving release, his mitigating circumstances should advance the date of that hearing to earlier than 20 years.

As the U.S. Supreme Court recognized in Herrera v. Collins, 506 U.S. 390, 415 (1993) “[e]xecutive clemency has provided the ‘fail safe’ in our criminal justice system.” Although in Herrera, the death penalty was at issue, it is generally accepted that executive clemency is an appropriate remedy for an unjust sentence, especially when there is no other remedy at law. This is the case for Mr. Ramos. While the creation of Youth Offender Parole Hearings was an enormously important step to address the widespread injustice of sentencing young offenders to long sentences, it should not blind the state to the fact that some youthful offenders are less culpable than others.

Mr. Ramos is precisely one of those youthful offenders. Had Mr. Ramos been charged today, at age 17, he would have greater rights to an attorney before being interrogated by the police. (Welf. & Inst. Code § 625.6) He would have received a transfer hearing pursuant to Proposition 57, where his background and immaturity could have been explored. (Welf. & Inst. Code § 707(b).) The judge would have had the discretion to reduce or strike his weapon enhancement, to make his sentence more proportional to his culpability. (Pen. Code § 12022.5(c).) But in 2002, as a child facing a long life sentence, Mr. Ramos had none of these protections. Nor did he have a proper sentencing hearing, during which he could present mitigation evidence. These new laws now exist because of a widespread recognition that the existing scheme, and the resulting sentences, violate the U.S. and California constitutions, as well as basic human dignity. A parole hearing for Mr. Ramos after 20 years, while very welcome, should not be considered a complete remedy.

For these reasons, when considering the facts of the life crime, and the impulsivity and poor judgment displayed, Mr. Ramos’s age at the time – only 17 years old – should be deemed a mitigating factor for purposes of a reduction in sentence.

C. REHABILITATION

Mr. Ramos has only received four serious disciplinary citations (aka “115’s”) throughout his 16 years of incarceration. In 2006 at New Folsom, a citation was issued when Mr. Ramos refused to turn on his light and stand for count. In May 2007 and August 2007, also at New Folsom, Mr. Ramos was found engaging in mutual combat during prison riots. After the second riot, Mr. Ramos pleaded not guilty, claiming he was a victim; he was nonetheless found guilty. At Tehachapi in 2009, he was found guilty for refusing to stand for count; however, Mr. Ramos claims he never heard his name called. Significantly, all of these rule violations occurred when Mr. Ramos was under the age of 25. It is well established that the male brain – particularly the frontal cortex – does not develop fully until around age 25, a fact recognized by Assembly Bill 1308, which extended Youth Offender Parole Hearings to youths up to the age of 25. Mr. Ramos has not had a 115 or other rule violation since the refusal to stand for count in 2009.

At present, Mr. Ramos is serving his sentence at the Progressive Programming Facility (PPF) at California State Prison Los Angeles County (Lancaster). The Progressive Programming Facility is a specialized yard for inmates who demonstrate a true desire to lead positive lives and who have not been issued disciplinary citations for several years. Admission to the yard is by application only. Applicants must pledge to remain drug free, renounce gang affiliations, and agree to undertake rehabilitative programming with members of all races and ethnicities. Inmates on the PPF can be and are summarily removed from the yard for breaking these pledges; those who remain are part of an exceptional group of inmates who actively prepare for parole and release by committing to responsibility, rehabilitation, and service. (See Exhibit D, Laudatory Chronos)

An example of this type of service is Mr. Ramos’s outstanding work with the Karma Dog Rescue Program, where inmates live with and train dogs to become service animals. The program requires a serious and lasting commitment: inmates must spend nearly all their waking time with their trainee dogs, sleeping with them in their cells, and developing a close relationship. The dogs who successfully graduate become service dogs for disabled veterans. Karma Dog Rescue has an impressive reputation; during the 2016 Sand Fire in Santa Clarita, 50 deaf dogs were evacuated from a facility in Acton to Lancaster State Prison and kept in the care of the inmates until they could be returned to the facility. Mr. Ramos was instrumental in coordinating the housing and care of the dogs. (See Exhibit E, Laudatory Chronos re: Karma Rescue Program)

Mr. Ramos, who has participated in Karma Dog Rescue since its inception, is now second in charge of the program. This job has given Mr. Ramos a heightened sense of responsibility and purpose. Mr. Ramos is also one of the facilitators for Men for Honor, a PPF service group, in which inmates write letters to at-risk youth. Currently, Mr. Ramos is working toward his college degree, completing three majors in American Studies, Social Behavioral Science, and Business. He is also working on completing vocational training and AA. In addition to his work history, volunteer work, and program participation, Mr. Ramos has received numerous positive chronos from prison staff.

According to the CDCR, Mr. Ramos is currently eligible for parole in October of 2020, though a hearing date has not yet been scheduled.

D. POST-RELEASE PLANS AND COMMUNITY SUPPORT

Mr. Ramos has been preparing for life after prison for over one and a half decades. He has taken advantage of every opportunity for vocational training and college degrees, in an effort to equip himself with the necessary life and career skills for when he is paroled.

Mr. Ramos intends to pursue a career as an electrician with the IBEW electrical union. He is expected to complete the educational requirements for becoming a certified electrician by summer 2018, and upon his parole, Mr. Ramos intends complete its apprenticeship requirements. (See Exhibit F, Training Certificates.) Scott Budnick, the motion picture producer and founder of The Anti-Recidivism Coalition, has also discussed an offer of employment with Mr. Ramos.

Mr. Ramos also has a supportive home environment. His parents will deed their home in Atwater Village to Mr. Ramos and his wife Jennifer Doria, who is a surgical nurse practitioner at LAMC Kaiser Sunset. In addition, Alex Tonner, Director of Operations for the Karma Dog Rescue program, stated that the program will welcome Mr. Ramos as a volunteer to help him transition back into the community. Mr. Ramos also intends to participate in gang intervention programs with at risk youth.

Additionally, Mr. Ramos is a client of Loyola Law School's Juvenile Innocence and Fair Sentencing (JIFS) Clinic. The Clinic works with its clients through their reentry to ensure their successful and productive transition into the community. The JIFS Clinic, one of three clinics at Loyola Law School's Center for Juvenile Law & Policy, is committed to the Center's founding ideal of "holistic representation," which means that the Clinic, and its students and attorneys, are not just committed to Mr. Ramos's release, but to his successful reintegration into society. Accordingly, Mr. Ramos, as a client of the JIFS Clinic, will have an attorney and a law student prepare him for his parole hearing, represent him at his parole hearing, and help him obtain transitional housing, employment and identification documents. Most important, the JIFS Clinic can provide him with what every juvenile parolee hopes to do: a way to work with at-risk youth, helping them to keep out of gangs.

The JIFS Clinic, as it has done with its other clients, will connect Mr. Ramos with the appropriate resources, services, and support systems he needs in order to become the contributing member of society he aspires to be.

IV. CONCLUSION

Jensen Ramos is sincerely remorseful for his thoughtless and dangerous commitment offense. He has used that remorse as fuel to transform himself from an immature boy with little control over his emotions and actions, to a mature adult who is ready to take on the responsibilities of life outside of prison. And most importantly, Mr. Ramos will continue to give back in any way he can to help other at-risk youth who face the same pressures he did as a juvenile.

On behalf of Mr. Ramos and his family, we ask that Mr. Ramos's sentence be commuted to fifteen years to life. Thank you in advance for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Christopher Hawthorne (SB #210578)

To the Honorable Governor Brown,

I'd like to begin by thanking you for allowing me the opportunity to write this letter.

Through my 16 years of incarceration, I've spent the last few years thinking about the crimes that I've committed and how the impact of it affected so many innocent people. Nothing could ever justify all of the harm that I've caused. It was wrong and unforgivable and I completely understand that I may never be worthy of their forgiveness. Mr. John Chen, Mr. Ryan Quintos, Mr. Ryan Reyes, Mr. Brandon Reyes, their families, the community, and my family are all victims of my selfish and criminal ways. I regret every single second spent destroying the lives of so many innocent people.

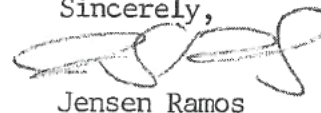

The overwhelming feelings of guilt, shame, and remorse has driven me to become a person striving to make amends. I understand the severity of my crimes and how it has left such a negative impact in the community. I've betrayed everyone by taking away their sense of trust and security, and that responsibility is something I take very seriously.

I know that there is nothing that I can do to change the past or take away the pain that I've inflicted on so many. But as I've taken the steps in becoming a better person I live each day now trying to be a decent human being towards everyone around me. My drive for change has led me to continually make indirect amends through my life of service to others, whether it's through writing to the at-risk youth or training service dogs for military veteran's with P.T.S.D.

My path to rehabilitation has helped me become more than just a person who no longer believes in violence nor possesses a criminal mentality. More importantly it has helped me become someone who is empathetic, compassionate, responsible, trustworthy, and loving.

I will never lose sight of the harm I have caused and if given a second chance, my effort to make amends will certainly exceed my words. Please know I am truly sorry for everything that I've put my victims through and the pains I have caused. My deepest hope is that the truths I share today may help them find comfort and closure. Thank you again for this opportunity and your time.

Sincerely,

Jensen Ramos

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Doris Roldan

Doris Roldan was convicted of hiring two men to shoot and kill her husband, Fernando Roldan. On February 25, 1983, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Ms. Roldan to life without the possibility of parole for murder.

Ms. Roldan has now been incarcerated for 38 years. She is 80 years old and uses a wheelchair for mobility. Ms. Roldan has shown a strong commitment to self-improvement. Ms. Roldan routinely received exceptional work ratings and founded a volunteer program that helps veterans. She has participated in numerous self-help programs.

A warden recommended Ms. Roldan for a commutation. She has also earned commendations from other correctional staff members for her positive attitude and behavior. In 2018, a correctional officer wrote, "Roldan has worked diligently to apply the self-help principles she has learned to her daily routine. . . . If given the opportunity, I believe Roldan is long overdue to enter back to society." Another officer who has known Ms. Roldan for 17 years praised her "exemplary behavior" and said, "Roldan has dealt with the issues that lead her to prison and I believe she is ready to reestablish a successful life in society." Another correctional officer wrote that Ms. Roldan "encourages her peers to be model inmates and also mentors the younger generation of inmates. . . . It is my opinion that Roldan will be a positive presence in the community if granted release."

During her lengthy incarceration, Ms. Roldan has committed herself to rehabilitation and proven her desire to become a productive citizen. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of her conduct in prison. I have concluded that Ms. Roldan merits the opportunity to make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Ms. Roldan does not minimize or forgive her conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work she has done since to transform herself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Doris Roldan to 38 years to life. Ms. Roldan remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

Commutation Application

#2: Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation

In 1983 I was convicted of conspiring to murder my husband and sentenced to Life Without Parole. I have maintained my innocence of the crime for the past 37 years of my incarceration. The man who confessed to murdering my husband got a 25-to-life sentence. His accomplices got immunity for testifying against me.

My husband Fernando had been working in construction and started dealing drugs. Sometime soon after, some other men he knew through dealing came to our house with guns, tied both of us up on the kitchen floor and threatened to kill Fernando while our youngest son slept in the room next to us. They left us tied up on the floor. I decided it was time to end my relationship with him and took our three children and moved out. Months later, Fernando was found dead, shot in the back of the head.

I feel terrible for not taking the threat to our lives, and to Fernando in particular, even more seriously and I feel guilty for not trying to get Fernando to run away or something, anything to protect him from what happened. But I did not kill him, and I did not conspire to kill him. Our middle son testified against me in court because, I believe, he was threatened and was offered money by these other men. I refused to speak against my second son, who has mental health issues, despite my other sons urging me to. My co-defendants, including the admitted murderer, also testified against me. Two of them got complete immunity, and the one who confessed to murder was sentenced to 25-to-life. I was sentenced to Life Without Parole for conspiring to murder, which I did not do. My next answers give more detail about the context.

#3: Explain why you are requesting a commutation

I am requesting a commutation to have the opportunity to go before the parole board and explain both the circumstances of my case and how I have grown in my 37 years in prison. In my heart, I do not believe I deserve a Life Without Parole sentence and am asking for clemency so I might be able to spend the final years of my life outside of prison close to my children and grandchildren (I am 79 years old). Thank you for your consideration.

I have no convictions prior to the one I am currently serving time for. As I stated above, I believe I was wrongfully convicted of conspiring to murder my husband. He, Fernando, had started dealing drugs. A few men he worked with came to our home with guns, tied us up on the kitchen floor, and threatened to kill him. I never stopped loving Fernando, but I realized then that his involvement in drugs meant that he couldn't be there for me or our children. I wasn't willing to risk this kind of violence becoming a part of our day to day lives and endangering all of us. So I decided then to move out with my children, and filed for divorce. Fernando was found a few months later in the hills of South Pasadena close to our house shot in the back of the head.

I have three sons. The middle one, Glen, testified against me in court. I believe he was offered money by the men who killed my husband. He is also not mentally stable. My three other co-defendants also testified against me. One, who confessed to the murder, was sentenced to 25-to-life. The other two, one of whom was the confessed murderer's brother-in-law, were given complete immunity. I on the other hand was sentenced to Life Without Parole. The prosecutor who pressed for this sentence for me is named Michael Edward Consiglio. He has since been investigated for a number of counts of corruption and for practicing without a license. I was sentenced in LA county, which I since learned has a disproportionately high number of LWOP sentences.

I do not have a relationship with my middle child. I do have a relationship with my first son, who is angry that I would not testify against my second son. I am very close with my third child, Mario. He was the only child I had with Fernando. He, his wife Maria, and their twin sons live in La Puente Hills. We are in regular touch. They write and visit me. Mario has always believed in me and has known that I did not kill his father. He is a teacher and works with children in special-ed in a minority neighborhood. His wife was a social worker and now works for the City of Anaheim department of Education. Their love and support of me, despite me being convicted of killing Mario's father, has helped keep me alive even while serving a sentence as severe as LWOP. Mario is sending in a letter of support as part of my application.

I am asking for a commutation to have a chance to explain these circumstances, and for the possibility of getting out and living close to Mario and Maria and my beloved grandsons. I do not believe I was given a fair trial and have now spent 37 years of my life in prison for a crime I did not commit.

#4: Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation

I have had a lot of time to reflect on my life prior to prison, and the part I played in getting into bad circumstances. I have many chronos for good behavior and have worked hard to be a positive part of life here in the prison.

I have only one disciplinary infraction in the entire 37 years I have been in prison. That was in 2010. It was listed as "attempted assault on an officer" but was really due to guard corruption. I am attaching a write-up by a fellow prisoner, Jane Dorotik, that gives more details about the incident, but in brief, a guard known for harassing prisoners accosted me for having too much toilet paper. When I questioned her, she wrote me up for attempted assault, even though there were witnesses who testified I did nothing.

Apart from that, I have a totally clear record while in prison. I have participated in many groups and classes to help me develop strategies for healing, anger management, and active listening. I am including a small sample of my positive chronos.

If I were granted a commutation and were able to parole, I would find a home close to my son Mario and his family. I would like to be part of their day-to-day life and help take care of my grandsons. I believe I have been a positive part of life here in prison. I would also like the chance to be a positive part of their life outside of prison.

I believe I pose absolutely no threat to public safety. I am 79 years old and am asking for your mercy for the possibility of going before the parole board and for the possibility of spending the remainder of my life close to my family. Thank you all for considering my application.

Bryant Salas

In 2007, 18-year-old Bryant Salas participated in a gang-related fight. During the fight, Mr. Salas' crime partners stabbed Kevin Fu and Christopher Cheng, killing Mr. Fu and injuring Mr. Cheng. On February 14, 2008, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Mr. Salas to 32 years to life for murder and attempted murder with a gang enhancement.

Mr. Salas is now 30 years old and has been incarcerated for 12 years. In his application for clemency, he described the steps he has taken to turn his life around. Mr. Salas wrote, "I take full responsibility for my actions and am not asking for a free pass, but an opportunity to show that I am not the same person I was back then...I am willing to give back to the community in any way possible as paying my debt to society."

Since coming to prison, Mr. Salas has demonstrated a serious commitment to his rehabilitation. He dropped out of the gang and earned his GED. He has participated in multiple self-help programs. He lives on an honor yard and participates in Paws for Life, a dog training program. In 2019, Mr. Salas was commended for his work in the program by an associate warden, Paws for Life's founder, and its director. They wrote, "By training a service dog, Salas is directly contributing to society by providing highly sought-after service dogs which are in great demand by veterans worldwide." In 2017, a work supervisor praised Mr. Salas for his positive outlook and strong work ethic, and wrote, "I am confident that Mr. Salas will continue to be a dedicated worker and a positive role model in order to be successful in life."

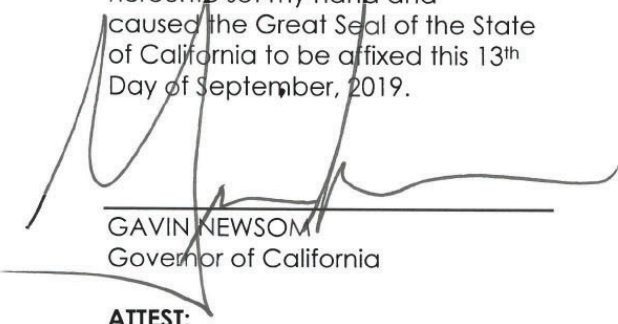

Mr. Salas participated in a very serious crime that took the life of Mr. Fu and injured Mr. Cheng. He has demonstrated sincere remorse for his involvement in the offense and has taken active steps toward self-improvement and rehabilitation. It is clear that he is focused on making amends for his past and contributing to society. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of his conduct over the past decade. I have concluded that Mr. Salas merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Salas does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Bryant Salas to make him eligible for parole consideration during his 15th year of incarceration. Mr. Salas remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

life. I take full responsibility for my actions and am not asking for a free pass, but an opportunity to show that I am not the same person I was back then when I committed the crimes. I am willing to give back to the community in any way possible as paying my debt to society.

The case of 2/23/2007, me and my co-defendants were heading to the store to buy beer. As we pulled in the parking lot we ran into a group of guys heading towards the Denny's in the same Shopping Center. We stared at each other until I got out of the car and confronted Kevin. Words were exchanged and I threw the first punch and then a brawl ensued. It went on for a few minutes until I looked up and realized the car had been pulled to the exit. As I ran towards the car someone yelled out their gang and we sped off. In the car I would find out that we weren't just in a fight, but that two people had been stabbed.

The Robberies and the Terrorist Threats that happened on 1/21/2007, I also take responsibility. I did not take responsibility for a long time, because I was just "in the car" when the guys I was with decided to rob and threaten these guys. I realize now that I was as much to blame, being that my mere presence factored into the intimidation of the situation. Also by just hanging around the way I was and by being part of this gang and contributing to its evil, present or not.

3. continuation explain why you are requesting commutation:

have grown up since then. Though I didn't back then, I do have truly remorse for what I participated in. I want to make amends and I know I can never take back what I did as much as I wish I could, but I can help deter kids from making the same mistakes that I have made. I am not asking for a get out of jail free card. I just want a chance to show my heart before the Board and continue to live my life in a positive way. I have no problem paying my debt to society, I deserve this prison time and the court did the right thing even for life. But I am not the same person that the court sentence to life. I want to prove that please.

4. continuation explaining why you should be granted commutation:

never make that right, but I can however choose to live my life for the good. That's what I chose to do when I gave my life to Jesus Christ. I am so grateful that my eyes and heart was opened to the truth. In that I realized just how wrong I was. Placing blame everywhere else but myself. I except my responsibility and because of my actions and choices a kid was killed for no reason. I am so sorry to the Fu family and I will do whatever I can to help them. I wish I could say this change came about a long time ago, but it took me almost nine years in prison to finally grow up and start to make the change. I have applied myself to self help programs. I've been certificated in GoGi, NA, CGA, and I am a born again Christian. I practice Bible based principles in my life daily. My faith is a big part of my life, but I am also working towards a degree in Business Management. Most importantly I truly am ready to live my life in society as an honest and productive part. My heart is true to give back and I know I can do that from the outside given the opportunity. Even now I'm working on getting into C.R.O.P., which is a group that speaks to struggling youths, like I was in my youthful years. I know it won't be for a while, but I ask of you please in Jesus name look into my case. I just want to go before a Board Hearing and let them judge me, if I'm ready or not. I pray you the best thank you for your time.

Lazaro Tanori

In 2006, 19-year-old Lazaro Tanori tried to rob a pawn shop. He had a gun and fired one shot at a glass display case. No one was injured and no property was damaged during the crime. On December 8, 2006, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Mr. Tanori to 1 year and 4 months for attempted robbery, plus an additional 20 years for a firearm enhancement—a total prison term of 21 years and 4 months.

Mr. Tanori is now 32 years old and has been incarcerated for 13 years. In his application for clemency, he emphasized how much he has changed and matured since committing this crime. He wrote, "I am no longer that reckless, impulsive, and self-centered teen I used to be. I understand the impact of my crime and the families that I have affected." Mr. Tanori described the progress he has made in prison, and laid out his plans for becoming a contributing member of the community upon release.

During more than a decade in prison, Mr. Tanori has maintained a positive record and taken concrete steps to turn his life around. He earned his GED and regularly receives exceptional work ratings from his supervisors. Mr. Tanori has participated in numerous self-help programs.

Mr. Tanori committed a reckless and dangerous crime when he was a teenager. He has taken responsibility for the harm he caused the employees of the pawn shop and has demonstrated a commitment to becoming a productive community member. I have carefully considered and weighed his conduct while in prison. I have concluded that Mr. Tanori merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Tanori does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Lazaro Tanori to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration. Mr. Tanori remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

I am currently attending self-help groups such as "KAIROS" and "N/A" which has allowed me to open up my heart to God. I am applying the N/A 12 steps to my lifestyle with the help of my sponsor. I understand that drugs clouded my mind as a youth and therefore I made a lot of poor choices. Now I am able to identify my triggers and negative influences.

I've also taken "Anger Management" classes and (AVP) Alternative to Violence Program. these programs showed me how to avoid violent confrontations and how to use affective problem solving skills. Growing up I was an angry kid with a lot of false pride, thinking violence was okay. Today I know my anger is a second emotion that I am able to control. I am continuing to apply these skills to help me stay positive and productive.

I've also taken Transforming Lives Network: "Know Thyself" classes and "Skills for the Work Place" classes were I have learned the values of being a hard worker. Growing up I wanted to live the easy life selling drugs and stealing from my community. Now I am able to show my work skills as a trustworthy person and also a responsible, independent young man.

I've also attended "Getting Motivated to Change" classes and "Ideas for Better Communication" classes which has helped me establish a better relationship with my family. Growing up I was ashamed to ask for help. Since then I've gained self-confidence which has given me the energy to not give up and continue to make better choices.

I no longer seek the attention I desired when I was a troubled teen. I am now focused on continuing my progress upon my release were I will attend college for computer coding while I work as a welder in my step dad's welding shop. I've surrounded myself with positive influences in prison and now have a strong support system waiting for me to come home too. Because of the above reasons provided I am submitting this request. Thank You for your time.

Marsi Torres

In 2007, 18-year-old Marsi Torres shot and injured Christian Rodriguez, a rival gang member with whom she had been in prior altercations. On December 10, 2007, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Ms. Torres to 15 years to life for attempted murder with a 25-year-to-life firearm enhancement and a 10-year gang enhancement—a total term of 50 years to life.

Ms. Torres is now 30 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 12 years. Ms. Torres has consistently worked to better herself, completing extensive vocational training, working towards her GED, and participating in self-help programs. A sponsor for Compassionate Companions, a program Ms. Torres has worked with that supports inmates facing serious illness, wrote that Ms. Torres is "competent, congenial, hardworking and motivated at all times to go above and beyond." In 2019, a program sponsor for Convicted Women Against Abuse commended Ms. Torres on her active participation in the group, noting that she translates for Spanish speaking participants "without hesitation" and "continuously assists others when in need of help or translation."

Ms. Torres has also earned excellent work ratings. In 2019, a supervisor commended Ms. Torres on her work ethic and professional attitude, noting that she is a "very disciplined, respectful person," who shows a "great desire for personal growth [and] knowledge." The supervisor concluded that, if released, Ms. Torres would be a "valuable asset to any organization." In 2018, a correctional officer who has known Ms. Torres for three years commended her on her work ethic and wrote, "She takes the initiative to help staff and peers and her attitude is always optimistic and constructive." The officer noted that Ms. Torres "seems to have dealt with the issues that lead her to prison and I believe she is ready to re-establish a successful life in society."

As a young woman, Ms. Torres committed a serious crime. She has acknowledged the harm she caused and has expressed sincere remorse for her actions that day. She has turned away from a life involving gangs and violence, and committed herself to her rehabilitation. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of her conduct in prison. I have concluded that Ms. Torres merits an earlier opportunity to make her case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether she is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Ms. Torres does not minimize or forgive her conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work she has done since to transform herself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Marsi Torres to make her eligible for parole consideration during her 15th year of incarceration. Ms. Torres remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

RE: Application for Commutation of Sentence for Marsi Torres (X-28372)

Dear Governor Brown:

Please accept the following as Ms. Marsi Torres' (X-28372) Application for Commutation of Sentence. Ms. Torres' convictions and sentence of 50 years to life do not reflect her level of culpability and intent, nor do they account for a series of mitigating factors in her case that did not emerge at trial. Once Ms. Torres' youth and history of abuse, as well as her subsequent growth and maturity, are taken into account, it is clear that her prolonged incarceration benefits no one. She should be provided the opportunity to reenter society at an earlier time than her original sentence allows.

Question 1: Conviction Summary

Ms. Torres has never been convicted of crimes in addition to the life crime, though as a juvenile, she was arrested on at least three occasions. (See RAP Sheet for Ms. Torres, dated Oct. 25, 2008, attached hereto as Exhibit A.) On October 22, 2005, she was arrested for vandalism (Pen. Code, § 594(B)(1)) and released to a parent/guardian. On May 6, 2006, she was arrested for battery on a person (Pen. Code, § 243(A)) and released to a parent/guardian. On April 14, 2007, she was arrested for disobeying a court order (Pen. Code, § 166(A)(4)) and released; there was a lack of sufficient evidence.

Question 2: Circumstances of the Crime

The following version of events is based on the Probation Officer's Report and the Court of Appeals Opinion in Ms. Torres' case. (See Probation Officer's Report, dated Dec. 10, 2017, attached hereto as Exhibit B; Second District Court of Appeals, Division Four, Opinion in People v. Torres, Case. No B204823, dated Jan. 29, 2009, attached hereto as Exhibit C.) As made clear in Question 3, infra, this version does not account for the entire series of events and Ms. Torres' true motivations.

Troy Williams

On June 5, 2007, eighteen-year-old Ms. Torres shot and wounded sixteen-year-old Christian Rodriguez. The record shows the two had previous negative interactions while in high school together in 2005 and 2006. On the day of the shooting, [REDACTED] was driving his uncle's Jeep Cherokee and while at a stop sign, saw Ms. Torres. Ms. Torres pulled out a gun from her backpack and approached the car. [REDACTED] put his car in reverse and backed up. From a distance of approximately fourteen feet, Ms. Torres fired four to five times. [REDACTED] continued to drive until he realized he was bleeding and discovered he had been shot twice: once in the abdomen and once in the chest. He flagged down passing officers, who summoned an ambulance.

Back at the scene, two Los Angeles Police Officers happened to witness the shooting. According to the testimony of one of the police officers at trial, Ms. Torres was walking away from the scene as the police approached and identified themselves. The officer testified that once Ms. Torres saw that the police were approaching her, Ms. Torres stopped and dropped her backpack; she did not run or attempt to resist. As the officers were preparing to handcuff her, Ms. Torres said, "Fuck it, you got me. The gun is in my backpack."

At trial, a gang detective testified that he heard from other officers that on two occasions (once in 2005 and again in 2007), Ms. Torres had identified herself as a member of Down in Action or D.I.A., a small tagging crew that the detective alleged had morphed into a gang. The gang officer opined that the shooting was done in retaliation for [REDACTED]'s brother having testified in 2004 against the D.I.A. gang member who shot him. The detective testified on cross-examination, however, that the testimony provided by [REDACTED]'s brother occurred prior to Ms. Torres' involvement in D.I.A. and there was no evidence Ms. Torres was aware of the court case or that the victim/witness was [REDACTED] brother.

The jury found Ms. Torres guilty of Penal Code, § 664/187(A) (attempted first degree murder, with premeditation and deliberation) and Penal Code, § 12022.53(D) (discharge of a firearm causing great bodily injury).¹ The jury also found Ms. Torres guilty of Penal Code, § 246 (shooting at an inhabited vehicle) and Penal Code, § 12031(A)(1) (carrying a loaded firearm). Lastly, the jury found true Penal Code, § 186.22(B)(1)(C) (gang allegation), which enhanced each of her convictions. Ms. Torres was sentenced to 15 years to life for attempted murder, 25 years to life for discharge of a firearm, and a 10-year determinate term for the gang enhancement, for a total of 50 years to life. She was also sentenced to a concurrent 2-year term for carrying a loaded firearm and a 5-year stayed term for shooting at an inhabited vehicle. (See Abstract of Judgement, dated Dec. 13, 2007, attached hereto as Exhibit D).

Question 3: Why Ms. Torres Is Requesting a Commutation

Ms. Torres is requesting that all of her imposed sentences be commuted and reduced to a conviction for attempted second degree murder, which carries a sentence of 9 years, and that she be released immediately based on her time served. (See Penal Code, § 664(A).) This sentence more accurately reflects Ms. Torres' level of culpability in this case, as her act was impulsive rather than premeditated, and rooted in personal rather than gang-related motives.²

¹ The jury also found true the lesser allegations of firearm use under Penal Code, § 12022.53(B), (C).

In the alternative, Ms. Torres requests that her sentence of 25 years to life for discharging a weapon be commuted so that she has the opportunity to go before the Board of Parole Hearings sooner than 2031, which would be her 24th year of incarceration. She hopes to have the opportunity to demonstrate her growth, insight, accomplishments while imprisoned, and her overall preparedness to be released.

Ms. Torres acknowledges that she bears full responsibility and culpability for her crime. She understands the severity of her actions, the harm caused to [REDACTED] and to society more generally. She understands why she received the sentences that she did. She has no one to blame but herself for her actions, and she is deeply grateful that the injury caused was not worse. Ms. Torres recognizes that her actions could have resulted in significant harm not only to [REDACTED] but to others as well, and she is truly sorry for her actions.

While nothing can excuse what Ms. Torres did, the following information sheds light on her life to help explain why she found herself in the situation that she did on June 5, 2007, and how she came to commit her crime.

At the time of the shooting, Ms. Torres was eighteen years old. She was an immature, impetuous teenager, who acted recklessly. Because of her age, she was unable to fully appreciate the risks that her conduct posed to those around her, including [REDACTED] and other members of the public, and she was unable to understand the consequences of her actions. (See, e.g., Miller v. Alabama, 567 U.S. 460 (2012).) From an early age, she was exposed to violence in Los Angeles, both in her home life and in her neighborhood, where fighting was a daily occurrence. Starting at age five, her brothers and her mother would hit her and taught her that she had to fight back with violence in order to defend herself. Her mother pulled her by her hair, hit her head against the wall, and hit her with a belt. The boys at school would fight her, and when she got in trouble with the school for fighting, her mother would punish her by hitting her. This taught Ms. Torres that the appropriate way to deal with conflict was with violence.

Ms. Torres also learned not to trust authority figures. When she was three years old, her family went on welfare. When the family's social worker would visit the house, Ms. Torres' mother would tell her that she had to tell the social worker that she was happy and that everything was good at home, or she would be taken away from her family and get in trouble. At school, she was attacked by other students, but when she reported it to her teachers, they did not believe her and she was disciplined for fighting back. As a result, Ms. Torres learned that if she gave information to authorities, no one would believe her and she would get in trouble. This lesson followed Ms. Torres through her childhood and into her teenage years.

² It is also worth noting that the sentencing court appears to have made an error in Ms. Torres' case when it imposed two sentence enhancements under Penal Code, § 186.22(B) as to the attempted murder count. Under the controlling case law, Ms. Torres should have never received a 10-year determinate term, in addition to the 15 to life sentence for attempted first degree murder, which would normally carry a sentence of 7 years to life. (See People v. Lopez (2005) 34 Cal.4th 1002, 1011; People v. Arauz (2012) 210 Cal.App.4th 1394 [holding that where a defendant is sentenced to an indeterminate life term for attempted murder, the 15-year parole eligibility provision of the gang enhancement statute applies rather than the 10-year gang enhancement]; see also Penal Code, § 664(A).) Moreover, had Ms. Torres been sentenced under current law, the court would have had discretion to impose a lesser sentence. (See Pen. Code, § 12022.53, amended by Stats. 2017, c. 682 (S.B.620), § 2, eff. Jan. 1, 2018.)

Ms. Torres also suffered from low self-esteem from an early age. At school, she was placed in special classes because she had difficulty learning and did not know how to read or write (which remained true until her incarceration). The other children would tease Ms. Torres and call her “retarded” or dumb. Ms. Torres’ mother would also tell her that she “had [her] father’s blood,” implying that she was low-class and stupid, and would hit her and insult her intelligence. At one point, she tried to apply for a job in a local grocery store, but did not complete the application because she was unable to read it. As a result, she developed extremely low self-esteem and believed that she would never be able to make anything of herself.

Another factor that contributed to Ms. Torres’ low self-esteem was that she was sexually assaulted just a few months before the shooting, in February 2007. She was at a party and a man she had known for several years put a drug in her drink and raped her. Afterward, rather than blame her rapist, she blamed herself for allowing herself to be in a situation where he could “trap” her. Unfortunately, this was not the first time that Ms. Torres was a victim of assault. Throughout her childhood and adolescence, beginning at age six, boys and men would touch her in her private areas, often insulting her or calling her dumb at the same time, and she had no recourse. When Ms. Torres was eight or nine years old, an older man pulled up next to her in his car and honked at her, and tried to get her to get into his car. Ms. Torres believes that the man was trying to have sex with her. Over the years, she internalized all of this trauma, which only added to her low self-esteem and anger issues. It also resulted in her distrusting all men in general.

As a result of this low self-esteem, and because she did not feel accepted at home or at school, Ms. Torres looked for acceptance elsewhere. Her oldest brother, who was the only father figure in her life, was a gang member and introduced her to that lifestyle by the time she was twelve years old. Unlike at home and at school, in the gang, it did not matter what her grades were and whether she could read or write. She was good at graffiti and at fighting, and the gang valued those skills. For the first time in her life, she felt valued and like she was part of a community.

By June 2007, Ms. Torres had suffered through years of low self-esteem, violence, anger, and gender-based trauma and assault.

When Ms. Torres first saw [REDACTED] on June 5, 2007, he honked at her and showed her that he was carrying a gun. Ms. Torres tried to ignore him and keep walking, but he drove around the block to cut her off.³ Ms. Torres grew angry because she thought he was going to hurt her and make her a victim, the same way that the children at school used to target her and the way her rapist had done a few months earlier. There were also two specific things about the interaction with [REDACTED] that triggered Ms. Torres: first, when he honked at her, and second, when he drove around the block to cut her off. When [REDACTED] honked at her from his car, Ms. Torres recalled her encounter with the older man who she believed was soliciting her for sex, and her instinct kicked in and told her that she needed to protect herself. Similarly, when he tried to cut her off, it triggered Ms. Torres' fear of being made a victim and being "trapped" by men, and she became angry. Because her life up to that point had been focused on violence, and because she did not know to choose another way, Ms. Torres then pulled out her own gun and shot [REDACTED]

This information is not an excuse for her actions, but rather an attempt to contextualize why Ms. Torres did what she did to [REDACTED]. She now knows that violence is never a way out and that she only perpetuated the cycle to which she was introduced as a child. She requests the opportunity to show the Board how much she has grown as a person since that time.

Question 4: Why Ms. Torres Should Be Granted a Commutation

It is important, of course, that Ms. Torres takes full responsibility for her crime and has expressed her remorse to the victim; her crime is inexcusable. However, at the time of the life crime, Ms. Torres was an eighteen-year-old teenager, struggling to deal with her experiences of violence, low self-esteem, anger, and victimization. She had a multi-faceted history of abuse and trauma, molded by negative influences in the absence of any sort of structure or support system. Unfortunately, Ms. Torres' story is not terribly unique. However, Ms. Torres is a fantastic candidate for commutation because, as explained in further detail below, she is a model of reformation, having taken advantage of opportunities made available to her and genuinely changing her past lifestyle and behaviors.

After Ms. Torres was sentenced to a minimum of 50 years in prison for her crime, she had two options. She could have resigned to her fate—the functional equivalent of a life sentence without the possibility of parole—and continued her downward spiral into violent, destructive behavior. Instead, she has used her lengthy sentence to put her once out of control life back on track. Ms. Torres' exceptional incarceration record shows that she is not the same person she was in 2007. Over the past decade, she has dedicated herself to constructive personal development, holistic rehabilitation, and being a positive influence on other people. Set forth below are just some of the steps Ms. Torres has taken.

Education & Skill Development

Ms. Torres' reformation is demonstrated, at least in part, by her pursuit of her education and her development of skills that will give her a viable alternative to the life that led to her incarceration.

When Ms. Torres was first incarcerated, she was still learning to read and struggled with basic spelling. Filling out an application for a job at a grocery store was impossible for her. Working to confront her personal demons head-on gave Ms. Torres a surge in her self-esteem, which inspired her to further her education. She began to study the Bible as a means of both learning how to read and continuing to heal and stay on her path of self-discovery. When she hit a roadblock in understanding words, Ms. Torres reached out to her roommate, who assisted her in her reading. Ms. Torres practiced by writing out certain words over and over again to learn how to spell them and read them aloud. Soon enough, Ms. Torres began to score higher and higher on her exams. Where she would once give up out of frustration and self-loathing, Ms. Torres is now unwavering in her desire to learn and has made significant and lasting changes in how she sees herself and her value as a person. Now, she has put her education back on track, completed a range of adult-level courses, and is even enrolled in college.

Ms. Torres' educational advancements are reflected in certificates of completion for a wide range of adult education courses, including Beginning Sentences, Math in the Mall, Filling Out Forms, Ads and Coupons, Career Math, and miscellaneous basic math subjects (January-March 2014); Office Technology Core Components (October 2017); and Business Math (February 2017). Ms. Torres has even completed the intensive Career Development Module of the Prison Education Project, where she focused on personal transformation through academic, life skills, and career development programming (December 2015), as well as the Enhanced Programming Unit (May 2016).

Ms. Torres has also prepared herself for a productive and professional life after prison by developing marketable skills. For example, spurred on by her growing confidence, Ms. Torres took a shine to construction and has taken several courses to develop her skills, including the Construction Labor Pre-Apprentice Program (April 2018); numerous NCCER Construction Technology training programs (January 2015, October 2015, March 2016, and June 2016); various carpentry-related courses (December 2016 and July 2018); Building Maintenance (September 2016); and CAL PIA's General Facilities Maintenance and Repair program (July 2008). Through these courses and others, Ms. Torres has learned basic vocational skills in carpentry, masonry, concrete finishing, electrical work, HVAC, and plumbing systems, as well as the progression and management of different phases of construction projects from start to finish. Thus, in addition to her academic work, Ms. Torres' extensive career and technical training in construction have given her, for the first time in her life, a viable set of legitimate, marketable skills.

Personal & Community Development

Ms. Torres has also participated in a wide array of self-help programs that have helped her to develop insight into the person she once was and new skills to ensure that she never relapses into her former negative thinking patterns and behaviors. For example, Ms. Torres participated in a group called Life Scripting, which she initially joined to gain insight into her anxiety and anger. During one particular class on depression and how it can affect a baby growing in the womb, Ms. Torres had a realization that put into perspective what she had been struggling with her whole life: she grew up in a house where her mother was a victim of domestic violence. The class gave Ms. Torres the safe space to confront painful memories head-on, including one incident her mother had shared with her in which her father had beat her mother while she was pregnant with Ms. Torres so severely that her mother was unable to eat solid food. This valuable insight into growing up in a violent home and understanding where her anger came from resulted in Ms. Torres being able to successfully apply the skills she learned in this program.

In order to better understand her mother and how one could stay in a violent home and repeat the cycle, Ms. Torres joined Convicted Women Against Abuse (CWAA). The program not only gave her a better understanding of her mother, but it also freed her to recognize that she also was a victim of domestic violence. Ms. Torres suffered in silence as a child and could not understand her pain and anger. Her epiphany gave her courage to confront her pain directly and she developed the skills to communicate her feelings in a positive and healthy way.

For instance, Ms. Torres completed the Beyond Violence program (May 2018), where she did a “deep dive” into the individual, relationship, community, and societal factors that contributed to her commission of her crime in 2007. She also completed the Accountability Workshop and Restorative Education program (April 2014), which helped her truly understand that the effects of her crime, like all violent acts, were not limited to the victim, Mr. Rodriguez, but that the ripple effect of violence touches the family members, friends, and neighbors of both the victim and the perpetrator, as well as the community at large. Through the Coping with Feelings program, Ms. Torres explored her crime through concepts of victim realization, faced her feelings regarding the crime, and learned techniques for coping with her guilt (October 2011). Ms. Torres also completed the Gang Prevention Program, where she studied techniques for avoiding and preventing gang-related activities (August 2009).

Ms. Torres’ efforts did not stop there. She has also completed the following courses, programs, and workshops: Anger Management (June 2009); Recreation Therapy (December 2009); Anxiety Support Group (November 2010); Coalition for Cultural Awareness (academic and vocational programs and extracurricular activities drawing on the strength of cultural heritage, October 2009); Saints Healthy Marriage Project (positive partner and family relationship development; techniques for divorce prevention, September 2010); Freedom to Choose (March 2011); A Place Called Self (supporting sobriety, dealing with addiction and related issues in a gender-responsive recovery program, October 2011); Alcoholics Anonymous (2009-2011); Kairos Retreat (techniques for loving and respecting herself and others, May 2012); Big Sister program (mentor to others, particularly with respect to emotional coping strategies, May 2013); Co-Dependency (examining how destructive relationships can lead to substance abuse and learning how to promote healthy relationships, July 2013); Life Skills (July 2013); Women 4 Change / Life Scripting (analyzing past behaviors and developing strategies for leading a positive, empowered life, September 2013); Attitude and Self-Esteem (October 2014); Convicted Women Against Abuse (January 2017); Compassionate Companions program (June 2017); Mother’s Voice Project (December 2017); Beginning and Advanced American Sign Language (June and August 2017). Ms. Torres’ reformation also includes a faith-based component. She was baptized and received her certificates of first communion and confirmation in May 2016. Now, she regularly volunteers at the prison’s InterFaith Chapel. (See Chronos & Certificates, attached hereto as Exhibit E.)

Prison Discipline

The impact of all of Ms. Torres' educational, vocational, and self-help efforts are clear, and evidenced by the fact that she has never been cited for violent conduct during her incarceration. She now understands how to manage risk factors and avoid violence. She has only received a single serious Rules Violence Report (CDC 115), which occurred on March 14, 2008 for delaying a peace officer, over ten years ago. (See Rules Violation Report, dated March 14, 2008, attached hereto as Exhibit F.) Nothing about this 115 indicates Ms. Torres' risk of violence if released. Indeed, correctional staff at the California Institution for Women even attest to Ms. Torres' transformation. For example, Officer Gomez recently noted that over the last three years she has known Ms. Torres, she has observed that Ms. Torres has "dealt with the issues that lead her to prison and I believe that she is ready to reestablish a successful life in society." Officer Gomez, as well as Chaplain Yettke, also both attest to Ms. Torres' strong work ethic and impressive level of responsibility. (See Support from Staff, attached hereto as Exhibit G.)

Parole Plans

Reentering the free community in a safe and violence-free manner is of the utmost importance to Ms. Torres, and to that end, she has already begun to make plans in the event of her release. She hopes to parole to San Diego, where her sister lives and where she has been offered employment by other family members. Most importantly, Ms. Torres has been offered support from the Roman Catholic Diocese of San Diego, as she plans to continue allowing her faith to drive her positive growth and transformation.

Conclusion

Perhaps the only thing more remarkable than Ms. Torres' impeccable prison record is the fact that her transformation was driven entirely by her desire to change, not because she was preparing her record for this Application for Commutation of Sentence. She has changed—and continues to change—because she wants to be a model citizen and have a chance, someday, at a life outside of prison. Now that she has matured, earned educational credentials, developed marketable skills, and learned how to deal with the demons of her past, she is not a risk for recidivism. Ms. Torres has accepted the consequences of her actions as a misguided teenager, but she has also made the system proud, and in the process, proven herself to be someone worthy of a sentence commutation.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Antonio Toy

In 2009, Antonio Toy broke into Justin Matthews's apartment and fired two shots at Mr. Matthews, injuring him. On January 25, 2011, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Mr. Toy to 14 years to life for attempted murder as a second strike with a 25-year-to-life firearm enhancement—a total prison term of 39 years to life.

Mr. Toy was 23 years old when he committed this crime. He is now 33 years old and has been incarcerated for almost 10 years. While in prison, Mr. Toy has shown a significant commitment to his self-improvement. He lives on the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard where inmates can access educational, vocational, and rehabilitative programs. Mr. Toy is currently enrolled in the Paws for Life dog training program and has participated in multiple self-help programs. He has been praised by several staff members for his positive attitude and behavior. In 2018, a correctional officer wrote that Mr. Toy "understands the value of education as it relates to rehabilitation, he encourages inmates to do better and actively promotes education as a way to motivate his fellow inmates." The founder of WordsUncaged also commended Mr. Toy for his personal growth and wrote that he "demonstrated an in-depth understanding of causative factors, triggers, positive coping mechanisms and the importance of developing pro-social relationships. His ability to be open and vulnerable about such personal matters amongst his peers and the Cal State Professors and students is a clear indicator of his growth, maturity, and ability to be a productive contributor to any community."

Mr. Toy committed a very serious crime, for which he is sincerely remorseful. Mr. Toy has made a genuine commitment to his rehabilitation while encouraging other inmates to do the same. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Mr. Toy's conduct in prison. I have concluded that Mr. Toy merits an earlier opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Toy does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Antonio Toy to make him eligible for parole consideration during his 15th year of incarceration. Mr. Toy remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

CONSIDERATION FOR COMMUTATION

Attn: Governor Edmund G. Brown J.r.

My name is Antonio Tywon Toy #Ag6713, and I am not serving LWOP. However, this is my first term in prison; I was convicted, and sentenced to 3 life sentences for shooting Justin Mathews in the leg. A total of 39 years to life in prison for attempted murder. I have been incarcerated now for almost 9 years, and I am writing this letter to you seeking commutation. Not only because I want to go home, but also because I have really changed my life around and I know I can be an asset to my family, and society as a whole. Governor Brown, I now understand that my old way of thinking, and life crime was very unacceptable. Today I am truly ashamed of my past, and the selfish young boy I use to be. I am very remorseful to all of the people I ever hurt in my entire life, directly and indirectly. Though I was 23 years old at the time of my arrest, I take full responsibility for my actions and blame nothing and no one for the things I have done.

I am now 32 years of age and have transitioned into a God-fearing man full of, compassion, empathy, and care for others. My life has taken a total 180-degree turn from who I use to be, and I will not, and do not plan to look back or revisit my old lifestyle or way of living. My goal is to live my life as a living amends to all victims, and survivors of violent crimes, to mentor, counsel, and work close with the youth. In doing so I hope to help prevent them from being misguided as I once were, especially those who are influenced by the false beliefs of the criminal gang lifestyle. I would like to counsel youths and adults alike, using my personal life experiences and the tools I have learned to reach each individual I encounter in my life moving forward. I have had the honor of being on the progressive programming facility here in Lancaster, A-Yard, and taking classes here has equipped me more to be a successful member of society. Classes such as, Effective Communications, Anger Management, Victim Sensitivity, Domestic Violence, Alternative to Violence Program (A.V.P.), Breaking The Cycle, and Getting Out By Going In (G.O.G.I.) among other leadership classes. Each one covers a wide range of things such as, letters to the youth, conflict resolution, life skills and tools to help become a better human being, and also learning how to help others become better human beings as well.

I have my high school diploma, and it is my joy to help others obtain theirs by being an education tutor here. I am studying to be a Biblical Counselor at Channel Island Bible College with only 3 more modules left to complete, to receive my Associates Degree in Biblical Counseling, and Theology. I have taken my self-help therapy seriously, by doing so; I have become a better Husband, Father, Son, Brother, Friend, and a better person all around. I can honestly say I am no longer the same immature, misguided; destructive person I was when I was 23 years old, that person is a lifetime away from who I am today. So today, I am seeking commutation from you, for a chance to become a productive member of society with all that I have learned, and with all that I have matured to be. Willing to give back, and give all that I am to the society I help destruct. Thank you for your consideration.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Luis Velez

On March 22, 1991, Luiz Velez shot and killed Harold Payne, an armed transport guard, during a robbery. On January 12, 1993, the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, sentenced Mr. Velez to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus 12 years for robbery, a firearm enhancement, and a prior felony enhancement.

Mr. Velez is now 55 years old and has been incarcerated for more than 28 years. Mr. Velez has made a concerted effort toward rehabilitation despite serving a sentence with no expectation of release from prison. He has only been disciplined for misconduct once during nearly three decades of incarceration. Mr. Velez participated in multiple self-help programs. He resided on the Progressive Programming Facility, an honor yard, for several years. In 2018, a correctional officer praised Mr. Velez for his positive attitude and behavior while living on the honor yard, writing, "I could attest that Velez has always presented himself well-mannered showing respect toward staff and other inmates. I have never seen him participate in any negative activities. . . . The way Velez conducts himself leading by example shows to the youthful offenders here at [the prison] a good example. I commend inmate Velez for exhibiting positive attitude as a responsible individual. I believe inmate Velez is a good candidate for a second chance."

Mr. Velez's application was reviewed by the Board of Parole Hearings, which voted at an en banc meeting to recommend a clemency grant. The California Supreme Court also made a recommendation for a clemency grant, a process required by the California Constitution for cases in which the applicant has been convicted of more than one felony.

Mr. Velez committed a serious crime that ended Mr. Payne's life. Mr. Velez expressed sincere remorse for his crime. While incarcerated, Mr. Velez has distinguished himself by his exemplary conduct in prison and his genuine commitment to rehabilitation. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Mr. Velez's conduct in prison. I have concluded that Mr. Velez merits the opportunity to make his case to the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Velez does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to transform himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Luis Velez to 28 years to life. Mr. Velez remains subject to all statutory authorities applicable to the parole consideration hearing process.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th Day of September, 2019.

Application for Commutation of sentence

2. Briefly describe the circumstances of the crime(s) for which you are requesting a commutation:

On 3/22/1991, I robbed Mr. David Driggs vehicle and later on that morning, I entered Thrifty Drug store located in Kiefer Blvd. Sacramento. Mr. Harold James Payne, employed as a guard for Armored Transport of California, pickup receipts at the Thrifty Drug Store. As Mr. Harold J. Payne was leaving the store with the receipts and nearer a check-out counter, I approached Mr. Harold J. Payne from behind and attempted to pull the money bag away from Mr. Harold J. Payne. A brief scuffle took place and few seconds later 2 shots were fired and Mr. Harold J. Payne fell to the floor, and I fled holding the money bag and a long chrome revolver. Subsequently Mr. Harold J. Payne died from his injuries. On 3/27/91, I was arrested, and the verdict was rendered per guilty plea with a total commitment of life without possibility of parole plus 12 years.

Application for Commutation of sentence

3. Explain why you are requesting a commutation:

While my crimes were grievous, my change has been monumental. Where I was once a selfish illiterate heroin addict, now I am a mentor to younger prisoners to avoid the perils of drugs, gangs and advise them to take advantage of all the programs available in California Department of Correction and Rehabilitation to improve their life. I also participate in Self-Help Groups as Alcoholic Anonymous / Narcotic Anonymous (AA/NA) Since my arrest in 1991, I have been sober.

On 3/27/1991, I was arrested. I was so ashamed of myself and of disappointing my family. Thoughts of taking my own life went through my mind. After being arraigned coming back from court, I was placed in solitary confinement at Sacramento County Jail. I found a New Testament in Spanish inside the cell in top of the table. I began to read it. I felt peace and an inner transformation took place in me. Since that very moment, I gave my life to Jesus Christ.

Application for Commutation of sentence

4. Provide a brief statement explaining why you should be granted a commutation:

I am aware that a commutation is not a right, but is solely in the discretion of the Governor.

While my crimes were grievous my change has been monumental. Where I was selfish, now I have deep empathy for Mr. Harold James Payne's family. I am sorry for what I have done. There is nothing that I can say or do that could bring Mr. Harold James Payne back. I want to honor him by living a life of service as a living amend.

I have been incarcerated for 26 years and have demonstrated a continued pattern of rehabilitation from my arrest until now. I have overcome the criminal vices that led me to be capable of these crimes, and I am no longer the threat to society's safety I once was.

Through the years in the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, I have demonstrated a continued pattern of living a sober, spiritual and mature life. And as such I humbly request that I be afforded an opportunity to show my rehabilitation to the Board of Prison Terms.

REPRIEVE EXECUTIVE ORDER AND GRANTS 2019

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Executive Order N-09-19

WHEREAS, California's death penalty system is unfair, unjust, wasteful, protracted and does not make our state safer.

WHEREAS, the state's bedrock responsibility to ensure equal justice under the law applies to all people no matter their race, mental ability, where they live, or how much money they have.

WHEREAS, death sentences are unevenly and unfairly applied to people of color, people with mental disabilities, and people who cannot afford costly legal representation.

WHEREAS, innocent people have been sentenced to death in California. Moreover, the National Academy of Sciences estimates that as many as one in 25 people sentenced to death in the United States is likely innocent.

WHEREAS, since 1978, California has spent $5 billion on a death penalty system that has executed 13 people.

WHEREAS, no person has been executed since 2006 because California's execution protocols have not been lawful. Yet today, 25 California death row inmates have exhausted all of their state and federal appeals and could be eligible for an execution date.

WHEREAS, I will not oversee execution of any person while Governor.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, in accordance with the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby issue the following order to become effective immediately:

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

1. An executive moratorium on the death penalty shall be instituted in the form of a reprieve for all people sentenced to death in California. This moratorium does not provide for the release of any person from prison or otherwise alter any current conviction or sentence.
2. California's lethal injection protocol shall be repealed.
3. The Death Chamber at San Quentin shall be immediately closed in light of the foregoing.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that as soon as hereafter possible, this Order shall be filed with the Office of the Secretary of State and that widespread publicity and notice shall be given to this Order.

This Order is not intended to, and does not, create any rights or benefits, substantive or procedural, enforceable at law or in equity, against the State of California, its departments, agencies, or other entities, its officers or employees or any other person.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th day of March 2019.

GAVIN NEWSOM
Governor of California
