COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Ralph Arreguin

In 2006, Ralph Arreguin committed an armed robbery. On February 8, 2008, the Superior Court of California, County of Orange, sentenced Mr. Arreguin to 25 years to life for robbery plus a 10-year sentence enhancement, a total prison term of 35 years to life.

Mr. Arreguin was 41 years old at the time of the crime and is now 60. He has been incarcerated for 19 years. While in prison, Mr. Arreguin has dedicated himself to his rehabilitation. He has engaged in self-help programming and completed vocational training. Prison staff have commended Mr. Arreguin for his positive influence on others and respectfulness.

The Board of Parole Hearings reviewed Mr. Arreguin's clemency application and voted at an en banc meeting to recommend a commutation grant. The California Supreme Court also reviewed his application and made a recommendation for a commutation grant, a process required by the California Constitution in cases where the applicant has sustained more than one felony conviction.

Mr. Arreguin committed a serious crime. Since then, he has demonstrated a commitment to his rehabilitation and self-improvement. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Mr. Arreguin's positive conduct in prison and his good prospects for successful community reentry. I have concluded that Mr. Arreguin merits an earlier opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for release on parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Arreguin does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to improve himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Ralph Arreguin to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration and release upon grant of parole subject to all applicable review periods.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 20th day of February 2026.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Baleegh Brown

In 2009, Baleegh Brown and his crime partners committed a series of armed robberies. During one of the robberies, Mr. Brown's crime partner shot and injured the victim. On May 10, 2012, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Mr. Brown to 12 years for assault with a firearm, six years for three counts of robbery, two years and eight months for two counts of attempted robbery, plus 13 years and four months of sentence enhancements, a total prison term of 34 years.

Mr. Brown was 20 years old at the time of the crimes and is now 37. He has been incarcerated for 16 years. While in prison, Mr. Brown has dedicated himself to his rehabilitation. He has engaged in self-help programming and earned his GED, multiple associate degrees, and a bachelor's degree. Mr. Brown is currently training to become a certified alcohol and drug specialist. Prison staff have commended Mr. Brown for his work ethic and leadership.

The Board of Parole Hearings reviewed Mr. Brown's clemency application and voted at an en banc meeting to recommend a commutation grant. The California Supreme Court also reviewed his application and made a recommendation for a commutation grant, a process required by the California Constitution in cases where the applicant has sustained more than one felony conviction.

Mr. Brown committed serious crimes. Since then, he has demonstrated a commitment to his rehabilitation and self-improvement. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Mr. Brown's positive conduct in prison, the fact that he was a youthful offender, and his good prospects for successful community reentry. I have concluded that Mr. Brown merits an earlier opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for release on parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Brown does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to improve himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Baleegh Brown to make him eligible for immediate parole consideration and release upon grant of parole subject to all applicable review periods.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 20th day of February 2026.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Glenn Hanson

In 1993, Glenn Hanson fatally shot the victim and stole his property. On March 9, 1994, the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, sentenced Mr. Hanson to life without the possibility of parole for murder plus ten years of sentence enhancements.

Mr. Hanson was 35 years old at the time of the crime and is now 68. He has been incarcerated for 33 years. While serving a sentence with no hope of release, Mr. Hanson has dedicated himself to his rehabilitation. He has engaged in self-help programming and maintained a positive work history, currently serving as an aide to other incarcerated people with disabilities. Mr. Hanson has also maintained an excellent disciplinary record and lived on an honor yard. Prison staff have commended Mr. Hanson for his positive attitude and teamwork.

The Board of Parole Hearings reviewed Mr. Hanson's clemency application and voted at an en banc meeting to recommend a commutation grant. The California Supreme Court also reviewed his application and made a recommendation for a commutation grant, a process required by the California Constitution in cases where the applicant has sustained more than one felony conviction.

Mr. Hanson committed a serious crime that took the victim's life. Since then, he has demonstrated a commitment to his rehabilitation and self-improvement. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Mr. Hanson's positive conduct in prison and his good prospects for successful community reentry. I have concluded that Mr. Hanson merits the opportunity to appear before the Board of Parole Hearings so it can determine whether he is suitable for release on parole.

This act of clemency for Mr. Hanson does not minimize or forgive his conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work he has done since to improve himself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Glenn Hanson to 33 years to life.
